The Sthavirāvali given in Kalpa Sūtra containing as it does the Pattāvali of a number of Ācāryas who have succeeded Bhadrabāhu Swāmi, ( the author of Kalpa Sūtra, ) cannot possibly have been composed by Bhagavān Bhadrabāhu Swāmi.

The Pattāvali of the Gaṇadharas, Kevalis and of Śruta Kevalis who have preceded him upto his own time seems to have been written by Bhagavān Bhadrabāhu Swāmi himself. The remaining portion of the Sthavirāvali was completed by Devardhi Gaṇi Kṣamāśramana, at the time of redaction of the Siddhāntas at वल्लभीपुर Vallabhipura in Vikrama Samvata 980.

The Pattāvali of Nandi Sūtra was also composed by Devardhi Gaṇi Kṣamāśramana.

The Tapāgaccha Pattāvali written in Vikrama Samvat 1646 by Upādhyāya Dharmasāgarji Gaṇi, containing a complete, continuous description of the Pattāvali of Nirgrantha, Kautika Candra, Vanavāsi, and Vada Gaccha from the time of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira to that of Ācārya Mahārāja Śrī Hīrvijaya-sūriji was critically examined and revised by a committee of Ācārya Mahārāja Śrī Hīrvijaya sūriji, Upādhyāya Śrī Vimala Harṣa Gaṇi, Upādhyāya Śrī Kalyāna Vijaya Gaṇi, and Upādhyāya Śrī Soma Vijaya Gaṇi at Ahmedabad, on Friday, Caitra Vad 6 of Vikrama Samvat 1648 with the help of Gurvāvali of Śrī Munisundara-sūri and the Duṣmā Kāla Śrī Śramana Saṅgha Stotra of Śrī Dharma Ghoṣa-sūri.

The Sthavirāvali of Tapāgaccha was continued as the Pattāvali of 59 Śrī Vijaya Sena Sūri 60 Śrī Vijaya Deva-sūri, and 61 Śrī Vijaya Simha sūri, under the title of " Śrī Tapā Gaṇapati Guṇa Paddhatti " by Upādhyāya-Guṇa Vijaya Gaṇi in " Vijaya Deva, Mahātma " in Vikrama Samvat 1673.

Another addition to the Tapāgaccha Pattāvali containing an account of 59. Ācārya Vijaya Sena Sūri 60 Ācārya Vijaya Deva-Sūri 61 Ācārya Śrī Vijaya Simha-sūri was written by Upādhyāya Megha Vijaya Gani.

A third addition to the Tapāgaccha Pattāvali containing a description of Ācāryas from 58 Ācārya Hivijaya-sūriji to 72 Śrī Buddhi Vijaya Gaṇi under the title of "Śrī Guru Mālā" was written by Muni Cāritra Vijaya.

The remaining Pattāvalis by various authors are equally important from a historical point of view.

BHAGAVAN SHRI GAUTAMA SWAMI.

Indrabhūti Gautama इन्द्रभूति गौतम better known as Gautama Swami from his gotra, was the first Ganadhara गणधर or principal disciple of Sramana Bhagavān Mahāvira. He was born in the year 607 B. C. at Gobara-gama गोबरगाम (Gobbra or Govaraya) a small village near Rājagriha राजगृह, the capital city of Magadha मगध. He was the eldest son of Vasubbūti वसुभूति, his mother's name was Piithivi पृथ्वी. He was a Brahmin by caste and was well versed in the four Vēdas and the six Upāngas.

The soul of Indrabhuti Gautama, was the charioteer of S'ramana Bhagavān Mahāvira, during his previous eighteenth Bhava as Triprishtha Vāsudēva, who, with sweet words, said to the dying lion "O lion! you have crushed down intoxicated huge elephants in sport (with the greatest ease): O King of the beasts! you have terrified your enemies by your incomparable valour, O King of the forest! you have defeated thousands of kings equipped with weapons and warriors, arranged methodically in a way that nothing can escape it; O good soul! why do you thus needlessly become angry? Do not think, that you have been killed by a mere child. He is the gladdener of his family and of his people like the moon in the vault of the sky.

Interpreters of dreams have also foretold "This child will become a Vasudēva, a lord of half the territory of Bharata kshetra; O my good friend! you are a lion among lower animals. He is a lion among human beings. What disrespect or ill fame is there in a lion killing a lion?" Having thus become internally tranquil by peacefully hearing the honey-like or nectar-like words of the charioteer, the lion after death, was born as a Nāraka in hellish regions and the charioteer, in course of time, will become the first Ganadhara, named Gautama, of Sramana Bhagavān Mahāvira, when the soul of Triprishtha Vāsudēva becomes a Tirthankara."

He was thoroughly conversant with the fourteen varieties of knowledge (1-6 Angāni अङ्गानि, The six Supplements of the Vedas, 7-10 Védāh वेदाः, The four Vèdas, 11. Mimānsa मीमांसा The designation of a philosophical system which is divided into two distinct branches. The former called Purva or Karma Mīmāṃsā पूर्व or कर्म मीमांसा and founded by Gaimini जैमिनि is chiefly concerned with the correct interpretation of Vedic ritual, the latter, called Uttara-Brahma or Sariraka Mimāṃsā उत्तर—ब्रह्म—शारिरक मीमांसा but best known under the name of Vèdanta वेदान्त and founded by Bādarāyana बादरायण is a pantheist system of discussing chiefly the nature of Brahman ब्रह्म or the universal soul. 12. Nyāya न्याय the Nyāya system of philosophy 13 Dharma Shastra धर्मशास्त्र Discourses on virtue or duty and 14 Purāna पुराण Name of eighteen legendary works treating chiefly of Cosmogony and divine Genealogy. These fourteen varieties of Vidyā विद्या knowledge are mentioned in the following verse—

अङ्गानि वेदाश्चत्वारो मीमांसा न्यायविस्तरः ।

धर्मशास्त्रं पुराणं च विद्यास्त्वेता श्रतुर्दशा ॥ १ ॥

Angāni, Vedas'chatvaro, Mimansa, Nyāya vistarah Dharma shāstram, Puranam ca vidya stveta s'caturdas'ā.

Angani, the six Supplements of Védas, the four Vèdas, Mimāṃsā, the entire field of Nyāya shāstra, Dharma Shāstra Discourses of sacred knowledge, or on virtue or duty and Purānas-Legendary works-These constitute the fourteen varieties of Vidya विद्या knowledge.

The Vedāṅgās are six in number. They are —

शिक्षा कल्पो व्याकरणं निरुक्त छंदसा चयः ।

Sikṣā Kalpo Vyākaranam Nirukta Chandasa cayah; Jyotish-āya manam caiva Vidangāni shadēva tu.

Sikṣā शिक्षा the science of proper articulation and pronounciation 2 Kalpa कल्प Ritual or ceremonial 3 Vyākaranam व्याकरणं Grammar, 4 Nirukta निरुक्त Etymological explanations of difficult words. 5 Chandas छन्दस् Vedic text; prosody and 6 Jyotisha ज्योतिष Astronomy. These six are the Vēdāngas वेदांग supplements of the Vēdas.

He had an aggregate of five hundred (500) pupils under him, who were receiving religious instruction in various branches of knowledge. He was very often busy in performing various Yagnas यज्ञ Sacrifices.

After Diksa दीक्षा Initiation by S'ramana Bhagavan Mahāvīra, Gandhara Indrabhūti always had Chatha Bhakta छठभक्त. fasting for two consecutive days and having meagre food on the third day, very often, very severe penance, but nothing short of a two-days fasting.

Gandhara Indrabhūti Gautama composed sacred knowledge consisting of the twelve Āngas and the fourteen Purvas पूर्व within a Muhurta मुहूर्त forty eight minutes after receiving a correct explanation of Tripadi त्रिपदि a combination of three syllables. 1 Utpāda उत्पाद 2 Vyaya व्यय and 3 Dhrauvya ध्रौव्य contained in the great Universal Law governing all substances.

Utpād Vyaya Dhrauvya yuktam Sat...उत्पाद व्यय ध्रौव्य
युक्तं सत्

All the substances (in this world) possess the qualities of 1
Production; birth, 2 Perishability, destruction and 3 Permanence.

1 Utpāda उत्पाद—स्वजात्यपरित्यागेन भावान्तर्वाप्तिरुत्पादः Sva jātyaparityāgēna bhāvāntarāvaptirutpādah. The assumption of another form without abandoning its genus is called Utpāda उत्पाद.

2 Vyaya व्यय—तथा पूर्वभाषविगमोव्ययः व्ययः Tatha pūrvabhāva vigamo vyayah—The disappearance of the previous condition is called Vyaya व्यय.

3 Dhrauvya ध्रौव्य—ध्रुवेस्थैर्यकर्मणो ध्रुवतीति ध्रुवः Dhruvé sthairyā karmano rdhruvatiti dhruvā—That which remains stable by its possessing the property of becoming firm is called Dhrauvya.

Note that Dravya द्रव्य substance is not merely substance but also its Paryāya पर्याय change in form; transformation and hence Utpad उत्पाद and Vyaya व्यय in addition to Dhrauvya ध्रौव्य; moreover dravya द्रव्य is not simply Paryāya पर्याय but is also Diavya द्रव्य and therefore, Dhrauvya ध्रौव्य in addition to Utpāda उत्पाद and Vyaya व्यय.

Thus Sat सत् everything that exists is Dravya paryāyātma-ka द्रव्यपर्यायात्मक and Utpāda vyaya dhrauvya yuktatah उत्पाद व्ययध्रौव्ययुक्त Everything that exists, exists either as a substance or its transformed state, and is governed by 1 Production 2 Perishability and 3 Stability.

Thus, gold is Dravya द्रव्य, a substance. When an ornament is made from it, say a bracelet, it is produced as a bracelet and it will be known as a bracelet. When that bracelet is melted at the time of preparing another ornament, the form that it assumed at the time of preparing a bracelet is now destroyed and when a new ornament, say a chain or another ornament is prepared, it is now produced as a chain or another ornament.
At the time of preparing both the ornaments, gold is the original substance and it remains stable as gold.

Here gold is a Dravya द्रव्य a substance; and the preparation of various ornaments from gold, is its Paryāya पर्याय change in form. While preparing ornaments, its previous form is destroyed and it assumes a new form, and yet gold remains stable as an original substance. Both these characteristic attributes exist together. Dravya is the original substance and Guna गुण attribute and Paryāya पर्याय change in form, are the common general properties of a substance. Dravya is stable; Paryaya is instable. Guna गुण attribute is the natural quality of a substance. Paryāya is the quality acquired in due course. This world, the soul and substance, are without a beginning and without an end. At the completion of time-limit of the Bhava भव Existence, in which a soul is born as a Deva देव acelestial being, a Manushya मनुष्य a human being, a Triyancha त्रियञ्च a lower animal or as a Nāraka नारक a hellish being, in this Samsāra संसार, in accordance with his good or evil actions in previous life, the existence during that life ends and the Soul assumes another life. Birth as a god or a human or a lower animal or as a hellish being is the Paryaya of a Soul. During every existence of life Atmā आत्मा the Soul is always present. It is permanent and hence all the souls, exist as a Dravya and also as a Paryāya.

The Diksā दीक्षा Initiation into the Order of Monks – of Indrabhūti Gautama took place under the following circumstances:—

At the time, when Sramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra acquired Kévala Gnāna केवलज्ञान Perfect Knowledge, outside Jrambhaka gāma Nagara जृम्भिकगाम नगर on the banks of Rijuvāluka Nadi रज्जुवालिका नदी, a wealthy Brahmina named Somila सोमिल was preparing for a great Yagna यज्ञ Sacrifice to gods and he invited numerous Brahmins including eleven highly talented Acaryas of whom the three brothers—1 Indrabhūti इन्द्रभूति 2 Agnibhūti अग्निभूति and 3 Vayubhūti वायुभूति, were well versed in the fourteen kinds of knowledge. Indrabhūti had a doubt about the existence of Jiva जीव Soul, Agnibhūti had doubts about Karmas and Vāyubhūti had a doubt that the body and the soul are inseparate; the 4 th Vyakta व्यक्त and 5 Sudharma सुधर्म had an aggregate of five hundred pupils under each of them and they were very learned, 6 Mandita मण्डित and 7 Maurya putra मौर्यपुत्र brothers, with three hundred and fifty pupils under each of them, had a doubt about Bandha and gods and four Brahmins 8 Akampita अकम्पित 9 Acala bhrātā अचलभ्राता 10 Mētarya मेत्रार्य and Prabhāsa प्रभास, each of them with a pupilage of three hundred each. Akampita had a doubt about Naraka; Acala blurātā about Punya पुण्य Merit; Métārya about Para-loka परलोक next world: and Prabhāsa had a doubt about Moksha मोक्ष Salvation. Each of these eleven learned Brahmins had a doubt in their mind, but no one would ask the other for the solution of his doubt for fear of losing his fame as a Sarvagna सर्वज्ञ an Omniscient. These eleven Acāryas had altogether forty-four hundred pupils with them. There is no wonder that ordinary individuals will entertain undue importance for a sacrificial ceremony conducted by such well-versed scholars of different countries and it is but natural that many orthodox persons, on hearing the fame of the gentleman undertaking the Yagna, and the fame of learned scholars conducting the ceremony, may visit the place for Darsana दर्शन seeing; and the Apāpā अपाप Nagari was over-flowing with Brāhmins and other individuals. It is also natural that, on seeing a large multitude of visitors from different countries, the Acāryas and Upādhyāyas performing the sacrificial ceremonies and their pupils, may become very glad and may entertain a very high opinion about themselves.

At the moment, when Sramana Bhagavān Mahāvira acquired Kēvala Jnana केवल ज्ञान Perfect knowledge, the Indias became full of joy by the shaking of their thrones and they went there to pay homage to the Venerable Ascetic, and having paid their respects they prepared a Samavasarana for him. The place became filled up with gods of the four kinds, human beings, and lower animals. Although S'ramana Bhagavan Mahāvira knew that there was none capable of taking Bhāgavati Diksā भागवती दीक्षा, Initiation into an Order of Monks after renouncing all worldly pursuits—in the whole assembly, he sat in the middle of the Samavasarana and preached Dharma, knowing it to be the established usage of Tirthankaras. The preaching of a Tirthankara is never fruitless, there is always some individual who becomes enlightened by the preaching and accepts Diksā, still however, it is a strange event, that the first preaching of Sramana Bhagavān Mahāvira was abortive, as no one was enlight-

The preaching of a Tirthankara is never fruitless, there is always some individual who becomes enlightened by the preaching and accepts Diksā, still however, it is a strange event, that the first preaching of Sramana Bhagavān Mahāvira was abortive, as no one was enlightned by it and none accepted any how, because the assembly consisted only of gods, and lower animals. This event is therefore reckoned as one the ten strange events of Sramana Bhagavān Mahāvira

Sramana Bhagavan Mahāvira, knowing that there still remained Tirthankara Nāma Karma तीर्थकर नाम कर्म, to be experienced by him and that it can be experienced by enlightening suitable individuals, went, surrounded by millions of gods and goddesses and placing his feet on gold lotuses arranged by gods in front of him, to Apāpa अपापा Nagari - a town, twelve yojans in extent, embellished with devout persons, and overflowing with Brāhmins and other individuals who had collected there from various countries for the purpose of visiting the Yagna, with the supremely good object of enlightening the Brāhmins.

In a large pleasure - garden named Mahasēna Vana महसेन वन near the town, the gods prepared a Samavasarana.

Sramana Bhagavān Mahāvira entered the Samavasarana by its East-door, went three times round the religious tree thirty-two dhanushya high resembling an image of gems, and saying "Namo Tithassa नमोतिथस्स ।" Adoration to Tirtha तीर्थ-a congregation consisting of Sādhus साधु Saints 2 Sādhvis साध्वी Nuns 3 Srāvakas श्रावक Jain lay men and 4 Srāvikās श्राविका Jain females, sat on the jewelled throne with a footstool in the middle of the Samavasarana with his face directed towards the East. Devout gods arranged three images of the Bhagavān in the three remaining directions. Gods, human beings and lower animals entered by the main door and occupied their appropriate seats. The Indra, then, bowing down most respectfully and praising him with his two folded hands brought in front of his fore-head, sat reverentially Sramana Bhagavan Mahāvira preached Dharma as follows:—

This Samsāra is formidable like a turbulent ocean and its chief cause is the Karma, like the seed of a tree. A man becoming indiscrete by his own actions, degrades himself, like an individual digging a well, and a pure-hearted person always rises high, like a man building a palace. One should never practise destruction of life, as it is the source of evil Karmas. One should always be ready in the protection of the life of other living beings to the same extent as he would in the protection of his own life. One desirous of abstaining from injury to other individuals, as well as to himself, should avoid an untruth and should always speak the truth. People tell lies out of anger, pride, deceit, greed, fear, and out of derision. By putting a stop to the generative causes of telling lies, the virtuous quality of speaking nothing but the Truth, will naturally manifest itself. Truth will always be preserved by speaking only true, salutary, measured, and wholesome language. None should ever take any substance not given by its possessor, as it is capable of taking away the principle of life from him, because stealing away such an object from him, results in his death. Coition, which causes the death of small animalcules during the process should not be indulged in. Wise-men desirous of मोक्ष Moksha—Final Emancipation, should always remain chaste, bodily, mentally and in speech. One should not accumulate property which is the cause of many evil actions, because such an individual overwhelmed with grief, goes down to the infernal regions under the burden of many belongings."

On seeing millions of gods and goddesses coming there from heaven, the eminent Brāhmin Indrabhūti Gautama, became elated with a high opinion about himself and the sacrificial ceremony he had undertaken to perform. He could not remain without flattering himself. He told Somila, who was having the sacrificial ceremony performed, and other Brāhmins—"See the miraculous power of this यज्ञ Yajna. These gods invited by our मंत्र Mantras, Incantations, become clearly visible and they are coming here."

When Indrabhūti Gautama saw that the gods did not come to the sacrificial pavilion but they went to समवसरण the Samavasaraṇa, where Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira was preaching, he asked out of curiosity “Have these gods lost their way? Instead of coming here, where are they going?” On inquiry from various people, he was informed “They are going to the Samavasaraṇa, prepared by gods for Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira, the great सर्वज्ञ Sarvajña, Omniscient, with divine splendour, who has recently arrived in the neighbouring pleasure-garden of the town.”

On hearing the word सर्वज्ञ Sarvajña, Indrabhūti Gautama was greatly enraged; his whole body was burning with furious anger; his eyes became blood-shot; his face looked frightful and he angrily said—“Ah! while I am a सर्वज्ञ Sarvajña, Omniscient, how does any body else dare to call himself also a Sarvajña? It is painful to hear it. How can such an unpleasant thing be at all heard? Because, some foolish person may be cheated by any rogue, but he has deceived even gods (who are called विबुध Vibudha, wise-men) so that, they go to him, abandoning the sacrificial pavilion and me, who is a सर्वज्ञ Sarvajña, Omniscient.

अहो ! सुराः कथं भ्रान्तास्तीर्थाम्भ इव वायसाः ।

2 Karabhā iva sadvṛkṣān ksirānnam śūkarā iva;
Arkasyālokavat ghūkā styaktvā yāgam prayānti yat. 2

1-2 Alas! why do the gods, becoming perplexed, go away leaving the sacrificial offerings, like crows abandoning holy water or frogs abandoning a lake of lotuses, or flies abandoning sandal-wood, or camels abandoning good trees, or hogs abandoning a diet of rice-pudding, or like owls abandoning the light of the Sun ? 1-2

अथवा-यादृशोऽयं सर्वज्ञस्तादृशा एवैते सुराः, अनुरूप एव संयोगः

Athavā—Yādriśo'yam sarvajnastādriśā evaite anurūpa eva samyogah. Or, as is this Sarvajna, so they 'certainly are. The connection is quite appropriate.

यतः—पश्यापनुरुमिन्दिदिरेण माकरन्दशेखरो मुखरः ।

Yatah:—Paśyānurūpamindīdirena mākanda śekhara mukharah;
Api ca picumandamukule maukulikulamākulam milati. 1

1 Because, see the complaisance; the most beautiful juicy portion of the mango-tree becomes eloquent with the buzzing of bees, while a flock of crows meets confusedly on the buds of Neem ( Azadircta Indica ) trees.

Still however, I cannot tolerate his arrogance in being styled a Sarvajna.

यतः—व्योम्नि सूर्यद्वयं किं स्याद, गुहायां केसरिद्वयम् ।

Yatah:—Vyomni sūryadvayam kim syād guhāyām kesaridvayam;
Pratyākāre ca khadgau dvau, kim sarvajnāvaham sa ca ?

Because, How can there be two Suns in the sky, two lions in a cave, two swords in one sheath and Two Sarvajnas, I and he ?

He then asked, with derision, people who were returning, after paying respects to the Venerable Ascetic. Oh ! did you see the Sarvajna ? What is his appearance like ? What is his natural form ? The people said:—

यदि त्रिलोकीगणनापरा स्यात्, तस्याः समाप्तिर्यदि नायुषः स्यात् ।

पारेपराध्यं गणितं यदि स्यात्, गण्यनिःशेषगुणोऽपि स स्यात् ॥ १ ॥

1. Yadi trilokigaṇanāparā syāt, tasyāḥ samāptir-yadī nāyuṣaḥ syāt; Pāreparārdhyam ganitam yadi syāt, gaṇeya nihśeṣa guṇo'pi sa syāt. 1

1 If there be a different calculation of all the objects of the three worlds, and if there be no life left for the completion of that calculation, and if the calculation be beyond परार्ध Parārdha ( 100000,000,000000000 ) then only, he becomes one whose entire qualities become calculable. 1

On being told thus, he resolved—

2 Nūnameṣa mahādhūrto, māyāyāḥ kulamandīram;

7 Moreover, on account of fear from me, the learned men born in गौड़ देश Gauda-deśa, central Bengal went away to a distant country and the learned men of गुर्जर Gurjara (Gujarāt) became infirm and terrified, the learned men of मालवा Mālva, name of a country in central India, died, and the learned men of तिलिंग Tilingā, a country in South India, were reduced like particles of sesamum seeds

8 Alas! where have the learned men of लाट देश Lāta deśa a country south of Broach and learned men of द्राविड़ Drāvida a country in south India, disappeared, distressed by shame? Myself being always eager to meet ac ontroversialist, there has become, an extraordinary scarcity of controversialists in this world. 8 9 Tasya mamā'gre ko'sau vādi śarvagnamānamudvahati; Iti tatra gantumutkam tamAgnibhūti r-jagādaivam 9.

9 Who is this controversialist before me, who bears the conceit of being called a Sarvajna? When he was contemplating thus, Agnibhūti said to him who was very desirous of going there, as follows:—

किं तत्र वादिकीटे तव प्रयासेन ? यामि बंधोऽहम् ।

कमलोन्मूलनहेतोर्नेतव्यः किं सुरेन्द्रगजः ? ॥ १० ॥

10 Kim tatra vādikite tava prayāsena? yāmi bandho'ham; Kamalonmūlanaheto r-netavyah kim surendra-gajah? 10

10 Why should you take trouble for the वादिकीट Vadikite the worm of a controversialist? O brother! I am going. Should the stately elephant of Indra be led for the purpose of up-rooting a lotus?

अकथयदथेन्द्रभूतिर्यद्यपि मच्छात्रजय्य एवासौ ।

11 Akathayadathendrabhūtir-yadyapi macchātrajyya evāsau; Tadapi pravādināma śrutvā sthātum na śaknomi. 11

11 Indrabhūti said : " Although he is fit to be won over even by a disciple of mine, I cannot sit silent, after hearing the name of a controversialist.

पीलयतस्तिलः कश्चित् दलतश्च यथा कणः ।

13 Mardayatastusah ko'pi tadvadeṣa mamābhavat,
Tathā'pi sāsahī r-na hi mudhā sarvajña vādinam. 13

12-13 While crushing down, some seed of sesamum remained uncrushed; while pounding, some grain of corn remained unpounded; when removing grass completely, some grass remained behind; when अगस्त्य Agastya, (name of a Vedic sage, ) drank the whole ocean, some small pool remained undrunk; when grinding, some chaff remained unground; so it really happened with me. However, I cannot uselessly put up with the Sarvajña controversialist.

एकस्मिन्नजिते ह्यस्मिन्, सर्वमप्यजितं भवेत् ।

एकदा हि सती लुप्त-शीला स्यादसती सदा ॥ १४ ॥

14 Ekasminnajite hyasmin, sarvamapyajitam bhavet,
Ekadā hi satī lupta śilā syadasatī sadā. 14

14 Because, if this one is not won over, every thing else becomes unconquered, because if a chaste woman becomes deprived of her chastity only once, she always becomes unchaste.

चित्रं चैवं त्रिजगति सहस्रशो निर्जिते मया वादैः ।

15 Citram caiva trijagati sahasraso nirjite mayā vādaiḥ;
Kṣipracatasthāyāmiva kam-kamko'sau sthito vādi 15

15 It is really strange that in the three worlds, thousands have been won over by me by discussions, this controversialist has remained like a grain of corn resisting fire in a cooking dish of easily prepared food.

अस्मिन्नजिते सर्वं जगज्जयोद्भूतमपि यशो नश्येत् ।

अल्पमपि शरीरस्थं शल्यं प्राणान् वियोजयति ॥ १६ ॥

16 Asminnajite sarvam jagajjavodbhutamapi yaśo naśyet;
Alpamapi sarīrastham salyam prānān viyoyati 16.

16. If this one is not won over, the entire reputation acquired by my victory over controversialists all over the world, becomes completely destroyed. Because, even a small thorn existing in the body, deprives it of the means of supporting life.

यतः—छिद्रे स्वल्पेऽपि पोतः किं पाथोधौ न निमज्जति ? ।

एकस्मिन्निष्टके कृष्टे दुर्गः सर्वोऽपि पात्यते ॥ १७ ॥

17 Yatah —Chidre svalpe'pi potah kim pāthodhau na nimajjati ?
Ekasminniṣṭake kriste durgah sarvo'pi pātyate 17.

17 Because—Does not a ship sink itself under water, even with a small hole in it? A fortress is completely pulled down by the removal of one brick 17.

Having thought thus, Indrabhūti Gautama, at the time of going into the presence of Śīamana Bhagavān Mahāvira, decorated himself with twelve distinguishing marks on his body, with a gold यज्ञोपवित Yagnopavita, the sacred thread worn by members of the first three classes over the left shoulder and under the right arm, became arrogant, dressed himself with a yellow garment and went accompanied by five hundred pupils some carrying books in their hands, some carrying कमण्डलु Kamandalu—wooden water-pots carried by ascetics—in their hands and some carrying दर्भ Darbha—a kind of sacred grass used at religious ceremonies and carried as a sign of victory, by whose undermentioned eulogical cries, relating to their preceptor, the horizon was re-sounding.—

Indrabhūti Gautama then thought within himself "O ! why has this been done by this rogue ! That I have been provoked to anger by his arrogance of being called a Sarvajna.

15 Is he चंद्र Candra the moon? He is not, because the moon is disgraced by a blemish.

Is he the सूर्य Surya, the Sun ? No that even, because the Sun possesses intense brightness

Is it Mount Meru ? No, it is not, because Mount Meru is extremely hard.

Is he Viṣṇu ? He is not, because Viṣṇu is dark-coloured

Is he ब्रह्मा Brahma, the Creator of the Universe ( Viṣṇu being the Preserver and Śiva the Destroyer ). No. Brahmā is old.

Is he जराभीरु Jarabhiru, the god of Love, who is afraid of old age No, Because he is without a body.

Now I think, he is the last Tirthamkara, who is free from faults and who is full of all kinds of virtues. 15.

16 On seeing Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra worthy of adoration in the three worlds, sitting on a gold lion-seated throne, and being worshipped by the king of gods - he ( Indra-bhūti ) thought in his mind— 16.

17 Alas ! how can the greatness acquired previously by me be preserved ? Who desires to break a palace for the sake of a small nail ? 17

18 What loss of respect will I have by not being victorious over this one only, though I have conquered the three worlds ? Now, what should I do ? 18

19 Oh ! though dull-witted, I have become indiscrete in coming here, to win over him who is the incarnation of the supreme god of the universe 19

27 The sound of the verses of Vēdas being explained by Sramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra appeared, as if the ocean was being churned, as if it were the floods over the Ganges, and as if it was the first sound of Brahman.

Sramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra then explained in detail all the arguments and inferences for proving the existence of the Soul, reciting various Vēdic verses and their precise interpretations, and showing, at the same time, mistakes in the interpretation of the same verses accepted by Indrabhuti Gautama.

Indrabhūti was straight-forward and was searching after truth. He was convinced that the explanation given by Sramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra about the Vēdic verses was the most appropriate one and that the view held by himself was not correct. His vanity disappeared. He acquired an accurate knowledge about the nature of things by the preaching of the Venerable Ascetic. He realised the transitoriness of all the things in the Universe, felt aversion to worldly pleasures, prostrated himself before Sramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra and requested him with a faltering voice "O lord! I came here with the deliberate intention of testing your knowledge and discussing with you like a dwarf desiring to measure a tall tree. But you have enlightened me so nicely, that I now want to be free from worldly attachments. You will therefore do me the favour of giving me दीक्षा Diksā Initiation into the Order of Monks and deliver me from the trammels of this संसार Samsāra worldly existence "

Sramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra welcomed the pure-intentioned request of Indrabhūti as he knew that he would be his first गणधर Ganadhara, the head of a corporation of ascetics, and initiated Indrabhūti and his five hundred pupils into his Order of Ascetics. Indrabhūti Gautama was fifty years old at the time of renouncing the world, and accepting चारित्र धर्म Cāritra Dharma, the duties of an ascetic.

At that time, कुबेर Kubēra, the god of Wealth brought before Gautama Ganadhara, the materials suitable for an ascetic life and requested him to accept them. Before accepting them, the great ascetic Indrabhūti who was now weary of worldly existences, thought "I have renounced all my belongings. I do not know whether I should accept these materials or not?" Indrabhūti Gautama whose name is even at present remembered every morning, whose false belief was transformed into right belief by the preaching and चारित्रदान Cāritradāna Initiation by the Venerable Saint, whose aversion to worldly belongings was increasing and whose spiritual development and mode of life had become pure, decided that the clothes, utensils and other materials brought by Kubèra would be useful in the careful observance of his vows and they were fit to be accepted. They are essential for daily use, and without them, any ordinary ascetic, eager for the preservation of the lives of the six varieties of living beings, can not perform his religious duties, satisfactorily without injuring his sense of duty. Wise persons should, therefore, make use of as few clothes and other utensils as are absolutely necessary for receiving food and drink articles avoiding forty-two defects of handling them, and using only clean clothes and utensils. Persons desirous of acting in accordance with right knowledge, right perception and right conduct should always aim at accomplishing their wished-for object by strictly adhering to the directions prescribed in various Shāstras (scriptures) and acting in conformity with them on all occasions. Any insolent individual, devoid of right knowledge and right perception wilfully accusing ascetics possessing such meagre articles as possessors of valuable assets, is really ignorant. He who looks upon such meagre articles as objects of enjoyment tries to please mischievous persons perfectly ignorant of the true principles of religion. How can many living beings existing as पृथ्वीकाय Prithvikāya, Earth-bodied souls, अक्काय Apkāya, Water-bodied souls, अग्निकाय Agnikāya, Fire-bodied souls, वायुकाय Vayukāya, Air-bodied souls वनस्पति काय Vanaspati Kāya, Vegetable-bodied souls and व्रसकाय Vrasa Kāya, Mobile-bodied souls be taken care of without the use of these materials absolutely necessary for an ascetic? If any ascetic although possessing clothes and other materials suitable for an ascetic, keeps his soul impure and discontented by body, mind, and speech or if he entertains an intense longing for these materials, then and then only he becomes a traitor to his own self. With this pure idea in their minds, Indrabhūti Gautama and his five hundred pupils accepted the clothes and other materials given by the gods.

Soon after receiving a detailed knowledge of त्रिपदि Tripadi, a combination of the three syllables —

Ganadhara Bhagavān Shree Indrabhūti Gautama possessed many लब्धि Labdhis, Natural acquisitions.

The power and wealth of gods are incomparable and undreamt of by any human being. The splendour and power of an ordinary celestial being, are immensely superior to those of the most powerful sovereigns in this world. Their abodes and dwelling-places are made of gold beset with jewels. Their divine powers can never be compared with the meagre power of any human being. The acquisition of such divine power and splendour is the birth-right of celestial beings. They obtain them without making any effort.

Even among human beings, if a Yogi or an ascetic is met with, possessing the extraordinary ability of accomplishing an object or of obtaining an article without trouble or effort, or having supreme knowledge beyond ordinary human power, people become astonished and perplexed.

Such a natural acquisition obtained as a birth-right during human existence is technically called a लब्धि Labdhi.

लब्धि Labdhi is the attainment of the manifestation of the sense-faculty, by the partial destruction, subsidence and operation of the knowledge-obscuring karma relating to that sense.

These Labdhis are attainable only by ascetics possessing knowledge of the fourteen Pūrvas or by very attentive yogis and they are obtained by high and ever-increasing higher virtuous natural developments.

The लब्धि Labdhis are numerous but the twenty-eight mentioned in Jaina आगम Agamas, Scriptures are the principal ones. They are:—

 पुलाकलब्धि Pulāka labdhi.

These twenty-eight labdhis are acquired by extremely virtuous superior natural developments or by severe austerities.

1 Amosahi आमोसहि Amarsaushadhi Labdhi आमशौषधिलब्धि is that variety of labdhi under the benign influence of which a Yogi or an ascetic possessing it, is able to remove all varieties of diseases of others by mere touch of his hand or foot or any other portion of his body.

2 Vipposahi विप्पोसहि Viprudaushadhi Labdhi विप्रुदौषधि लब्धि is that variety of benign labdhi under the influence of which,
 on account of the supernatural power of natural developments or severe austerities, the faeces and urine of the Yogi or the ascetic possessing it, become fragrant and assume medicinal powers capable of removing all kinds of diseases of others.

3 Khélosahi खेलोसहि Khélaushadhi Labdhi खेलौषधि लब्धि is that variety of labdhi under the influence of which, the sputum and coughed-out material of the Yogi or the ascetic possessing it, become fragrant and assume medicinal powers capable of removing all kinds of diseases.

4 Jalla-osahi जल्ल-ओसहि Jallaushadhi Labdhi जल्लौषधि लब्धि Similarly, the dirt from the ear, nose, mouth, eyes and the tongue, of a Yogi or an ascetic possessing Jallaushadhi labdhi removes many kinds of diseases.

5 Savvosahi सर्वोसहि Sarvaushādhi Labdhi सर्वोधि लब्धि
In a like manner, the faeces, urine, phlegm, the dirt from the ear, nose, mouth, eyes, and the tongue, the hair, nails, perspiration, dirt of the body and other dejecta from the body of the yogi or ascetic possessing Sarvaushadhi Labdhi become fragrant and remove diseases of all kinds

The efficacy of the Sarvaushadhi labdhi is so great, that rain water or river water acquires the medicinal power of removing diseases, and persons who have fainted, gain consciousness by the wind, touching the bodies of such yogis or saints. The diseases of people afflicted with serious troubles, not only subside, but disappear totally merely by the presence of such a yogi or a saint or even by hearing his sound.

6 Sambhinna संभिन्न Sambhinnasroto labdhi सम्भिन्नस्रोतो लब्धि
Under the influence of this labdhi, the various parts of the body of a yogi or an ascetic possess the faculty of hearing or the yogi or the ascetic experiences the individual pleasures or pains of senses by all the sense-organs, or one sense-organ of such a Yogi or ascetic possesses the faculty of experiencing the pleasures or pains of the remaining sense-organs also. He can experience the pleasures or pains of all the senses thru the medium of one sense-organ, for instance, although hearing can be done only by the ear, any one out of the five sense-organs can, not only do the function of hearing but also perform the functions of the remaining sense-organs.

Or, a Yogi or an ascetic possessing Sambhinna sroto Labdhi is able to hear the individual sound of Saṅkha शङ्ख conch Kāhaḷā काहला large drum, Bhéri भेरी kettle-drum, Bhānaka भाणक a kind of musical instrument and of Dhakkā दक्का a kind of drum, from the combined sound of the simultaneous beating of various drums and the playing of various musical instruments in a distant army-camp of a Cakravartin extending over twelve yojans and various other sounds, and also to differentiate between them.

7 Ohi ओही Avadhi Labdhi अवधिलब्धि । A natural acquisition by which a Yogi or an ascetic is able to have visual knowledge of matter in various degrees with reference to Dravya द्रव्य Subject-matter, Kshétra क्षेत्र Space, Kāla काल Time and Bhāva भाव Quality of the object known.

Birth-born visual knowledge is to be found in celestial and hellish beings. Celestial and hellish beings have Avadhi Jnāna अवधि ज्ञान Visual knowledge by birth and they have it till death, just as human beings have sensitive and scriptural knowledge. Celestial and hellish beings have sensitive and scriptural knowledge also.

The other kind of visual or direct material knowledge, arises from the part-destruction, part-subsidence, and part operation of the Karmas which obscure visual or direct material knowledge. This knowledge is acquired by others i-e by human and sub-human beings, who are possessed of mind. This is called Guna-pratyayika गुणप्रत्ययिक or acquired by merit as distinguished from birth-born visual knowledge.

Matter and embodied soul are the subject-matter of visual knowledge.

8 Riu रिउ Rijumati Labdhi ऋजुमतिलब्धि and 9 Viulamai Laddhi बिउलमई लब्धी. These two varieties of Labdhis are varieties of Manah-paryāya Jnāna मनः पर्याय ज्ञान i-e mental knowledge Direct knowledge of another's mental activity about matter.

Riju-mati ऋजुमति is simple direct knowledge of simple mental things e-g. direct knowledge of what a man is thinking of now. The thoughts which can be directly known by mental knowledge, must relate to matter. Simple mental knowledge is of three kinds according as the subject of it is the matter and form of thought about the simple activity of body, mind and speech which has been thought of, in the mind of another. It knows the material objects of all the three times i-e past, present and future-thought of by any soul in the present.

If a man is thinking, for instance, about a pot, a Yogi or an ascetic with Riju-mati labdhi, can only know that the particular individual is thinking about a pot, if the pot exists within four to eight Yojans and also if it relates to two or three past or future incarnations and at the most to seven or eight such incarnations, without any reference to the particular attributes of the pot, as regards Dravya द्रव्य Substance, Kshétra क्षेत्र Place, Kāla काल Time, and Bhāva भाव Quality.

9. Vipula-mati विपुलमति is complex direct knowledge of complex mental things e-g. of what a man is thinking about, now along with what he has thought of it, in the past and will think of it in future.

Complex mental knowledge knows, what has been thought of in the past and will be thought of in the future. It is of six kinds, as it knows matter and form of thought about simple and complex activity of body, mind and speech thought of by another.

Complex mental knowledge is purer than simple mental knowledge. This purity relates to Dravya द्रव्य Subject-matter Kshétra क्षेत्र Space, Kāla काल Time and Bhāva भाव Quality, of things known.

Complex mental knowledge relates to from 7 or 8 to innumerable incarnations.

As to place, complex mental knowledge extends from 4 or 8 Yojans to Adhi Dvipa अदीद्वीप two and a half continents.

Difference between Visual and Mental knowledge.

The differences between visual and mental knowledge relate to their purity, place, person of inherence, and subject-matter.

1. Manah-paryaya मनःपर्यय mental is purer than Avadhi Jnāna अवधिज्ञान Visual knowledge

2. Visual knowledge can extend to the whole Universe; whereas mental knowledge is limited to Adhi Dvipa अदीद्वीप the central portion of the middle world, where only, human beings are found.

3 Visual knowledge can be acquired by all living beings possessed of mind; mental knowledge can be acquired only by saints with super-natural powers.

4. The subject-matter of visual knowledge is gross; that of the mental, is very fine.

If a man is thinking about a pot, a Yogi or an ascetic with Vipula-mati labdhi, not only knows that the particular individual is thinking about a pot, but also knows about many attributes of the pot, for instance, that it is made of gold, that it is prepared at Pātaliputra पाटलीपुत्र capital of Magadha or Berār, that it is prepared recently, that it is placed in a large sleeping apartment, and all the other attributes of the pot.

Complex mental knowledge cannot be lost and it surely leads to Kēvala Jnāna केवलज्ञान Perfect Knowledge, with which it is merged in.

Riju-mati रज्जुमति Simple mental knowledge knows an infinitesimal part of an atom i-e an infinitesimal degree of its attributes. This degree is called Avibhāga Praticchéda अविभाग प्रतिच्छेद or an infinitesimal part of its constituents.

Vipula-mati विपुलमति Complex mental knowledge knows an infinitesimal part of the subject-matter of simple mental knowledge.

When they are going to their place of destination, these saints are obliged to repose themselves for some time, but during their return back, they go to their dwelling-place by one leap only, on account of the frequent contact with their Vidyā विद्या Knowledge, but then, they do not take any rest.

They are able to do things capable of being accomplished either by such poisonous animals as scorpions and snakes or by austerities or by other natural qualities.

For instance, gods pronounce curses on others and their evil effects do eventually occur. They possess this labdhi during their अपर्याप्तावस्था Aparyāpta avasthā-Undeveloped state. Having acquired the Asivisha labdhi during their previous human existence, even though they are newly born in the first eight heavens, they are known, in their undeveloped state, as possessing Asivisha labdhi, on account of the 'mental' impression left during their previous life. Although fully-developed gods, at times, utter curses on others, still, that condition is not designated as a labdhi, because such a state is an ordinary occurrence during that life and a labdhi is a natural attainment obtained by the acquisition of a particular quality.

Poisonous animals produced by जाति Jāti, Birth. They are 1. वृश्चिक Vrischika, Scorpions, 2. मण्डूक Manduka Frogs. 3. सर्प Sarpa Snakes, and 4 मनुष्य Manushya, Human beings. The intensity of their poisons varies proportionately. thousand cows and they are milched. The milk of fifty thousand cows is given to twenty-five thousand cows and they are milched. The milk of twenty-five thousand cows is given successively to half the number of cows and they are milched, until one gets the milk from one cow.

It is said in the Shāstras, that the milk obtained in this way is very sweet. It is perfectly healthy and very invigorating to the body and mind. The speech of an individual partaking of such milk, mixed with sugar, becomes very pleasant to the mind and body.

For instance, under the benign influence of this labdhi a Ganadhara, on receiving an explanation of Tripadi त्रिपदि a combination of three syllables Utpāda उत्पाद Vyaya व्यय and Dhrauvya ध्रौव्य, is enabled to compose the Twelve Āngas and the contained fourteen Puvvas.

When Sramana Bhagavān Mahāvira was sojourning at कूर्मे-ग्राम Kūrma-grāma, a young hermit named वैशिकायिन Vaisikāyina, who was naturally well-behaved, amiable and of a forbearing disposition, was practising penance, out-side the village, at mid-day by remaining bare-bodied in the scorching heat of the Sun, with his arms raised up and his gaze steadily directed to the disc of the Sun, and keeping his long well-grown braid of matted hair loose in the air.

Gosāla Mankhaliputra on seeing the hermit, went to him and very loudly asked him “Are you any well-known ascetic or a resting place for lice? Are you a female or a male? I cannot understand what you are. Oh ! what an image of tranquility ! ' The indulgent hermit was perfectly quiet. Gosāla then asked him repeatedly and began to ridicule him. The fire of intense anger stirred up by the abusive words of Gosāla addressed to the peace-loving hermit, was roused up like the fire produced by briskly rubbing pieces of sandal-wood and the hermit set free तेजोलेश्या Tējolésyā towards Gosāla for the purpose of burning him. Gosāla at once ran away to Sramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra who saved his life by the instantaneous use of its rival, Sīta-lésyā शीतलेश्या.

On seeing the miraculous powers of Sramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra, the hermit वैशिकायिन Vaisikāyina immediately went to him and imploringly said " My worshipful lord ! I did not know that he was your disciple, you will, therefore, be pleased to forgive this offence of mine." So saying, he went away.

If water measuring thousands of water-pots or even an ocean were poured into the cavity of his two hands the level of water will rise high and higher, but not a drop will fall down.

Śréyānsa Kumāra श्रेयांसकुमार poured sugar-cane juice measuring one hundred and eight water-pots into the cavity of the hands of Tirthamkara Bhagavān Śhree Rishabha-dēva, but not a drop fell down from his hands although it was sugar-cane juice.

Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra had a vow of using the cavity of the hands as the receptacle for the taking of his food and drink materials. He was receiving food and drink materials into the cavity of his hands on the day of breaking fasts.

No one else except a Tirthamkara or an ascetic with this labdhi is authorised to use the cavity of his hands as the receptacle for the taking of his food and drink materials.

Those who are capable of attaining Siddhi सिद्धि Salvation are called भवसिद्ध Bhava Siddha.

Only भवसिद्ध Bhava Siddha individuals can expect to attain the Labdhis described above.

Out of the twenty-eight labdhis mentioned before, Bhava Siddha females can have eighteen labdhis only, except the ten undermentioned labdhis viz 1. Arihanta Labdhi. 2. Cakravarti Labdhi. 3. Vāsudēva Labdhi. 4. Baladēva Labdhi 5. Sambhinna Srota Labdhi. 6. Vidyā Cāraṇa Labdhi. 7. Pūrva Labdhi. 8. Gaṇadhara Labdhi. 9. Pulāka Labdhi and 10. Āhāraka Śarira Labdhi.

The fact that Tirthamkara Shree Mallināth Bhagavān attained the exalted status of a Tirthamkara, when she was a female, is only a strange occurrence.

अभव्य Abhavya individuals—males and female, incapable of Salvation cannot attain the 11. Kévali Labdhi. 12. Rijumati Labdhi. 13. Vipula-mati Labdhi. 14. Madhu āśrava Labdhi and 15. Kshirāśrava Labdhi in addition to the ten labdhis mentioned above. They may or may not attain the remaining thirteen labdhis.

It appears from the short account of the Labdhis given here, that individuals with these labdhis possess immense supernatural powers. The public at large see their wonderful effects.

Some individuals adore evil spirits and kill a number of living beings with the object of acquiring these Labdhis, but they do not attain these supernatural powers.

It is the belief of Jaina canonical writers that these labdhis are acquired quite naturally without any desire or any effort by strictly observing शुद्ध चरित्र Śuddha Cāritra, blameless Right Conduct only for the welfare of one's soul without longing for pleasures of this world or of the next, by purification of the inclinations of the mind, speech and body, and by purification of the Soul by severe austerities.

Those who have acquired these labdhis, do not make use of them either for their benefit or happiness. They make use of these powers chiefly for the benefit of others or for the welfare of the community.

Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama had a large majority of these labdhis during the latter portion of his life, after his association with Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira.

Although Gaṇadhara Bhagavān Indrabhūti Gautama had extensive knowledge of many Śāstras and possessed many wonderful लब्धि Labdhis, Natural acquisitions, he was greatly devoted to Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvīra. His love for his Guru was unique, and he was always prepared to act in accordance with his orders. He was never engaged in any important undertaking without the consent of Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvīra. He invariably, immediately and joyfully executed whatever orders were given and no matter at whatever time these orders were given. He not only did not have the slightest idea in the remotest corner of his Soul, that the execution of the orders of Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvīra would, in any way, be detrimental to his exalted position, but he used to make himself sure by repeated questioning to Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvīra whether the explanation acquired by himself about the nature of objects was strictly in accordance with the usage of the canonical knowledge or not. He never had the slightest idea in his mind that whatever he knew was quite appropriate and that there was no need for having an explanation from the Venerable Ascetic. He was never proud of his knowledge.

By knowing what relation existed between the soul of Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama and that of Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvīra during his previous life, we shall have a good deal of important material to think about. Because, if an individual comes in contact with another individual, under any unexpected circumstances, it is surprising to see how they invariably meet in future lives.

Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvīra sent Indrabhūti Gautama to a farmer, for the purpose of instructing him in religion. The ever-obedient Gaṇadhara, immediately on receiving the order from the Venerable Ascetic, went to the farmer, preached him his duties and initiated him into his Order of Monks.

When Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama was ready to take the newly-made farmer-ascetic to Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvīra, the farmer-ascetic asked Indrabhūti Gautama "Where are you taking me now?" Indrabhūti Gautama said "To my preceptor." The farmer-ascetic said "Have you a preceptor also? You appear to be so glorious, what must, then, your preceptor be like? Now let go on and let us go quickly to him." So saying, he went on with the Gaṇadhara Mahārāja. As the farmer-ascetic approached the Samavasarana where Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra was preaching, he was wonder-struck with the beauty of the Samavasarana and with the grandeur of the prosperity of the Venerable Ascetic who was respectfully attended upon by millions of gods and demi-gods, and he thought within himself "How great must be the preceptor of my Guru who has been enjoying such divine happiness? I am very fortunate that I got this opportunity of seeing Him."

With these noble ideas uppermost in his mind, the farmer-ascetic entered the Samavasarana, came to its central portion where Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra was preaching, and as soon as he saw the Venerable Saint, a feeling of animosity of previous life towards Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra reigned supreme and he asked Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama. "Where is your Guru?" He replied "The Venerable Saint sitting in the centre is my Guru and also your's."

The farmer-ascetic, then, said "If he is your Guru, I have nothing to do with this Dikṣā. I d'ont want your Dikṣā. My art of cultivation and my family, is good for me." So saying, he left the ascetic's costume there, went away, and resumed his work at the plough.

Gaṇadhara Indrabhūti Gautama, then, asked "My worthy lord! I am really astonished to see that he had malice towards your Venerable Self who is the gladdener of the three worlds. O lord! why did he leave off the चारित्र धर्म Cāritra Dharma—the duties of an ascetic, accepted by him, as soon as he saw you?"

Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra said, “O Gautama! The soul of the lion whom I killed during my Bhava as Triprishtha Vāsudéva has, during this life, become the farmer. You were my charioteer during that Bhava, and you pacified with sweet words, the lion who was burning hot with anger, at death time. From that time on-ward, he became hostile to me and affectionate towards you and therefore, you were sent by me for the purpose of instructing him in religion.”

Information about the relation of the soul of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra with the soul of Ganadhara Mahārāja, Indrabhūti Gautama, during intervening Bhavas—from his existence as the charioteer of Triprishtha Vāsudéva till his appointment as the chief Ganadhara of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra during the latter's twenty-seventh Bhava and about the meritorious deeds he must have done during his future lives, for the attainment of the exalted position of a Ganadhara to a Tirthamkara, is not available.

The association of the soul of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra with that of the farmer, commenced during his previous sixteenth Bhava.

The soul of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra, during his sixteenth previous Bhava, was born as a son named विश्वभूति Viśvabhūti to queen धारिणी Dhārīṇī of crown-prince Viśākhābhūti of King Viśva-nandi of Rājagriha.

When Muni Viśvabhūti, who had accepted चारित्रधर्म Cāritra Dharma, the duties of an ascetic, and was practising severe austerities, passed on a begging-tour after a continuous fasting of one month, by the place where his cousin Kumāra Viśākhānandi, who had gone to Mathura on his marriage occasion had encamped with his large number of servants and retinue, he was much harassed by ridicule and taunts by Viśākhānandi and his servants, on the emaciated condition of his body caused by continuous fasting and severe austerities, when he fell down by coming in collision with a running cow and this event sowed the seed of great animosity between the two princes.

Becoming enraged by the derision and taunts from विशा- नानदी Viśākhānandi and his servants, Muni Viśvabhūti took an oath of killing Viśākhānandi. The soul of Viśvabhūti became Triprishtha Vāsudēva, during the previous eighteenth Bhava of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra and Visakhānandi was born as the lion whom Triprishtha Vāsudēva killed. The soul of Viśākhānandi degraded himself considerably by vile derision and mean tauntings, without any cause. It is important to notice how a soul degrades himself in ever-increasing succession. One cannot imagine at what low level a soul will stop in its down-ward motion, when once the soul becomes, the enjoyer of a degraded condition and how inevitably he suffers the terrible evil consequences incidental to that degraded state. How disastrous become the evil consequences of even a small mistake? After wandering miserably thru a number of future lives, the soul of Prince Viśākhānandi was born as a farmer. Had it not been for the mercy of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra towards him, the duration of his existence in this Samsāra would not have become limited. It was also thru the grace of the Venerable Ascetic, that Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama initiated the farmer into his Order of Ascetics. The Farmer-ascetic acquired सम्यक्त्व Samyaktva, Right Belief by excellent meritorious ideas in his mind on his way, when he was being led to Samavasarana by the Ganadhara Mahārāja and his existence in Samsāra became thereby limited. This is an excellent example of the mercy of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra. He had compassion for the welfare of his enemy on account of his love of universal affection for all living beings.

Although Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama had reached a high stage of spirituality, he never spared any pains in assiduously practising severe austerities. He had a firm belief in the external and internal penance as the means of spiritual advancement of the Soul and he possessed unswerving faith in that belief. He always had a two-days fasting and on the third day, he took very meager diet, still his body was plump and majestic.

When Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra came to Priṣṭa Campā Nagari पृष्ठचंपानगरी, both the princes Sāla सल and Maha Sāla of the King of Priṣṭa Campā Nagari, went to him with a large retinue. On hearing the preaching of the Venerable Ascetic, both the brothers had repugnance towards worldly belongings, so they went home and having entrusted their kingdom to their sister's son Gāṅgila गंगिल, both of them accepted Dikṣā दीक्षा Initiation into his Order of Monks and studied eleven Aṅgas under elderly Sādhus.

One day, with the permission of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra, they returned to Priṣṭa Campā, accompanied by Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Goutama, for the purpose of instructing their family-members in spiritual knowledge.

On receiving information about their arrival there, King Gāṅgila went to give his respects to them, and having reverentially bowed down before Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama and Munis Sāla and Mahā Sāla, he sat there for the purpose of hearing the preaching.

Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama, who, at that time, possessed the four varieties of Right Knowledge viz मति-ज्ञान Mati Jnāna, sensitive knowledge; Knowledge acquired by means of the senses and mind. 2. श्रुतज्ञान Śruta Jnāna, Scriptural Knowledge; Knowledge derived from the reading or preaching of scriptures or thru an object known by sensitive knowledge; 3. अवधिज्ञान Avadhi Jnāna, Visual Knowledge, Direct Knowledge of matter in various degrees with reference to द्रव्य Dravya, Subject-matter, क्षेत्र Kṣhétra Space, काल Kāla Time and भाव Bhāva, Quality of the object Known; 4. मनःपर्ययज्ञान Manah-paryaya-Jnāna, Mental knowledge, Direct knowledge of another person's mental activity about matter—which meant a very high degree of spirituality,—then commenced the under-mentioned preaching:—“An individual devoid of the Knowledge of the true nature of the Soul and of other objects in this world is अज्ञ Ajna, Ignorant.

An ignorant man engages himself in unprofitable occupations like a hog in fœces, while a person with superior knowledge, becomes chiefly absorbed in the acquisition of knowledge of the true nature of the Soul, like a हंस Hamsa, a Swan, in मानस सरोवर Mānas sarovara, Mānasa lake—a sacred lake and place of pilgrimage on Mount Kailāsa, whither the wild swans repair in the breeding season at the beginning of the monsoons.

Knowledge which is instrumental in directing one's thoughts, towards the various aspects of मोक्षपद Moksha-pada, the state of Final Beatitude, which alone is the causal element in becoming free from Karmas, that is to say which makes the Soul solely intent on it and identical with it, is superior knowledge and it is a knowledge producing Eternal Bliss, which the Soul failed to acquire from time immemorial.

Knowledge, however embellished with eloquent words and artful language, but devoid of the true nature of the Soul, does not at all contribute to the Happiness of the Soul, because only a very small quantity of this nectar-like knowledge, is capable of destroying the malady of endless Karmas.

Persons intent on making the first objection to a proposition for a controversy, and persons busy with raising objections to it, as well as persons believing in unascertainable objects do not fully attain the knowledge of the true nature of the Soul, like an ox walking round and round an oil-mill; because, such persons chiefly aim at defeating their adversary and obtaining victory over him and hence they consequently do not understand the true nature of objects Besides, by depending on the un-investigated form of an object, without accurately deciding on the true nature of such objects, one cannot experience, the highly natural knowledge of the Soul. Just as an ox tied to an oil-man, cannot reach any distant land although he has been walking round and round a number of times, in the same way, an individual undesirous of the knowledge of Truth, does not even touch the boundary of essential knowledge, although he may have done studious efforts in other branches of knowledge."

Continuing further, he said,

संहरागजलबूबूओवमे, जीविए य जलबिंदुचंचले ।

जुव्वणे य नईवेगसंनिभे, पाव जीव किमयं न बुज्झसि ॥ १ ॥

1. Sanjha rāga jala būbbū ovamé, jivié ya jala bindu cancalé; Juvvané ya naivéga sannibhé, pāva jiva kimayam na bujjhasi. 1.

2. Sampado jala taraṅgā vilolā, yauvanam tri caturāṇi dināni; Śardābhra pari pésala māyuh kim dhanaih kuruta dharmamanindyam. 2.

1. This life is like the colours of the setting Sun, like the bubbles of water or fickle like a drop of water on a blade of grass and youth is like a current of floods in a river. O Wicked Soul! therefore, why do you not become enlightened?

2. Prosperity is unsteady like the waves of water (on a sea), youth lasts for three or four days, and आयुः Āyuh, the duration of life is like the clouds of the monsoons. Then, What is the use of wealth? Therefore, practise the excellent Dharma.

On hearing the preaching King Gaṅgila decided to renounce the world. He entrusted the management of his kingdom to his son and received दीक्षा Dikṣā, Initiation into his Order of Monks with great celebration along with his parents.

At the time of giving Dikṣā, Ganadhara Mahārāja Indra-bhūti Gautama said.—

“You have taken Dikṣā, but it must be observed in its purity. There is no मुक्ति Mukti, Liberation without pure संयम Sanyama, Self-control. Some persons taking Dikṣā bravely like a lion, observe it like a jackal, some timid persons having taken the vows like jackals observe the संयम Sanyama, Self-control, like lions, some timid persons having taken the vows like jackals observe them like jackals, while some persons, bold like lions having taken the vow, observe the pure संयम Sanyama Self-control, like lions. Therefore, You should so carefully observe the चारित्रं Cāritram, the duties of an ascetic, that the wealth of मुक्ति Mukti, Liberation comes into the palms of your hands.

Because—If a person, devoutly intent for प्रव्रज्या Pravrajyā Religious Mendicancy even for one day, does not attain मोक्ष Moksha, Liberation, he certainly becomes a वैमानिक देव Vaimānika déva—a kind of celestial being.”

Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama then started to meet Jinēśvara Bhagavān Mahāvīra at चंपानगरी Champā Nagari accompanied by Sāla, Mahāsāla, Gāṅgila and both his parents. i-e his father पिठर Pithara and his mother यशोमती Yaśomati.

On their way, Sāla and Mahāsāla thought “My sister, her husband and her son are very fortunate that they gave us kingdom and now they gave us all-blissful चारित्रधर्म Chāritra Dharma, the duties of an ascetic,”

All the five viz 1 Sāla 2 Mahāsāla 3 Gāṅgila 4 Pithara, पिठर the father of Gāṅgila and 5 Yaśomati यशोमती the mother of Gāṅgila, while on their way to Champā Nagari, in the company of Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama, were deeply engaged in undermentioned speculations:—

१. जातश्चैको मृतश्चैको एको धर्मं करोति च ।

प्रायं स्वर्गसुखे जीवः श्वभ्रे गच्छति कः समम् ॥ १ ॥

1. Jāta ścaiko mritascaiko, éko dharmam karoti ca; Prāyam svarga sukhé jivah śvabhre gacchati kah samam.

1.- A person is born alone, dies alone, does meritorious deeds alone, and with whom does he, in all probability, go to hell or for the enjoyment of the happiness of the स्वर्ग Svarga. Heavens

२. मूढाः कुर्वन्ति ये मे मे, वपुः पुत्रगृहादिकम् ।
तेऽपि त्यक्त्वा नरोऽगाधे मज्जन्ति भवसागरे ॥ २ ॥

2. Mūdhāh kurvanti yé mé mé, vapuh putra grihādikam;
Té pi tyaktvā naroagādhé majjanti bhava sāgarè.

2 Body, progeny, property etc, which ignorant persons, consider as “Mine” even these things having left them, drown them into fathomless ocean of life.

३. अन्यो जीवो भवेद्यत्र देहात्तत्र गृहादिकम् ।
कथमेतन्मदीयं तु मन्यते तत्त्वविद् बुधः ॥ ३ ॥

3. Anyo jīvo bhavédyatra dehāttatra grihādikam; Kathamétan-madiyam tu manyaté tattvavid buddhah. 3.

3 The wise man knowing the essence of real knowledge thinks thus:-Where the जीव Jīva, the Soul is different from the देह Déha, Body, how can property etc, be मदीयं Madiyam “Mine”.

४. कुटुम्बधनधान्यादि, सर्वं दुःखसमुद्भवम् ।
देहं च मन्यते यः स्वं कर्म बध्नाति कुधीः ॥ ४ ॥

4 Kutumba dhana dhānyādi sarvam dukkha samudbhavam;
Déham ca manyatè yah svam karma badhnāti ku-dhīh.

4 Household, wealth, corn etc, all is the source of misery. The wickedly-disposed person who considers the body as his own, acquires evil karmas.

५. एको धर्ममुपार्जनं च विबुधः कृत्वा स्वयं गच्छति
स्वर्गं पापमुपार्ज्यं घोरनरकं दुःखाकरं प्राणभृत् ।
एको दुःखततीमसारमपि भो त्यक्त्वा, च मुक्त्यालयं
तस्मात्त्वं भजता वतो हि शरणं धर्म्मं त्यज स्वं गृहम् ॥ ५ ॥

5. Ēko dharmamupārjanam ca vibudhah kritvā svayam gacchati; Svargam pāpamupārjya ghora narakam duhkha-karam prāṇabhut; Ēko duhkha tatī masāramapi bho! tyaktvā ca muktyālayam; Tasmāttvam bhaja tavato hi śaraṇam dharmam tyaja svam griham.

5. One wise man having acquired the Karma of meritorious deeds, goes alone to heaven; another creature having acquired the Karma of evil deeds, goes to terrible Naraka which is the mine of misery. One, having abandoned the worthless array of miseries, goes to मुक्त्यालयं Muktyālayam, the place of Salvation. Therefore, seek the shelter of Dharma, in the first place, and abandon your house."

While contemplating on such ideas and becoming absorbed in divine meditation, all the five rose high and higher in spiritual development destroying various Karmas and acquired केवलज्ञान Kévala Jnāna, Perfect knowledge.

When all of them arrived near the Samavasarana समवसरण of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra at चपानगरी Champā Nagari, Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama went round three times from left to right, and Sāla, Mahāsāla and others did the same Having done obeisance to the Tirthamkara, the five, went to the assembly of the Kévalins. Meanwhile Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama told them "Look here! do obeisance to परमेश्वर Paraméśvara, the Supreme Lord. Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra said "O Gautama, do not be disrespectful towards Kévalins. Gautama Swāmi said "What disrespect has been done by me towards Kévalins? Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra said "These Sāla Mahāsāla and others have acquired केवलज्ञान Kévala Jnāna, Perfect knowledge. Therefore, having got up, censure your own self and sincerely ask pardon from them, who have been initiated by your own hands, and who have already acquired Kévala Jnāna. Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama then said, "O venerable sir, I am unfortunate that whoever gets initiation from me, acquires Kévala Jnāna, but I do not." Śramāna Bhagavān Mahāvira then said "Do not be disappointed, you will also have Kévala Jnāna. He, who worships the images of the twenty-four Tirthamkaras on the अष्टापदगिरि Ashtāpada-giri attains the wealth of Kévala Jnāna, during that very Bhava भव Existence."

When Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama was thus thinking about, a celestial voice was heard "The Jinésvar Bhagavān has said to-day that any human being who climbs up Mount Ashtāpada by his own supernatural power and worships the images of जिनेश्वर Jinésvaras there, will certainly attain सिद्धिपद Siddhi-pada, the state of Final Beatitude during that life.

On hearing the celestial voice, Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama requested Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira for permission to go to अष्टापदतीर्थ Ashtāpada Tirtha, the place of pilgrimage on Ashtāpada-giri for the purpose of worshipping the images of Jinésvara Tirthamkaras there. Knowing that by going there, the hermits dwelling there, will be enlightened by Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama, a permission to go there was immediately granted to him.

Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama, became greatly pleased by the permission readily given agreeably with his own desires and he arrived near the Ashtāpada-giri in a moment by a speed as swift as that of the wind, under the influence of चारणलब्धि Cāraṇa Labdhi.

In a moment, he went up the great mountain, entered the magnificent temples of नन्दीश्वरद्वीप Nandīśvara dvīpa built by भरतमहाराजा the Great King Bharata, and he devoutly worshipped the extremely beautiful images of the twenty-four Tirthamkaras there.

Coming out from the temples, Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama, sat under a big अशोकवृक्ष Āśoka Vṛikṣha Aśoka tree.. There he was paid homage by numerous gods, demons and fairies. Numerous gods, demons and fairies gave respectful salutations to him. He then preached them Dharma, according to their suitability and he solved their doubts like a Kévalin by his power of reasoning. While preaching, he appropriately said “Ascetics by severe penance, become so much emaciated that nothing but skin and bones remains on their bodies, their joints become weak, and becoming greatly debilitated, they walk very tremblingly, only by force of life.”

On hearing these words वैश्रमण्यदेव Vaiśramaṇa Déva, (Kubèra कुबेर) the god of wealth, fortune and prosperity was astonished, because the body of Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama was lustrous like polished gold and it was plump. Kubéra had a doubt about these words and he smiled a little as the words appeared to be inappropriate in his own self.

Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama had मनःपर्ययज्ञान Manah Paryaya Jñāna—Knowledge of reading another’s thoughts, and having known the mental ideas of Vaiśramaṇa Déva, he solved his doubts during preaching.

He said “The inference about the healthy condition of the body of an ascetic is not governed by an universal rule but it is imperative to restrain the Soul by auspicious meditation. Now, hear the account of the two brothers Pundarika पुंडरीक and Kunderika कुंडरीक which is as follows:—

There was a king named Mahāpadma महापद्म of पुंडरीकिणी Pundarikinī Nagari of पुष्कलावतीविजय Pushkalāvati Vijaya in the महाविदेह क्षेत्र Mahā-vidéha Kshétra of जंबूद्वीप Jambūdvīpa. He had two sons named Pundarika पुंडरीक and Kunderika कुंडरीक by his queen पद्मावती Padmāvati.

On coming to know that his elder son Pundarika had become able to govern the affairs of his kingdom, King Mahāpadma installed him on the throne and he himself accepted

दीक्षा Dikṣā. He observed चारित्रधर्म Chāritra Dharma, the duties of a Sādhu, faultlessly, studied the Scriptures carefully, became well-versed, destroyed his Karmas, attained केवलज्ञान Kéval Jnāna, Perfect Knowledge and finally, he acquired मोक्षमार्ग Mōkṣha-Mārga, the Path of Final Liberation

One day, both the brothers, Pundarika and Kundarika, on receiving information that some Sādhus had arrived near the town, went there for the purpose of hearing a preaching on religion. The preaching had such a wonderful effect on the mind of Pundarika, that he rose high in spiritual meditation and reached home as an actual ascetic. He called his ministers and addressing his young brother Kundarika in their presence he said "O child! You take the reins of government of our father's kingdom into your own hands. I have been terrified by the miseries of this Samsāra. I have made up my mind to take Dikṣā which will relieve me from that bondage. Accept therefore my proposal and act accordingly."

Kundarika replied "O brother! Why are you anxious to keep me engrossed with desires for worldly objects? I have no desire for them. I will also have Dikṣā and will cross the ocean of worldly existence

Pundarika persuaded his younger brother Kundarika a great deal, but he did not believe his advice. Finally, Pundarika addressing Kundarika said - "O brother! The organs of senses are difficult to be conquered. Mind is always unsteady. Youth is the abode of unusual perturbations. Negligence is natural with every living being. Endurance of sufferings and calamities becomes, at times, unbearable. You will have to be firm in your vows, because the observance of the vows of an ascetic is extremely difficult. It is highly expedient for you to take the vows of a Shrāvaka suitable for your duties as a house-holder, to govern your kingdom in accordance with those vows and to take Dikṣā, after you have fully passed youth."

Kundarika said "Brother! Whatever you say is quite true. But I must act fully up to my utterances. I will undoubtedly have Dikṣā. Saying so, he took Dikṣā."

Pundarika was prevented by his ministers and so he continued to govern his kingdom as a house-holder with the ideas of an ascetic.

Kundarika was mortifying his body with various severe penances and he always acted strictly in accordance with established usage. He was very popular with his companion Sādhus.

One day, however, near the approach of spring-time, the mind of Kundarika became wavering. He thought "I have nothing to do with this चारित्रधर्म Cāritra Dharma, the duties of an ascetic. I will accept the kingdom which my brother was offering me before."

With these ideas supreme in his mind and with a dejected heart, Kundarika went to the capital city of his brother, began to roll, here and there, on a cool bedding of green leaves under a tree in a pleasure-garden, and he tied up his utensils and other articles serviceable for an ascetic life, to the tree, and kept them hanging there. He sent word about his arrival there, to his brother King Pundarika thru the watchman of the garden. The King went there with his minister and bowed down before him.

On seeing the bedding of green leaves and all his belongings hanging on the tree, the King inferred that his brother Kundarika had left off Cāritra Dharma. Addressing his minister, King Pundarika said "Perhaps you remember that I tried to prevent Kundarika when he rashly became ready to take the vows of an ascetic life during his youth. However, even now, I am ready to give him the kingdom but I am only sorry that he has now become ready to waste the चिन्तामणिरत्न Cintāmaṇi Ratna the all-wishing precious gem capable of fulfilling the desires of its possessor, acquired after strictly observing Cāritra Dharma for such a long period. "I will only be benefitted, if he governs my kingdom. But he is doing harm to his Soul."

King Pundarika soon entrusted the government of his kingdom to his brother Kundarika as desired by him, presented him with royal insignia and he himself taking the characteristic emblems of an ascetic from Kundarika, took Dikṣā with a pure heart.

While starting on a wandering tour from village to village, Pundarika Muni thought "I have fortunately acquired the long-desired यतिधर्म Yati Dharma, the duties of an ascetic. Now it is advisable that I should take the vows in the presence of my Guru." Thinking so, he started to meet his Guru. Going to his Guru, Pundarika Muni took the vows of an ascetic from him and took his meals at the end of a three days' fasting without water.

Having become greatly exhausted by walking fast over a long distance while going to his Guru, eating cold, tasteless, dry food, with blood cozing from his tender feet, Pundarika Muni went into the village with great difficulty, asked for a place to live in for the night and slept on a bedding of grass. During the night, while meditating about meritorious actions and repenting with a pure heart for evil actions done during previous lives, Pundarika Muni died with plump body and was born as a god in Sarvārtha Siddha Vimāna सर्वार्थसिद्धविमान.

Kundarika became a king. His servants began to laugh at him saying that he broke his vow for food like a beggar. Kundarika was greatly enraged with them at heart. He thought "I will have extremely savoury dishes for my food, eat them to my entire satisfaction and then, I will kill all who are deriding me." He went, then into the palace, took all varieties of food and drink material filling his stomach right up to the neck and woke up the whole night, with the object of satisfying his carnal desires. Waking up during night and indigestion of an excessive quality of food and drink-material produced diarrhoea accompanied with vomiting. He suffered agonizing pains. His stomach became full-blown like bellows perfectly filled with air. There was tight blocking up of wind and he had intense thirst. His ministers and others, thinking that the wicked man had broken his vows did not do any medicinal treatment for him and did not allow any one else to do the treatment for him. He was suffering severe pain. He thought "If I, any how, get over this illness, I will have all these officers and their family-members killed brutally in the morning" With such evil ideas, and formidable sentiments of wrath, Kundarika died during the night and was born as a नारक Nāraka, a hellish being in अप्रतिष्ठान नरकावास Apratiśtāna Narakāvāsa, a hellish den named Apratiśtāna, in the seventh hell."

"Therefore, O members of the assembly! emaciation or plumpness of the body among strict ascetics is not an essential element. Good meditation is the only causal agent of Blissful life."

Vaiśramaṇa Déva heard attentively the account of Pundarika and Kundarika narrated by Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama. He acquired सम्यक्त्व Samyaktva, Right belief from that moment, and becoming glad by the explanation given by Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama about the doubt lingering in his mind, he bowed down respectfully once more before him and went to his abode.

Having finished the preaching, Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama remained there, for the night, and in the morning he commenced to get down from the mountain.

When Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama was on a pilgrimage to अष्टापदगिरि Aṣṭāpada-giri, Mount Aṣṭāpada, fifteen hundred hermits named कोदण्ड्य Kodanya, दत्त Dutta, सेवाल Sēvāla and others, knowing Aṣṭāpada-giri to be a means acquiring मोक्ष Moksha, Final Liberation, arrived near the mountain for a pilgrimage there.

Out of these hermits, five hundred hermits, observing one day's fasting, and eating green roots and fresh vegetables on the break-fast-day, reached the first मेखला Mékhalā, slope of the mountain. The second batch of five hundred hermits, observing two-day's fasting and eating dry roots on the break-fast-day reached the second slope. And the third batch of five hundred hermits observing three day's fasting and eating dry moss only on the break-fast-day reached the third slope of the mountain. Being unable to ascend higher, the three parties stopped respectively at the first, second and the third slope of the mountain.

On seeing Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama with a lustrous gold-coloured appearance and plump body, going quickly up the mountain, they said amongst themselves "We are thin-bodied still we cannot go further. How will this Muni with bulky body go up the mountain?"

While they were talking thus, Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama swiftly went up the mountain and became invisible in a moment like a god. Then they said amongst themselves that this great sage possesses extraordinary supernatural powers, so when he returns here we shall all become his pupils. With this firm determination in their mind, the hermits respectfully kept waiting with close attention for his return there, as for the arrival of a dear relative.

Diksha of Fifteen Hundred Hermits.

The hermits who were waiting there, saw Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama coming down from the great mountain. As soon as he approached them, they bowed down before him and requested him "O rigorous devotee! O great Soul! We all of us are desirous of becoming your disciples, you will, therefore be pleased to favour us by accepting our request."

Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama said "May the omniscient Lord Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra-dēva be your Guru गुरु Preceptor."

The hermits persistently insisted upon him to give them दीक्षा Dikṣā, Initiation into his Order of Monks there and then, and to make all of them his own disciples. On account of their excessive eagerness Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama gave them Dikṣā there on the spot. The gods supplied them all the materials suitable for an ascetic life and all of them started, accompanied by Ganadhara Mahārāja, to meet Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra.

Feeding of Fifteen Hundred Hermits.

On their way-when at noon-meal time they arrived at a small village, Ganadhara Mahārāja asked all the Munis "What desirable food shall I bring for you?" They said "Let us have पायसान्न Pāyasānna, Rice boiled in milk."

Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama, then, brought from the village क्षीर Kshira, Rice boiled in milk, just sufficient for his own use, ordered all the hermits to arrange themselves for dinner and said "You do your break-fast with this पायसान्न Pāyasānna, Rice-boiled in milk."

All the hermits thought simultaneously—How will such a small quantity of क्षीर Kshira, Rice-boiled in milk, be sufficient for all of us? But with the prudent judgment of 'strictly obeying' the commands of the Guru, all the hermit-disciples arranged themselves to take their break-fast-meal on their own seats without entertaining any doubt or without asking about any thing.

Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama, first fed all the hermit disciples to satisfaction from the quantity of क्षीर Kshira he had brought from the village, under the supernatural power of महानसलब्धि Mahānasa Labdhi and then he himself took his meals. All the newly-initiated hermit-sādhus were greatly astonished.

When the hermit-sādhus were taking their meal, the five hundred hermits who took only dry moss on their break-fast-day acquired केवलज्ञान Kévala Jnāna, Perfect Knowledge while contemplating thus—We are very fortunate in acquiring Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvīra Paramātmā the father of the world, as our worthy preceptor in religion. Besides we are, in every way, lucky in acquiring this Muni as our instructor who is just like a father to us.

The second batch of hermit-sadhus including दत्त Datta, acquired केवलज्ञान Kévala Jnāna on seeing the splendour of the watchmen of Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvīra.

The third batch of hermit-sādhus acquired केवलज्ञान Kévala Jnāna, Perfect Knowledge, as soon as they saw Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvīra from a distance,

They then went three times from left to right round Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvīra and when they were going towards the assembly of Kévalins, Gautama Ganadhara said “Give respectful salutations to the Venerable Saint.”

Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvīra, there upon, said “O Gautama ! Do not be disrespectful towards Kévalins. On hearing these words, Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama asked pardon of the Kévalins.

Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama, again had the following idea in his mind, at that time—“I will not positively have सिद्धिपद Siddhi-pada, the abode of Final Liberation during this life. I have, still many severe evil Karmas left with me. These great sages are fortunate that though they have been only recently initiated by me they acquired केवलज्ञान Kévala Jnāna, Perfect Knowledge, in a moment.

On seeing Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama contemplating thus, Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvīra asked “Gautama ! Whose word is trustworthy ? Is it of Tirthamkaras or of a god ? Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama gently and respectfully said “Of Tirthamkaras.”

Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvīra, then consolingly said ‘Gautama ! Now, do not be impatient. The affection of a गुरु Guru, teacher, towards his pupil is easily vanishable like tender grass growing on split-peas. The affection of a pupil towards his Guru—your affection towards me has become as firm as a matting of wool. Your affection towards me has become very solid by long association with me. Your केवलज्ञान Kévala Jñāna, Perfect knowledge, has thereby become obstructed. It will become manifest only when there is an absence of love and you will then become my equal.”

Kési Kumāra wandering from village to village, went to श्रावस्ती Śrāvasti Nagari surrounded by an assemblage of disciples, and put up at a clean dwelling-place in a pleasure garden named तिन्दुक Tinduka, of that town.

5-8 At that time, Dharma Tirthamkara Jina Bhagavān Vardhamāna Swāmi well-known in all the worlds, and enlightener of the three worlds had a renowned chief disciple named Bhagavān Gautama who was well-versed in learning and चारित्र Cāritra Dharma, the duties of an ascetic-life, who was well-versed in the Twelve Aṅgas and who was बुद्ध Buddha, the enlightened person, who is qualified by good works and Knowledge of the Truth for निर्वाण Nirvāṇa Final Liberation and reveals the true doctrine of Salvation to the worlds before his disease. He, also wandering from village to village, came to श्रावस्तीनगरी Srāvastī Nagari surrounded by an assemblage of disciples, and put up at a clean dwelling-place in a pleasure-garden named कोष्टक Koshtaka, of that town.

9-13. Both Kēsī Kumāra Śramana and Gautama Ganadhara were illustrious personages; both were sojourning there; both had control over their mind, speech and body; both practised deep meditation on the Supreme Soul and profound devotion. The congregation of ascetic-disciples of both these illustrious personages, who had conquered their sensual pleasures, desires, and practised severe austerities, and who were highly virtuous and able to deliver others (from the bondage of Samsāra) had the following doubts in their minds. "What must be the nature of the धर्म Dharma, Code of religious duties with four vows taught by the great sage श्रीपार्श्वनाथप्रभु Shree Pārsva Nāth Piabhu and of the code of religious duties with five vows taught by Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra Swāmi and what must be the respective distinction between our आचार Ācāra, Rules of conduct, with regard to putting on of dress, eating, keeping of utensils for food etc and that of the other and what must be reason that in one code अचेलकत्व Acélakatva, Remaining without garments, has been sanctioned, while in the other, putting on of valueable and decorative garments has been ordained, although both are directed towards the accomplishment of one desirable object viz. मोक्षमार्ग the Mokshamārga, the Path of Final Emanafation.

14-15 Both Kési Kumāra and Ganadhara Gautama having known the doubtful notions of their disciples, made up their minds for an interview. Gaṇadhara Gautama resourceful of respectful behaviour, went to तेंदुयं Tenduyam Tēnduka pleasure-garden accompanied by his assemblage of disciples, disregarding his most excellent order.

16-17. Kéśi Kumāra Śramana on seeing Ganadhara Gautama coming there, gave him suitable respect, gave him clean grass for bedding and five blades of कुश Kuśa, Sacrificial grass.

During the interview, a number of important questions were asked by Kéśi Kumāra Śramana and they were ably solved by Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama. They form the subject of the twenty-third अध्यायन Adhyayana chapter of Uttarādhyayana Sūtra.

Although Kéśi Kumāra was a very competent आचार्य Acārya, Teacher, and he possessed अवधिज्ञान Avadhi Jnāna, Visual knowledge, it is apparent that he entertained very high respect for Ganadhara Mahārāja Gautama Swāmi and this incident gives us a ground for admitting the abundance of supernatural powers of a गणधर Ganadhara, the head of a corporation of ascetics.

Kéśi Kumāra Śramāna was not a गणधर Ganadhara, the head of the congregation of the ascetics of Tirthamkara Bhagavān Shree Pārśva Nāth but he was a very competent Acārya among his Order of Ascetics. The head of a family of ascetics is called a गणधर Ganadhara, Kéśi Kumāra is also styled as केशिगणधर Kéśi Ganadhara but he was not a Ganadhara. He was a very competent Ācārya.

There is some difference in the rules of conduct among the Sādhus of Tirthamkara Bhagavān Shree Pārśva Nāth and the rules of conduct among the sādhus of Tirthamkara Śramana Bhagavān Shree Mahāvira Swāmi and both the illustrious personages Kéśi Kumāra Śramana and Ganadhara Gautama having come to know that ordinary ascetics of both the Tirthamkaras are likely to have doubts as to whether the rules of conduct followed by themselves were the genuine ones or whether the rules of conduct followed by others were genuine, thought of having an interview with the object of deciding such like questions.

We are inclined to form a high opinion about Gaṇadhara Mahānāja Indrabhūti Gautama for the courtesy shown by him during his interview with Kéśi Kumāra Śramaṇa. The rank of a Gaṇadhara is superior to that of an ordinary Acārya or of an ascetic with Avadhi Jñāna, still Gautama Gaṇadhara observing polite manners and the decorum of his exalted position, went to Tinduka pleasure-garden where Kéśi Kumāra Śramaṇa had put up. On seeing Gautama Gaṇadhara coming towards him, Kéśi Kumāra Śramaṇa welcomed him with suitable respect and gave him a seat prepared of five varieties of पलाल Palāla, Straw, and Kuśa grass.

Spectral gods, evil spirits किन्नर Kinnara, fabulous beings (half man, half animal) in the service of Kubéra and invisible beings assembled there.

When both these illustrious personages met together, the place appeared beautiful as if with the lustre of the Sun and the Moon. Thousands of persons met there for the purpose of seeing the interview. There were some persons desirous of knowing the real essence of Truth and there were some imposters. There were also some gods, demons, celestial musicians, spectral demi-gods, evil spirits and aerjals there. It is but natural to expect a multitude of people when illustrious persons meet together. The way in which these two illustrious persons decide the doubts while preserving their mutual self-respect, is worth imitating. The person asking questions was the excellent Śramana Kési Kumāra, while the person solving the doubts was Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama.

चाउज्जामो अ जो धम्मो जो इमो पंचसिक्खिओ ।

24. Ēga kajjappavannānam visésé kim nu kāranam; Dhammé duvihé méhāvi ! kaham vippachchao na té.

23-24. Mahā-muni Shree Pārśva Nāth Bhagavān, has preached धर्म Dharma, the duties of religious rites (for an ascetic) with four Great Vows (i-e Abstinence from हिंसा Himsā, Injury to animals. 2. Abstinence from अनृत Anruta, Falsehood 3. Abstinence from स्तेय Stéya, Theft; Stealing 4. Abstinence from परिग्रह Parigraha, Property and Śramana Bhagavān Shree Vardhamāna Swāmi has preached Dharma with five Great Vows adding abstinence from मैथुन Maithuna Sexual intercourse as the fourth great vow and making abstinence from परिग्रह Parigraha, Property, as the fifth great vow. The five great vows preached by Śramana Bhagavān Shree Vardhamāna Swāmi are 1 Abstinence from हिंसा Himsā Injury to animals 2. Abstinence from अनृत Anruta, Falsehood 3. Abstinence from स्तेय Stéya, Theft, Stealing 4. Abstinence from मैथुन Maithuna, Sexual Intercourse and 5. Abstinence from परिग्रह Parigraha, Property.

Both were aiming at the accomplishment of one desired object i-e. the attainment of मोक्ष Moksha, Final Liberation, why should, then, there be any difference in the methods advocated by them?

O intelligent person! Is there not any incompatibility in the two conceptions of religion? Both were सर्वज्ञ Sarvagna. Omniscient, why did they creat this difference in conceptions?

27. Purimānam duvvisojjho u, charimānam duraṇupālao; Kappo majjhimagānam tu, suvisojjho supālao.

25. Then, on being thus questioned by Śramana Kési Kumāra, Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama replied—
 “The essence of Dharma is known by intellect; and intellect alone decides the true nature of Jiva and other principles. The ascetics of the time of Tirthamkara Bhagavān Shree Rishabha-déva, the first Tirthamkara of the present series of twenty-four Tirthamkaras were straight-forward and dull, the ascetics of the time of Tirthamkara Mahārāja Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra Swāmi, the last Tirthamkara (of the present era) are crooked and dull, while the ascetics of the time of intermediate twenty-two Tirthamkaras were straight-forward and wise. Hence, the Dharma धर्म, Rules of Conduct (preached for ascetics) were of two kinds.

27. The ascetics of the time of the first Tirthamkara were दुव्विसोज्झो Duvvisojjho दुर्विशोध्यः Durviśodhyah, were not able to clearly understand the preaching of the Guru - (because they were dull-witted) the ascetics of the time of the last Tirthamkara were दुरणुपालओ Duranupālaho दुरनुपालकः Duranupālakah were able to obey the orders (of the Guru) with difficulty, (because they were crooked and dull) while the ascetics of the intermediate twenty-two Tirthamkaras, were सुविसोद्ध्यो Suvisojjho सुविशोध्यः Suvisodhyah, able to understand the preaching easily and were सुपालओ Supālaho सुपालकः Sūpālakah able to obey orders of the Guru carefully, as they were straight-forward and wise. Although they were with four vows, they were able to understand and to observe carefully the fifth vow also.

यदुक्तं । नो अपरिगृहिआए इत्थीए जेण होइ परिभोगो ।

No apariggahiāe itthīe jēṇa hoi paribhogo; Tā tavviraīe chchiya a-bambha viraitti paṇṇānam.

It is said,

A woman, who is अपरिग्रहित A-parigrahita, Not accepted as one's married wife and not accepted as one's परिग्रह Parigraha Household, cannot be enjoyed for sexual intercourse. When the परिग्रहव्रत Parigraha Vrata, the vow of abstinence from holding any belonging is taken, अबंभविरइ Abambhavirai, Abstinence from sexual intercourse, is certainly enjoined."

With this object in view, Mahā-muni Shree Parśvanāth Tirthamkara preached Dharma with four great vows, the first Tirthamkara Bhagavān Shree Rishabha-dēva Swāmi, and the last Tirthamkara Śramana Bhagavān Shree Vardhamāna Swāmi, preached Dharma with five great vows. This difference is caused for the benefit of ascetics/ possessing different प्रज्ञा Prajnā, Standards of intellect, but it is not in connection with the True doctrine. Then Kéśi Kumāra said,

साहु गोअम ! पण्णा ते, छिण्णो मे संसओ इमो ।

अन्नो वि संसओ मज्झं, तं मे कहसु गोअमा ! ॥ २८ ॥

28. Sāhu Goama ! pannā té, chhinno mé samsao imo;
Anno vi samsao majnam, tam mé kahasu Goamā !

28. O Gautama ! You are very intelligent This doubt of mine has been removed ( by you ). I have also another doubt. O Gautama ! ( please ) tell me that.

Śramana Kési Kumāra, says so, with relation to ascetics, because such a doubt is not possible with a person equipped with three kinds of Knowledge as he really was.

29-30. Tirthamkara Bhagavān Shree Mahāvīra Swāmi preached the institution of अचेलकः Achélakah, Moving about without clothes and the illustrious Tirthamkara Bhagavān Shree Pārśva Nāth has recommended the use of an under-garment and an upper-garment. When both are aiming at the accomplishment of one desired object, what must be the cause of this difference ? O wise man ! with these लिङ्गा Lingā, Outward signs of two different kinds, does it not appear incompatible to you ?

31. To Śramana Kési Kumāra asking in this way (Ṭaṇadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama replied thus—The Tirthamkaras having ascertained विण्णाणेण Vinnānēṇa विज्ञानेन Vijnānēṇa, by Kévala Jñāna, whatever is appropriate for their ascetics, have permitted the use of materials necessary for the fulfilment of their various duties.

The ascetics of the time of Tirthamkara Bhagavān Shree Rishabha-déva Swāmi and of the time of Tirthamkara Bhagavān Shree Vaidhamāna Swāmi were not allowed the use of coloured and costly garments, under the fear of their undertaking the preparation of these articles involving the death of many small animalcules during the process or having these articles prepared for themselves by others, because they were crooked and dull. The ascetics of the time of Tirthamkara Bhagavān Shree Pārśva Nāth were straight-forward and wise and hence there was no objection in allowing them the use of such beautiful and costly garments.

32-33 Ascetics are distinguished by the people by the possession of various materials as external signs. Varieties of dressing-apparel have been chosen with due consideration to the observance of concentration of mind and acquisition of Knowledge. The other object of having a distinguishing apparel as an out-ward sign for an ascetic, is for the purpose of reminding him that he is an ascetic, in case of slight aberration of mind. The Tirthamkaras have preached that सम्यक् ज्ञान Samyag Jñāna, Right Knowledge, सम्यग् दर्शन Samyag Darśana Right Perception and सम्यग् चारित्र Samyag Chāritra, Right Conduct, are the means for the attainment of मोक्ष Moksha, Final Liberation. But O Kéśi Kumāra! the out-ward signs are not the means of Salvation.

37. Kési Kumāra asked Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama, 'Which enemy did you say? When Śramana Kési Kumāra asked him in this way,

'Gautama Ganadhara replied thus:—

एगप्पा अजिए सत्तू कसाया इंदिआणि अ ।

38. Ēgappā ajie sattū, kasāyā indiāni a; Tè jinittu jahānāyam viharāmi aham Muni.

38. If the आत्मा Atmā, Soul is not conquered, it becomes an enemy; in the same way, the four कषाय Kashāya, Passions if not conquered become enemies, making along with the Atmā, five enemies; similarly the five इन्द्रिआणि Indriāni, the pleasures of the five senses become enemies if not conquered, making the number of enemies as ten. O sage! having conquered those ten enemies properly, I move about unobstructed among these enemies.

N. B. When the afore-said ten enemies are conquered, नो कषायाः No-Kashāyāh Minor passions and all other enemies are conquered. Here, one's Soul has been considered as his own enemy. Ordinary individuals cannot realize how one's soul becomes his own enemy. So long as one's soul does not accept what is beneficial to him even after thoroughly examining the true essence of what is advantageous to him and what is not, but, acquiring many evil Karmas, goes on increasing his existence in Samsāra, his Soul becomes his own enemy. The subduing of one's Soul and preventing him from acquiring additional evil Karmas, is a herculean task. Other enemies becomes easily conquerable, only when this one enemy has been thoroughly subdued.

The wonderful uprightness and freedom from pertinacity on the part of Śramana Bhagavān Kési Kumāra becomes clearly manifest. He accepted Dharma with five great vows, as soon as his doubts were removed by the most correct explanations of Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama. People leaving aside their obstinacy on knowing the Truth, have always attained their noble desire and only such persons are deserving of imitation by the common people because, when illustrious persons leaving aside their obstinacy, accept the truth, common people walking in their foot-steps, engage themselves in the welfare of their Soul.

Ganadhara Gautama and Anand Sravaka

Out of the Śrāvaks आवक Jain lay-men with the prescribed vows, those who rise high and higher by very carefully observing their accepted vows, at times, acquire अवधिज्ञान Avadhi Jnāna, Visual Knowledge. Although the ten principal Śrāvaks of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira carefully observed the series of Eleven प्रतिमा Pratimās, Stages of Spirituality suitable for lay-men and practised very severe austerities, only two of them viz आनन्द आवक Ananda Śrāvaka and महाशतकजि Mahā-śatakaji acquired अवधि ज्ञान Avadhi Jnāna, Visual Knowledge.

Anandaji observed his vows for fourteen years with great devotion worshipping images of जिनेश्वर परमात्मा Jinéśvara Paramātmās, the most exalted lords of the Jainas and practising prolonged fasting and other religious ceremonies. With the advent of the fifteenth year, Anandaja eagerly desirous of observing the series of Eleven प्रतिमा Pratimās, Stages of Spiritual Development for Śrāvaks, cordially invited his caste-people, relatives and friends and welcomed them with excellent dinners. He then appointed his eldest son as the head of his family in their presence and with the permission of his family-members and friends, he went to the monastery at कोल्लाक-सन्नवेश Kollāka Sannivéśa, the suburb Kollāka in वाणीजल Vāñijasa village. Anandaji wiped clean the ground and carefully inspected the place for urination and defecation so as to make himself sure that it was perfectly free from small animalcules and vermins and sitting on a seat of dry grass, Anandaji commenced the first Pratimā प्रतिमा Stage of Spiritual Development for Śrāvaks, devoutly observing the various religious ceremonies mentioned in the Scriptures and in due course of time he completed the Eleven प्रतिमा Stages of Spiritual Development.

Although his body had become greatly emaciated by continuous fasting and severe penance, आनन्द श्रावक Anand Sravaka always observed his vows with great devotion and increasing sincerity. On account of steady application and the destruction of ज्ञानावरणिय कर्म Jnānāvaraṇiya Karma, Knowledge-obscuring Karma, Ānanda Śrāvaka, one day, acquired अवधि ज्ञान Avadhi Jnāna, Visual Knowledge.

Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira happened to arrive near the village. Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama went into the village, during the third quarter of the day, begging for food, with the permission of the Lord and having heard the account of Ananda Sravaka, from people, he went to the place where Ānanda Śrāvaka lived. On seeing Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Gautama Swāmi coming to him, he was greatly delighted and bowing down low before him Ānanda Śrāvaka imploringly said “My lord! My body has become greatly emaciated by severe austerities and hence I was not able to come to you. You will be pleased to come a little nearer.” So saying, he bowed down reverentially three times, at the feet of Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama, and asked him “O Lord! can a householder attain अवधि ज्ञान Avadhi Jnāna, Visual Knowledge, during his domestic life? Gaṇadhara Gautama Swāmi replied “Yes. He can.

Addressing Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama, the devout Śrāvaka Ānandajī said “Most respectful Sir, I have acquired अवधि ज्ञान Avadhi Jnāna, Visual Knowledge, and I am able to see objects as far as five hundred yojans each way in the East, South and West towards the लवण समुद्र Lavana Samudra, Salt Ocean, and I am able to know and see objects as far as the हिमवन्त वर्षधर Himavānta Varshadhara, Himavanta Mountain in the North, the सौधर्म देवलोक Saudharma Dévaloka, in the Upper World, and as far as the लोलुच्य नरकावास Loluchya Narakāvāsa, Loluchya hell of the रत्नप्रभा Ratnaprabhā earth in the Lower World.”

Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama, a little suspicious about these words of Ānanda Śrāvaka said, "O worthy man! a house-holder does acquire Avadhi Gnāna but its range of vision is not so wide, you should therefore, make atonement and despise your sins.

Ānanda Śrāvaka said "O Lord! Is there atonement for correct explanation in the Jaina sacred scriptures? Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama replied "No". Ānanda Śrāvaka then respectfully said "If such is the case, you deserve to perform the atonement."

With some doubt in his mind about these words of Ānanda Śrāvaka, the illustrious Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama went to Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra and bowing down low before him after duly observing penance for occasional sins incurred during गमनागमन Gamanāgamana, Going and coming, he narrated the whole account of the Avadhi Gnāna of Ānanda Śrāvaka and his conversation on the subject with him and asked him "O Lord! Who should make atonement? I or Ānanda Śrāvaka?

Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra replied, "You yourself make atonement and ask pardon from Ānanda Śrāvaka.

Having accepted these words of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra, with great eagerness, Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama immediately went to the place where Ānanda Śrāvaka lived and asked his pardon, saying at the same time that his explanation ( Ānanda Śrāvaka's ) was correct.

In this connection, one must undoubtedly praise the extreme straight-forwardness and courteous obedience to the strict observance of the orders of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra on the part of Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama. The very fact that an illustrious man occupying the exalted position of a गणधर Gaṇadhara, the chief disciple of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra and possessing numerous Labdhis and extensive Knowledge, goes to the house of an ordinary house-holder for the purpose of requesting his pardon while duly respecting the orders of his Master, gives ample proof of the natural straightforwardness of Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama. Wise men desirous of accomplishing the welfare of their Soul, will rise high and higher only when they acquire such-like straightforwardness and respectful obedience in strictly following the orders of their elders. People desirous of their own welfare, should consider the acquisition of these noble qualities as one of their principal duties.

Ganadhara Gautama and Mahasatakaji.

महाशतकजि Mahāśatakaji, the eighth principal Śrāvaka of Śrāmana Bhagavān Mahāvīra had thirteen wives. When Mahāśatakaji accepted the twelve अणुव्रत Anu Vratas, the Minor Vows of a Śrāvaka, out of his thirteen wives, his twelve wives did not exhibit any unusual pranks, but रेवती Révati, one of his wives, had very evil notions in her mind. All the people in this world do not possess similar and praiseworthy ideas in their minds. Révati had the undermentioned wicked notion in her mind, "I am not able to enjoy the pleasures of the senses exclusively with my husband, owing to the hindrance caused by his other wives, so, if I can kill them by any means, I will be able to enjoy happiness exclusively with my husband, and I will become the owner of their property also."

With this evil idea upper-most in her mind, the wicked woman killed six of her co-wives with weapons and the remaining six were treacherously killed by poisoning, and, she became the owner of their property.

Mahāśatakaji spent fourteen years practising the various vows after taking them like Ananda Śrāvaka, and like him, he entrusted his family-members to the care of his son, went to the monastery and remained in meditation on religious subjects. There also, the wicked woman tried to harass him a number of times, but he never lacked in his devotion. Mahāśatakaji then observed the eleven प्रतिमास Pratinās, Stages of Spiritual Development for a Śrāvaka. On account of severe austerities his body became greatly emaciated.

One day, under the influence of meritorious meditation Mahāśatakaji acquired अवधिज्ञान Avadhi Gnāna, Visual Knowledge, and he was able to perceive and know objects as far as one thousand yojans in the लवण समुद्र Lavaṇa Samudra, Salt Sea, in the East, in the South and in the West. In the remaining directions he was able to see as much as Ānanda Śrāvaka did.

Once, when his wife रेवती Rēvati was harassing him, Mahāśatakaji became angry with her and knowing through the medium of his Avadhi Gnāna he said "O Rēvati! overcome by diarrhoea, you will die with unbearable pain within seven days, and will be born as a नारक Nāraka, Hellish being with an age-limit of eighty-four thousand years in the hell-den लोलुचय Lolucchaya, in the first hell."

Rēvati on hearing these words, was greatly alarmed and she thought. "To day, Mahāśatakaji has become very angry with me and he will any how kill me." With this idea in her mind, she went home and passed her days miserably. As foretold by Mahāśatakaji, she died and was born a नारक Nāraka, a Hellish being.

At that time, Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira happened to arrive near the village. Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira narrated the account of the anger of Mahāśatakaji towards his wife Rēvati and of the language used by him and said, "O Gautama! Mahāśataka has renounced his body in the monastery and has abstained from food and water till death. His body has become extremely emaciated because he has remained without food and water. It is not advisable that a man of his status should utter harsh words towards other individuals, even though the words uttered by him may be perfectly true. You therefore go to Mahāśatakaji and tell him that the words used by him towards Révati, even though they were perfectly true, were improper as they were unpleasant, and tell him to make atonement for his sins.

Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama went to the monastery where Mahāśatakaji was living. On seeing Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama coming to him, Mahāśatakaji was greatly pleased. Mahāśatakaji bowed down respectfully before him. Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama then gave him the message of Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira with all its details. Mahāśatakaji accepted the words of Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti and made atonement for his sins. Ganadhara Gautama then returned into the presence of Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira.

An account of the ten principal Śāvakas of Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira is given in उपाशकदशंगसूत्र Upāśakadaśāṅga Sūtra (the Seventh Sutra) and in Vardhamāna Déśanā वर्धमान देशना to which the reader is referred.

Knowing the approach of the time of his निर्वाण Nirvāna, Final Emancipation, to be near-by and thinking that Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama had intense affection towards himself and his affection was an obstacle to the acquisition of केवलज्ञान Kēvala Gnāna, Perfect Knowledge, by Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama, and with the object of cutting off the bondage of affection, in order that he may acquire Perfect Knowledge, he would cause separation, although that separation will be a great blow to him because whatever is beneficial in the end should always be done. With this idea in his mind, Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira sent him to a neighbouring village for the purpose of instructing a Brahmin named देवशर्मा Dévaśarmā, in religion.

Saying "Just as your Lord pleases," Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama bowed down before Śramaṇa Bhagavān

Mahāvira, went to the village where Dévaśarmā was living and instructed Dévaśarmā in religion. Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama then started to return to the place where Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira was.

On his way back, having heard about the निर्वाण Nirvāna, Final Emancipation, of Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira from the gods who had arrived there for the celebration of the auspicious occasion of निर्वाण Nirvāna, Final Emancipation of his venerable Master, Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama stood stunned for a moment, as if struck by a thunder-bolt and said—

प्रसरति मिथ्यात्वतमो गर्जन्ति कुतीर्थिकौशिका अद्य ।

दुर्भिक्षडमरवैरादिराक्षसाः

प्रसरमेष्यन्ति ॥ १ ॥

1. Prasaratī Mithyātva-tamo garjanti ku-tirthīKauśikā adya; Durbhiksha damaravairādi rākṣasāḥ prasara-méshyanti.

1. Hence-forward, the darkness of मिथ्यात्व Mithyātva, Wrong Belief, will spread; heretics like Kauśika and others will roar boisterously and evil spirits in the form of famine tumult, animosity etc, will break out.

राहुग्रस्तनिशाकरमिव गगनं दीपहीनमिव भवनम् ।

2. Rāhugrasta niśākaramiva gaganam dipahinamiva bhavanam; Bharatamidam gataśobham tvayā vinā adya prabho ! jagné. 2.

2. O Lord, I now consider the Bharatakshétra without you, to be destitute of splendour, like the sky with the moon seized by Rāhu or like a palace without a lamp कस्यांहिपीठे प्रणतः पदार्थान् पुनः पुनः प्रश्नपदीकरोमि ?

कं वा भदन्तीति वदामि ? को वा मां गौतमेत्यासगिराऽथवक्ता ? ॥ ३ ॥

3. Kasyāmhipithé praṇatah padārthān punah - punah praśnapadi karomi?; Kam vā bhadantéti vadāmi ko -vā mām Gautametyāptagirā atha vaktā?

3. Bowing down gently at whose lotus-like feet, will I repeatedly ask a series of questions? Whom will I address as भदन्त Bhadanta, भन्दन्ते कल्याणिनो भवन्ति भदन्ताः Bhandanté kalyāṇino bhavanti bhadantāh, One who is a highly propitious monk? Who will henceforth call me as Gautama by a speech suitable for trust-worthy persons?

हा! हा! हा! वीर! किं कृतं? यदीदृशोऽवसरेऽहं दूरीकृतः, किं मांडकं मण्डयित्वा बालवत्तवाऽञ्चलेऽलगिष्यं? किं केवलभागममार्गयिष्यं? किं मुक्तौ संझीर्णं अभविष्यत्? किं वा तव भारोऽभविष्यद् यदेवं मां विमुच्य गतः ॥

Hā! Hā! Hā! Vira! kim kṛitam? yadidraśé avasare aham dūrikṛitah, Kim māṇḍakam mandayitvā bālavattavāñchalé alagishyam? Kim Kévalabhāgamamārgayishyam? Kim Muktau saṅkīrnam abhavishyat? Kim vā tava bhāro abhavishyad yadévam mām vimuchya gatah.

Alas! Alas! Alas! O Vira! What has been done? That I have been removed to a distance at such an opportunity? Arranging a circle, will I cling like a child to the border of your cloth? Will I ask for a share in Kévala Gnāna? Will there be over-crowding in मुक्ति Mukti, the Place of Final Emancipation? Or will I become a burden to you, that you went away leaving me off thus."

While lamenting thus, with the word वीर! वीर! Vira! Vira! clinging to his mouth, Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama said "I know. Those who are exempt from worldly desires are devoid of affection. The fault lies with me that I did not know it by Sacred Knowledge. Fie on such one-sided affection! Enough of affection now. I am alone. I have none what-so-ever as mine." While he was thus completely engrossed in meditation with an equilibrium of mind, Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama acquired केवलम् Kévalam, Perfect Knowledge.

It is said,

मुक्खमग्गपवण्णाणं सिणेहो वज्जसिखला ।

वीरे जीवन्तए जाओ, गोअमो जं न केवली ॥ १ ॥

1. Mukkha magga pavannānam siného vajjasinkhalā;
Virè jivantaé jāo Goamo jam na Kévali.

1. For persons desirous of acquiring the मुक्खमग्ग Mukkha magga, the Path of Final Liberation, affection is a bondage of adamant. Because, so long as Vira Parmātma lived, Gautama could not become a Kévalin.

In the morning, Indra and others celebrated the festival of the auspicious occasion of the acquisition of Perfect Knowledge. Here a poet says:—

अहंकारोऽपि बोधाय, रागोऽपि गुरुभक्तये ।

विषादः केवलायाभूत्, चित्रं गौतमप्रभोः ॥ १ ॥

1. Ahamkāro api bodhāya, rāgo api guru bhaktayē;
Vishādah Kévalāyābhūt, chitram Gautama prabhoh.

1. The self-conceit of Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama (shown at the moment of hearing the mention of another सर्वज्ञ Sarvagna, Omniscient), resulted in the acquisition of Right Knowledge; his affection (for Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira) resulted in faithful devotion towards his Master and his despair (at the moment of hearing the निर्वाण Nirvāṇa Final Emancipation of Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira,) bore fruit in the form of केवलज्ञान Kévala Gnāna, Perfect Knowledge. Every thing relating to Gaṇadhara Bhagavān Shree Gautama Prabhu is wonderful.

Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama renounced the world and accepted दीक्षा Dikṣā, Initiation into the Order of Jain Monks, along with an assemblage of five hundred pupils, when he was fifty years old. He was the principal Ganadhara of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra. He was seven hands tall. The colour of his body was golden-yellow. He was very learned in the various branches of Knowledge suitable for a Brāhmin. He had a number of लब्धिस Labdhis, Natural acquisitions. Under the influence of बीजबुद्धि लब्धि Bija-buddhi Labdhi, कोष्ट बुद्धि लब्धि Koshta-buddhi Labdhi and पदानुसारिणी लब्धि Padānusārini Labdhi, Ganadhara Bhagavān Indrabhūti Gautama was able to easily master the various Scriptural writings of the Jains. He used to observe fasting on alternate days with very meagre food at break-fast.

Ganadhara Bhagavān Indrabhūti Gautama lived for thirty years with Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra, moving from place to place along with his Venerable Master, and after the Nirvāna of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra, and after his acquisition of केवल ज्ञान Kévala Gnāna, Perfect Knowledge,—which he acquired when he was eighty years old,—he went about from village to village instructing numerous devout individuals in religion.

Ganadhara Bhagavān Indrabhūti Gautama acquired Kévala Gnāna during the latter part (the dawn) of the night of Āśvin Vad Amāvāśya अश्विन वद अमावास्या the night of Divāli Day, during which night-middle of the night-Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra acquired निर्वाणपद Nirvāṇa Pada, The State of Final Emancipation.

Twelve years after the acquisition of Perfect Knowledge, Ganadhara Bhagavān Indrabhūti Gautama, while wandering from village to village, came to राजगृहनगरी Rājagriha Nagari, the town of Rājagriha-adored and worshipped by millions of gods and goddesses.

Knowing the approach of the time of his demise, Ganadhara Bhagavān Indrabhūti Gautama, remained without food and drink for one month, and in the end, he acquired मोक्षपद Moksha Pada, the State of Final Emancipation, when he was ninety-two years old.

Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama had a doubt in his mind about the existence of जीव Jiva, the Soul—whether the Soul existed or not, caused by various contradictory श्रुति Śrutis occurring in the Védas and their incorrect explanations given by different learned sages. He had never expressed that doubt before any one else, under the fear of losing his fame as a सर्वज्ञ Sarvagna, an Omniscient. But on hearing the name of another Sarvagna, he expressed a desire that he would call the other Sarvagna, as Sarvagna only when he discloses the doubt long-cherished in his mind, otherwise not by any means.

When, however, while approaching Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira seated in the Samavasarana, with the object of defeating his 'adversary' in discussion, he was accosted, with very sweet nectar-like words, calling him by his name and his Gotra and also when Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira disclosed the fact that he had a doubt about the existence of the Soul and that it was caused by various contradictory verses in the Védas, he was greatly pleased.

Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira then explained in detail all his doubts about the Soul, with correct explanations of the verses from the Védas. The subject has been fully discussed in the Third part of "Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira" to which the reader is referred.

Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama having received the most correct explanations about all his doubts, took दीक्षा Dikśā along with his five hundred pupils.

Ganadhara Bhagavān Indrabhūti Gautama possessed such unusual divine powers that all those lucky persons who received भगवतीदीक्षा Bhagavati Dikśā, Initiation into the Order of Jain Monks at his hands, invariably acquired मोक्षपद Moksha Pada, the State of Final Emancipation sooner or later.

The auspicious name of Ganadhara Bhagavān Indrabhūti Gautama is remembered at the commencement of every auspicious occasion by all Aryan Races and early in the morning by millions of devout lay-men and ascetics.

Ganadhara Agnibhuti.

Agnibhūti अग्निभूति of Gautama gotra, the second Ganadhara of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra, was the younger brother of Ganadhara Bhagavān Indrabhūti Gautama. He was born at Gobara-gāma गोबर गाम (Gobbra or Govaraya) near राजगृह Rājagriha, in the year 603 B. C. He was a Brāhmin by caste and was well-versed in the four Vēdas and the six Upāṅgas. He had five hundred disciples who were receiving instruction in various branches of learning. He was very often busy, like his elder brother, in performing various यज्ञ Yagna-Sacrifices.

He renounced the world at the age of forty-six and accepted भागवती दीक्षा Bhāgavati Diksā Initiation into the Order of Jain-Monks, at the hands of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra and became his second Ganadhara.

He then studied the twelve Aṅgas including the fourteen Pūrvas and the Upāṅgas of the Jain Scriptures during his ascetic life and after the expiration of a period of twelve years as his Chadmastha Paryāya छद्मस्थपर्याय, a period of a house-holder's entire existence or of an ascetic's life before the acquisition of केवलज्ञान Kévala Gnāna—a stage preparatory to the attainment of Kévala Gnāna, he acquired केवलज्ञान Kévala Gnāna, Perfect Knowledge when he was fifty-eight years old.

The दीक्षा Dikṣā, Initiation into the Order of Jain-Monks of Gaṇadhara Agnibhūti occurred under the under-mentioned circumstances.

When Agnibhūti heard from people that his elder brother Indrabhūti had taken भागवती दीक्षा Bhāgavati Dikṣā, Initiation into an Order of Monks prescribed in Jaina Scriptures—he thought.

तं च प्रव्रजितं श्रुत्वा, दध्यौ तद्बान्धवोऽपरः ।
 अपि जातु द्रवेदद्रिहिमानी प्रज्वलेदपि ॥ १ ॥
 वह्निः शीतः स्थिरो वायुः संभवेन्न तु बांधवः ।

1. Tam cha pravrajitam śrutvā dadhyau tad bāndhavo aparah; Api jātu dravedadri r-himāni prajvalédapi.

2. Vahnih śitah sthiro vāyuh sambhavénna tu bāndhavah; Hārayéditi prapacchha, lokāna sraddadhad bhrusham.

1-2 Having heard that his elder brother Indrabhūti Gautama accepted Dikṣā, the younger brother (Agnibhūti) thought, “Even if the mountain may melt away or deep snow may blaze forth into fire or the fire may assume the (quality of becoming) cold or even if the wind were to become stationary, even then, my brother will not be defeated.” Consequently, disbelieving it, he asked the people repeatedly.

ततश्च निश्चये जाते चिंतयामास चेतसि ।
 गत्वा जित्वा च तं धूर्तं वालयामि सहोदरम् ॥ ३ ॥

3. Tataścha niśchayé jāté, chintayāmāsa chétasi, Gatvā jītvā cha tam dhūrtam vālayāmi sahodaram.

3. Then, when he was convinced, he thought in his mind “Having gone and having won over that rogue, I will bring back (my) brother.”

सोऽप्येवमागतः शीघ्रं, प्रभुणाऽऽभाषितस्तथा ।
संदेहं तस्यचित्तस्थं व्यक्तीकृत्यावद्विभुः ॥ ४ ॥

4. So apyévamāgatah śigram, prabhunā ābhāshitastathā;
Sandéham tasya chittastham vyaktikṛitya avadaḍvibhuh.,

4. He accordingly came there swiftly, and was addressed in the same manner by Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra. The Omnipresent Lord, having made the doubt remaining in his mind clearly manifest, said:—

हे गौतमाग्निभूते ! कः, संदेहस्तव कर्मणः ? ।
कथं वा वेदतत्त्वार्थं, विभावयसि न स्फुटम् ॥ ५ ॥

5. Hé Gautamāgnibhūté ! kab sandéha stava, Karmanah ?;
Katham vā Veda-tattvārtham vibhāvayasi na sphutam ?

5. O, Gautama Agnibhūti! What doubt have you with Karmas? Why do you not clearly trace out the real sense of the verses of the Védas.

Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra then explained in detail, the theory of Karmas promulgated by the Tirthamkaras and he accepted दीक्षा Dikṣā, Initiation into the Order of Monks along with his five hundred pupils.

Ganadhara Agnibhūti died during the life-time of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra at the age of seventy-four.

Ganadhara Vayubhuti:

Vāyubhūti वायुभूति of Gautama Gotra, the third Ganadhara of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra, was the youngest brother of Ganadhara Bhagavān Indrabhūti Gautama. He was born at Gobara-gāma गोबरगाम (Gobbra or Govaraya) near राजगृह नगरी Rājagriha Nagari in the year 599 B. C. He was a Brahmin by caste and was well-versed in the four Vēdas and in the six उपनिग Upāṅgas, Supplementary Sciences.

He had five hundred pupils who were receiving instruction in various branches of learning under him. He was very often busy in performing various यज्ञ Yagnas, Sacrifices to numerous gods and goddesses.

Vayubhūti had a doubt about the relation of the Body and the Soul. When he heard that both his brothers Indrabhūti and Agnibhūti had become disciples of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira, he thought "He who has defeated both my brothers must necessarily be a सर्वज्ञ Sarvagna, Omniscient, let me therefore go and bowing down respectfully before the Omniscient Lord, let me be free from my sins. I will also get my doubt solved by him. With this idea in his mind, Vāyubhūti came to the Samavasaraṇa of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira accompanied by his five hundred pupils bowed down respectfully before him and took his seat near-by.

Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira then made inquiries about his health and said "O Vāyubhūti! You have a doubt about the Body and the Soul. You think that the Body and the Soul is the same object. You say that the Soul is not distinct from the body as it is not grasped like a pot, by प्रत्यक्ष Pratyaksha, Direct Knowledge and other evidences, but that it is produced in the body like bubbles in water and that it perishes with the body. But this idea of yours is not true

1. Tajjiva tacchhariré sandiḡdham Vāyubhūti-nāmānam;

1. The Lord (Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira ) told Vāyubhūti who had a doubt that the Body and the Soul is the same “Why do you not trace out the exact meaning of the verses of the Védas?

Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira then explained Vayubhūti the correct meanings of the verses of the Védas.

Vāyubhūti accordingly took दीक्षा Dikṣā, Initiation, at the hands of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira along with his five hundred pupils.

Ganadhara Vāyuhhūti was forty-two years old when he renounced the world; ten years later i-e at the age of fifty-two, he acquired केवल ज्ञान Kévala Gnāna, Perfect Knowledge. He remained a Kévali for eighteen years and when he acquired मोक्षपद Moksha Pada, State of Final Emancipation, he was seventy years old. He died at Rājagriha राजगृह during the lifetime of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira.

Ganadhara Vyakta.

Ganadhara Vyakta of Bhāradvaja Gotra was the fourth Ganadhara of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira, He was born at Kullaka-gāma. His father was धर्ममित्र Dharma-mitra and his mother was वारुणी Yārūni. He was a Brāhmin by caste. He was well-versed in the four Védas and the six उपनिषद्स Upāṅgas, Supplementary Sciences. He had five hundred pupils, who were receiving instruction in various branches of learning under him.

He had a doubt in his mind about the five भूत Bhuta, Elements—the five gross elements—Earth, Water, Fire, Air and Ether of which the body is supposed to be composed and into which it is finally dissolved. He said that there was nothing like these five elements in this world. Whatever we experience in this world about these elements is as misleading as a reflection of the moon in water. Every thing is non-existent.

When Pandita Vyakta approached Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira he was addressed thus.—

पञ्चसु भूतेषु तथा संदिग्धं व्यक्तसंज्ञकं विबुधम् ।

ऊचे विभुर्यथास्थं वेदार्थं किं न भावयसि ? ॥ १ ॥

1. Panchasu bhūtēshu tathā sandigdham Vyakta sangnakam vibudham; Uché vibhu r-yathāsthām Védārtham kim na bhāvayasi ?

1. The Lord (Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira) told the learned man Vyakta who had a doubt about the five elements, “Why do you not trace out the exact meaning of the verses of the Védas.

Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira then removed his doubts by explaining the correct interpretation of the Verses of the Védas. He took दीक्षा Dikṣā, Initiation, at the hands of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira along with his five hundred pupils.

Ganadhara Vyakta was fifty years old when he renounced the world. He studied the various works of Jain Scriptures and twelve years later i-e at the age of sixty-two, he acquired केवल ज्ञान Kévala Gnāna, Perfect Knowledge. Then he remained a Kévali for eighteen years and when he acquired मोक्ष पद Moksha Pada, the State of Final Emancipation from all miseries, he was eighty years old. He died at राजगृह Rājagriha during the life-time of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira.

Ganadhara Sudharma Swami.

Ganadhara Sudharmā Swāmi of अग्निवैश्यायन गोत्र Agnī-vaiśyāyana Gotra, was the fifth Ganadhara of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra. He was born at कुल्लाक गाम Kullāka-gāma. He had five hundred pupils who were receiving instruction in various branches of learning under him.

He was very often busy in performing various यज्ञस Yagnas, Sacrifices to numerous gods and goddesses.

Arya Sudharmā Swāmi had a doubt यो यादृशः स तादृश इति Yo yādriśah sa tādriśa iti, expressing similarity of forms in this life and in future lives for instance, if a soul is born as a human being or as a beast in this life, he will be born as a human being or as a beast respectively during his future lives, as a result of misleading interpretations of various verses of the Vēdas.

When, however, Arya Sudharmā Swāmi approached Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra with the object of removing his doubt, he was lovingly addressed.

यो यादृशः स तादृश इति सन्दिग्धं सुधर्मनामानम् ।

उचे विभु यथास्थं वेदार्थं किं न भावयसि ? ॥ १ ॥

1. Yo yādriśo sa tādriśah iti sandigdham Sudharma nāmānam; Uchè vibhu r-yathāsthām Vēdārtham kim na bhāvayasi ?

1. The lord (Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra) told the learned man Arya Sudharmā Swāmi “Why do you not trace out the exact meaning of the verses of the Vēdas ?

Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira then removed his doubts by explaining the correct interpretation of the verses of the Védas. He took दीक्षा Dikṣā, Initiation, at the hands of Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira along with his five hundred pupils.

Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Sudharma Swāmi was fifty years old when he renounced the world. He then studied the various works of Jain Scriptures for a number of years. After a period of forty-two years of ascetic life, he acquired केषल ज्ञान Kévala Gnāna, Perfect Knowledge at the age of ninety-two.

Ganadhara Mandit.

Gaṇadhara Mandita मण्डित of वाशिष्ठ Vāsishttha gotra was the sixth Gaṇadhara of Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira. He was born at मौर्यगाम Mouryagāma. His mother was विजयादेवी Vijayādēvi and his father was धनदेव Dhanadēva. He was a Brāhmin by caste. He was well-versed in the four Védas and the six उपांगs Upaṅgas, the Supplementary Sciences. Arya Mandita had a doubt in his mind about बन्ध Bandha, Bondage and मोक्ष Moksha, Freedom from the bondage of Karmas, as a result of misleading interpretations of various verses of the Védas.

When, however, Arya Mandita approached Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira, with the object of removing his doubt, he was addressed thus.

अथ बन्धमोक्षविषये सन्दिग्धं मण्डिताभिधं विबुधम् ।

ऊचे विभुर्यथास्थं वेदार्थं किं न भावयसि ? ॥ १ ॥

1. Atha Bandha Moksha vishayé sandigdham Manditābhi-dham vibudham; Uché vibhu r-yathāstham Védārtham kim na bhāvayasi?

1. The Lord (Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira) told the learned man named Mandita who had a doubt about बन्ध Bandha Bondage, and मोक्ष Moksha, Freedom from Karmas, "Why do you not trace out the exact meaning of the verses of the Védas ?

Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira then removed his doubts by explaining the correct interpretation of the verses of the Védas. He took दीक्षा Dīkṣā, Initiation at the hands of Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira, along with his three hundred and fifty pupils.

Ganadhara Mahārāja Mandita was fifty-three years old when he renounced the world. He then studied the various works of Jaina Scriptures for a number of years. Ganadhara Mandita remained a Kévali for sixteen years and he acquired मोक्षपद Moksha Pada, the State of Final Emancipation when he was eighty-three years old.

Ganadhara Mauryaputra.

Ganadhara Mauryaputra of काश्यप Kāśyapa gotra was the seventh Ganadhara of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira. He was born at मौर्यगाम Maurya-gāma. His mother was विजया देवी Vijayā-dēvi, the wife of Dhanadēva, and mother of Mandita and his father was मौर्य Maurya of Kāśyapa gotra, with whom she had re-married after the death of her first husband. He was a Brāhmin by caste. He was well-versed in the four Vēdas and the six उपनिषद्स Upāṅgas—the Supplementary Sciences. He had three hundred and fifty pupils who were receiving instruction in various branches of learning under him.

Arya Mauryaputra had a doubt in his mind about the existence of देव Déva, Gods-Celestial Beings caused by various contradictory verses in the Vēdas.

When, however, Arya Mauryaputra approached Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira with the object of removing his doubt he was addressed thus—

अथ देवविषयसन्देहसंयुतं मौर्यपुत्रनामानम् ।

ऊचे विभुर्यथास्थं वेदार्थं किं न भावयसि ? ॥ ? ॥

1. Atha Déva-vishaya sandéha samyutam Mauryaputra nāmānam, Uché vibhu r-yathāstham Védārtham kim na bhāvayasi ?

1. The Lord (Śramane Bhagavān Mahāvira) told the learned man named Mauryaputra who had doubts on the subject of celestial beings “Why do you not trace out the exact meaning of the verses of the Vēdas?”

Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira then removed his doubts by explaining the correct interpretations of the verses of the Védas and by actually showing him the Indras and other gods sitting in the assembly. The gods do not visit मनुष्य लोक Manu-shya-loka, Human Habitation because they are deeply engrossed in enjoying celestial pleasures and also because they cannot bear the intense stench of foul odour spreading out from human habitation. They, however, come into this world on the occasion of the celebration of Birth, Dikśā, Kévala Gnāna, Nirvāṇa and such other auspicious occasions of a Tirthamkara attracted as they usually are, by the superabundant overpowering influence of the presence of a Tirthamkara. But their non-appearance in this world does not prove their non-existence. He took दीक्षा Dikśā, Initiation at the hands of Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira along with his three hundred and fifty pupils.

Ganadhara Mahārāja Mauryaputra was sixty-five years old when he renounced the world. He then studied the various works of Jain Scriptures, for a number of years. After a period of fourteen years of ascetic life, Ganadhara Mauryaputra acquired केवल ज्ञान Kévala Gnāna, Perfect Knowledge, at the age of seventy-nine.

Ganadhara Mahārāja Mauryaputra remained a Kévali for sixteen years and he acquired मोक्षपद Moksha Pada, the State of Final Emancipation when he was ninety-five years old.

Ganadhara Akampita.

Ganadhara Akampita of गौतम Gautama gotra was the eighth Ganadhara of Śramaṇa Bhāgavān Mahāvira. He was born at मिथिला Mithilā. His father was देव Déva and his mother was जयन्ती Jayanti. He was a Brāhmin by caste. He was well-versed in the four Védas and the six उपानिषद् Upāṅgas Supplementary sciences. He had three hundred pupils who were receiving instruction in various branches of learning under him.

Arya Akampita had a doubt about नारकाः Nārakas, Hellish beings as a result of some misleading interpretations of verses of the Védas.

When, however, Arya Akampita approached Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira he was addressed thus:—

अथ नारकसन्देहात् सन्दिग्धमकम्पितं विबुधमुख्यम् ।

उचे विभुर्यथास्थं वेदार्थं किं न भावयसि ? ॥ १ ॥

1. Atha Nāraka sandéhāt sandigdhamakampitam vibudha mukhyam; Uchè vibhu r-yathāsthām Vèdārtham kim na bhāvayasi ?

1. The Lord (Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira) told the great learned man Akampita who was cherishing doubt regarding नारकाः Nāraks, Hellish Beings. “Why do you not trace out the exact meaning of the verses of the Védas ?

Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira then removed his doubts by explaining the correct interpretation of the verses of the Védas and telling him that those who perform wicked actions in this world are born as नारकाः Nāraks, Hellish Beings in their next life The existence of hellish beings cannot be proved by प्रत्यक्ष प्रमाण Pratyaksha Pramāṇa, Direct Knowledge, but their presence can be judged by अनुमान Anumāṇa, Inference and other proofs. He took दीक्षा Dikṣā, Initiation, at the hands of Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira along with his three hundred pupils.

Ganadhara Mahārāja Akampita was forty-eight years old when he renounced the world. He then studied the various works of Jain Scriptures for a number of years. After a period of nine years of ascetic life, Ganadhara Akampita acquired केशल ज्ञान Kévala Gnāna, Perfect Knowledge, at the age of fifty-seven.

Ganadhara Mahārāja Akampita remained a Kévali for twenty-one years and he acquired मोक्षपद Moksha Pada the State of Final Emancipation when he was seventy-eight years old.

Ganadhara Achalabhrata.

Ganadhara Achalabhrātā of हार्य Hārya gotra was the ninth Ganadhara of Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira. He was born at कोशल Kośala His father was वसु Vasu and his mother was नन्दा Nandā He was a Brāhmin by caste He was well-versed in the four Vēdas and the six उपनिषद् Upāṅgas, Supplementary Sciences. He had three hundred pupils who were receiving instruction in various branches of learning under him.

Arya Achalabhrātā had a doubt about पुण्य Punya, The reward of meritorious work and पाप Pāpa, The evil consequences of wicked actions, owing to misleading interpretations of verses of the Vēdas.

When, however, Pandita Achalabhrātā approached Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira with the object of removing his doubt, he was addressed thus:—

अथ पुण्ये सन्दिग्धं द्विजमचलभ्रातरं विबुधमुख्यम् ।

उचे विभुर्यथास्थं वेदार्थं किं न भावयसि ? ॥ १ ॥

1. Atha punyē sandigdham dvijamachalabhrātaram vibudha mukhyam; Uchē vibhu r-yathāsthām Vēdārtham kim na bhāvayasi ?

1. The Lord (Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira) told the Brāhmin learned man Achalabhrātā who had a doubt about पुण्य Punya. The reward of meritorious work “Why do you not trace out the exact meaning of the verses of the Vēdas?

Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira then removed his doubt by explaining the correct interpretation of the verses of the Vēdas and by explaining that the reward of meritorious work and the evil consequences of wicked actions are clearly evident even in this world and they are well-known to persons knowing the ways of the world. Long life, health, handsome appearance birth in noble families etc are the reward of meritorious work. Short life, ill health, ugliness, poverty, miseries of various diseases, birth in low families etc are the evil consequences of wicked actions. In this world, one man is born as a king, while another is born as a beggar; one is possessed of excellent body with all the senses fully developed, while another has ill-developed delicate body, with some of the senses wanting or not developed at all; one man is very lucky and rolling in wealth and prosperity while another is penniless and has hardly a morsel of food to eat; one is very healthy and never suffers from any pain, while another is always suffering with pangs of varieties of diseases; one is able to digest whatever he eats, while another having ample to eat, is not able to digest even the smallest portion of wholesome nutritious diet; one is very fortunate while another is miserable. A condition of great difference in this world is caused as a reward of meritorious work and evil consequences of wicked actions in previous life. If there be no such thing as पुण्य Punya, Reward for meritorious work and पाप Pāpa, Evil consequence of wicked actions, in this world, all the individuals in every grade of life, must be uniformly happy or uniformly miserable, all must be uniformly healthy or uniformly weak or all must be uniformly wealthy or uniformly penniless.

He took दीक्षा Dīksā, Initiation at the hands of Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira, along with his three hundred pupils.

Gaṇadhara Achalabhrātā was forty-six years old when he renounced the world. He then studied the various works of Jain Scriptures for a number of years. After a period of twelve years of ascetic life, Gaṇadhara Achalabhrātā acquired केवल ज्ञान Kévala Gnāna, Perfect Knowledge at the age of fifty-eight.

Ganadhara Mahārāja Achālabhīātā remained a Kévali for fourteen years and he acquired मोक्षपद Moksha Pada, the State of Final Emancipation when he was seventy-two years old.

Ganadhara Metarya.

Ganadhara Mētārya of कौन्डीन्य Kaundinya gotra was the tenth Ganadbara of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira. He was born at वच्छपुरी Vacchhapuri His father was दत्त Datta and his mother was वरुणदेवी Varunadēvi He was a Brāhmin by caste. He was well-versed in the four Vēdas and the six उपांगs Upāngas, Supplementary sciences. He had three hundred pupils who were receiving instruction in various branches of learning under him.

Pandita Mētārya had a doubt in his mind about परभव Para-bhava, Next life. He held that the Soul existed as an aggregate of the five elements of which the body is composed and that the Soul disappeared with the dissolution of the elements of the body. How can there be any thing like परलोक Para loka, Next world, and पुनर्भव Punar-bhava, Re-birth?

When, however, Pandita Mētārya approached Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira with the object of removing his doubt, he was addressed thus—

अथ परभवसन्दिग्धं मेतार्यं नाम पण्डितप्रवरम् ।

ऊचे विभुर्यथास्थं वेदार्थं किं न भावयसि ? ॥ १ ॥

1. Atha parabhava sandigdham Mētāryam nāma paṇḍita pravaṇam; Uchē vibhu r-yathāsthām Vēdārtham kim na bhāvayasi?

1. The Lord (Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira) told the excellent learned man, named Mētārya, who had a doubt about परभव Parabhava, Next life “Why do you not trace out the exact meaning of the verses of the Vēdas?

Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira then removed his doubt by explaining the verses of the Védas. The condition of the Soul is quite distinct from that of the five elements. The union of the five elements (i-e earth, water, fire, air and ether) of which the body is composed and into which it is dissolved at death, does not produce चेतना Chétanā, Consciousness. Consciousness, the chief characteristic of the Soul, is absolutely different from the five elements composing the body. चेतनालक्षणो जीवः Chétanā lakshano Jivah; The Soul is characterised by Consciousness. The Soul possessing consciousness becomes separated from the body at the expiration of the allotted term of life, and goes into the future world.

Some individuals have a recollection of events of former life, even during their present existence by जाति स्मरण Jāti Smarana, Remembrance of the event of a former birth. If there be no पुनर्भव Punarbhava, Re-birth, who will enjoy the pleasures of meritorious work or suffer the evil consequences of wicked actions done during this life? If there be no re-birth and if there is no recompense for good or evil actions, why should there be any consideration what-so-ever that only meritorious deeds should be performed and wicked actions always avoided? If such be the case, then, it will come out as a settled fact that every individual in this world is at liberty to act in accordance with his peculiar imagination. But we see all the individuals in this world bearing the consequences of good or evil deeds, and all of them are not the result of deeds done by them during this life, and therefore there is no doubt what-so-ever that there is परलोक Para-loka, Next life.

Arya Métārya, fully convinced by the explanation, took दीक्षा Dīkṣā, Initiation at the hands of Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira, along with his three hundred pupils

Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Métārya was thirty-six years old when he renounced the world. He then studied the various works of Jain Scriptures for a number of years. After a period of ten years of ascetic life, Ganadhara Mētārya acquired केषल ज्ञान Kévala Gnāna, Perfect Knowledge at the age of forty-six.

Ganadhara Mahārāja Mētārya remained as a Kévali for sixteen years and he acquired मोक्षपद Moksha Pada, the State of Final Emancipation when he was sixty-two years old.

Ganadhara Prabhas.

Ganadhara Prabhās of कौण्डिन्य Kaundinya gotra was the eleventh Ganadhara of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra. He was born at राजगृह नगरी Rājagriha Nagari. His father was बल Bala and his mother was अतिभद्रा Ati-bhadra. He was a Brāhmin by caste. He was well-versed in the four Védas and the six उपांगs Upāṅgas, the Supplementary sciences. He had three hundred pupils who were receiving instruction in various branches of learning under him.

Pandita Prabhāsa had a doubt in his mind about मोक्ष Moksha, Final Emancipation caused by contradictory verses of the Védas.

When, however, Pandita Prabhāsa approached Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra, with the object of removing his doubt, he was addressed thus—

निर्वाणविषयसन्देहसंयुतं च प्रभासनामानम् ।

ऊचे विभुर्यथास्थं वेदार्थं किं न भावयसि ? ॥ १ ॥

1. Nirvāna vishaya sandéha samyutam cha Prabhāsa nāmānam, Uché vibhu r-yathāsthām Védārtham kīm na bhāvayasi?

1. The Lord (Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira) told the eleventh Gaṇadhara named Prabhāsa, who had a doubt on the subject of मोक्ष Moksha, Final Emancipation in his mind, "Why do you not trace out the exact meaning of the verses of the Védas?"

Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira then removed his doubt by explaining the correct interpretation of the verses of the Védas.

The verse in question is जरामर्यं यदग्निहोत्रं Jarā maryam yadagnihotram. Sacrifice to Agni अग्नि the God of Fire should be done till extreme old age. The meaning of the verse is that a man desirous of स्वर्ग Svarga, (Going to Heaven, should depend upon अग्निहोत्र Agnihotra, Sacrifice to God Agni as the only means of attaining his object. The performance of Agnihotra cannot become the means of acquiring मोक्ष Moksha, Final Emancipation, as it is attended with the destruction of many living beings. No other practices suitable for the accomplishment of Moksha have been enjoined in the Védas. One is there—by led to the conclusion that there is no Moksha. Another verse द्वे ब्रह्मणी वेदितव्ये, परमपरं च तत्र, परं, सत्यज्ञानं, अनन्तरं ब्रह्मेति Dvé Brahmani véditavyé, paramaparam cha, tatra param satyagnānam anantaram Brahmèti. Two varieties of sacred Knowledge are to be recognized. One is परं another is अपर Param and Apra परज्ञान Para Gnāna is सत्यज्ञान Satya Gnāna, Right Knowledge. The other is ब्रह्मज्ञान Brahma Gnāna Knowledge of मोक्ष Moksha or Final Emancipation which is indicative of the presence of Moksha. Your doubt has been caused by the varieties of ideas in the two verses. The meaning of the two verses amounts to this—A man desirous of going to heaven may perform अग्निहोत्र Agnihotra, Sacrifice to Agni, and a man desirous of acquiring मोक्ष Moksha, Final Emancipation should leave aside Agnihotra and perform religious practices suitable for the accomplishment of Final Emancipation,

Right Knowledge, Right Perception and Right Conduct lead to कर्मक्षय Karma-kshaya, Destruction of all Karmas or मोक्षमार्गं Moksba Mārga, the Path of Final Emancipation. It can be accomplished only during मनुष्यगति Manushya gati, Human existence. The devout sages who are keenly intent on strictly observing the prescribed rules of religious practices are enabled to make themselves free from the miseries of this world and they alone are able to attain Final Emancipation Pandita Prabhāsa fully convinced by the explanation, took दीक्षा Diksā, Initiation at a comparatively young age, at the hands of Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira along with his three hundred pupils.

Ganadhara Mahārāja Prabhāsa was only sixteen years old when he renounced the world. He then studied the various works of Jain Scriptures for eight years.

After a period of eight years of ascetic life, Ganadhara Mahārāja Prabhāsa acquired केषलज्ञान Kévala Gnāna, Perfect Knowledge at a comparatively young age of twenty-four years. Ganadhara Mahārāja Prabhāsa remained a Kévali for sixteen years and he acquired मोक्षपद Moksha Pada, the State of Final Emancipation when he was forty years old.

2. Sé kénatthénam bhanté! évam vuccai? Samanassa Bhagavao Mahāvirassa nava Ganā ikkārasa Ganaharā hutthā?

2 O revered Sir! why do you say that Śramana Bhagavāna Mahāvira had nine Gaṇas and eleven Ganadhars? Because, किल जाव जावइया जस्स गणा तावइया गणहरा तस्स ” इति वचनात् । Kila jāva jāvaiya jassa ganā tāvaiyā ganaharā tassa. All the Tirthamkaras have as many Ganadharas as there are Ganas, how is it that Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira had nine Ganas and eleven Ganadhars.

The Acārya says:—

3. Indrabhūti of Gautama gotra, the chief disciple of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira was giving religious lessons to five hundred ascetics, Agnibhūti of Gautama gotra, the second disciple was teaching five hundred ascetics; his younger brother, named Vāyubhūti वायुभूति of Gautama गौतम gotra, was teaching five hundred ascetic-disciples; Sthavira Arya Vyakta व्यक्त of Bhāradvāja भारद्वाज gotra was teaching five hundred ascetic-disciples; Sthavira Arya Sudharma आर्यसुधर्म of Agnavaiśya आम्रवैश्य gotra was teaching five hundred ascetic-disciples; Sthavira Manditaputra मण्डितपुत्र of Vāsīshtha वाशिष्ठ gotra was teaching three hundred and fifty ascetic-pupils; Sthavira Mauryaputra मौर्यपुत्र of Kāśyapa काश्यप gotra was teaching three hundred and fifty ascetic-pupils; Sthavira Akampita अकम्पित of Gautama गौतम gotra and Sthavira Acala Bhrāta अचलभ्राता of Hāritāyana हारितायन gotra, both of them together, taught three hundred ascetic-disciples each; Sthavira Mētārya

मेनार्य and Sthavira Arya Prabhās आर्यप्रभास both of Kaudinya कौडिन्य gotra, both together were teaching three hundred ascetic-disciples each. It was, on that account, O Respected Sir, it is said, that Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra had nine Gaṇas and eleven Ganadhars.

The names of Ganadhars, the number of Gaṇas and the number of ascetic-disciples receiving religious lessons under each Gaṇadhara, is shown in the accompanying Table.

TABLE.

num	Names	Ganas	Number of disciples
1	Shree Gautama	1	500
2	Agnibhuti	1	500
3	Vayubhūti	1	500
4	Arya Vyakta	1	500
5	Arya Sudharma	1	500
6	Manditaputra	1	350

9	Acalabhrātā		300
10	Métārya	1	300
11	Arya Prabhās		300
		9	4400

Here, Akampita and Acalabhrāta, both of them, were together, at the head of one Gana, and each of them taught three hundred pupils and similarly Mētārya and Arya Prabhās, both of them, were together at the head of one Gaṇa; and hence, it is well-said that Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira had nine Gaṇas and eleven Gaṇadhars.

Besides, Sthavira Manditaputra and Sthavira Mauryaputra were brothers having one mother Vijayādēvi, but have different gotras derived from the gotras of their different fathers—the father of Manditaputra was Dhanadēva धनदेव of Vāśishtha gotra and the father of Mauryaputra was Maurya मौर्य of Kāśyapa gotra, as it was not forbidden for a widowed female, in that country, to have a re-marriage with another person, after the death of her former husband. 3

4. All these eleven chief disciples of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira, were Dvādaśāṅginah द्वादशाङ्गिनः—आचाराङ्गादि दृष्टि वादान्त श्रुतवन्तः, स्वयं तत्प्रणयनात् Acharāṅgādi dṛishtivādānta śrutavantah, svayam tatpranayanāt—well-versed in the twelve Aṅgas, beginning with Ācārāṅga आचाराङ्ग and ending with Dristivāda दृष्टिवाद, were Chaturdaśapūrvinah चतुर्दशपूर्विणः. चतुर्दश-पूर्ववेत्तारः, द्वादशाङ्गित्वं इत्येतैर्नैव चतुर्दशपूर्वित्वे लब्धे यत्पुनरेतदुपादानं तदङ्गेषु चतुर्दशपूर्वाणां प्राधान्यख्यापनार्थं, प्राधान्यं च पूर्वाणां पूर्वप्रणयनात् अनेक विद्यामन्त्रार्थमयत्वात् महाप्रमाणत्वाच्च द्वादशाङ्गित्वं चतुर्दशपूर्वित्वं च सूत्रमात्रग्रहणेऽपि स्यादिति तदपोहार्यमाह—Chaturdaśapūrva, vēttārah, dvādaśāṅgitvam ityētanaiva chaturdaśapūrvitvè labdhé yat punarètadupādānam tadangéshu chaturdaśa pūrvānām prādhanya khyāpanārtham prādhānyam ca pūrvānām purvam pranayanāt, anéka vidyā mantrādyarthamayatvāt mahāpramānatvācca dvādaśāṅgitvam catudasa pūrvitvam ca sūtramātra grahanéSpi syāditi tadapohārtha mäh—were experienced in the knowledge of the fourteen Pūrvas पूर्व. They are previously described as well-versed in the twelve Aṅgas, which include the fourteen Pūrvas; they are further described as Chaturdasa pūrvinah चतुर्दशपूर्विणः—experienced in the knowledge of the fourteen Pūrvas पूर्व, with the object of establishing the supremacy of the knowledge of the fourteen Pūrvas in the twelve Aṅgas. Besides, these Pūrvas were composed before; they are full of meanings of Mantras मन्त्र Spells, incantations and many other sciences and they are very authoritative and hence their supreme importance. The possession of the knowledge of the twelve Aṅgas and of the fourteen Pūrvas may relate only to the possession of the knowledge of the words only of the Sūtras, and to remove that doubt, the author says that the eleven chief disciples were समस्तगणिपिटकधारकाः—Samatta gani pidaga dbāragā, समस्तगणिपिटकधारकाः Samasta gani pitaka dbārakāb—गणोऽस्यास्तीति गणी—भाषाचार्य स्तस्यपिटकमिव—रत्न करण्डक-मिव गणिपिटकं—द्वादशाङ्गी, तदपि न देशतः स्थूलभद्रस्येव, किंतु, समस्तं, entirely destitute of all miseries—at Rājagriha while remaining as firm as a tree, and observing a fasting without water for

Sthavira Indrabhūti and Sthavira Arya Sudharma, both of them, attained Mokśa मोक्ष Liberation, after the Nirvāna निर्वाण Final Emancipation; Union with the absolute, of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra, the remaining nine Ganadhars reached the abode of the Blest, during the life-time of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra.

Only Sthavira Indrabhūti and Sthavira Arya Sudharma acquired Liberation after the Nirvāna of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvīra and all those Jain ascetics, perfectly free from all

No. 1. Arya Sudharma Swami.

Ganadhara Mahārāja Arya Sudharmā Swāmi of अग्निवैश्यायन Agnivaiśyāyana gotra, the fifth गणधर Ganadhara, chief disciple of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira, was appointed as the supreme head of the Church, after the निर्वाण Nirvāna, Final Emancipation of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira, as Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama, the first Ganadhara and the only other surviving Ganadhara, acquired केवलज्ञान Kévala Gnāna, Perfect Knowledge, just after the निर्वाण Nirvāna, Final Emancipation of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira and as such, he ( Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama ), being a Kévali, cannot be burdened with the care of twenty-four thousand Sādhus. Moreover, the Sādhus converted by Ganadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautāma died early, and the other Ganadharas who died during the life-time of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira, yielded up their pupils to Sthavira Sudharmā Swāmi. The headship, therefore fell upon him.

Sthavira Sudharmā Swāmi was born in 607 B. C. the same year in which Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Indrabhūti Gautama was born. He lived 50 years as a householder, 42 years in उद्यम्य Chadmastha state and 8 years as a Kévali and reached मोक्ष Moksha, Final Emancipation, in his 100 th year i-e 20 years after the निर्वाण Nirvāṇa, Final Emancipation of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira in Vira Samvat 20 or in 507 B. C.

No. 2. Sthavira Arya Jambu Swami.

Sthavira Jambū Swāmi was appointed as the supreme head of the Church, when Sthavira Sudharmā Swāmi became a Kévali in Vira Samvat 12 or in 515 B. C.

Jambū Kumāra was the son of a very wealthy banker named ऋषभदत्त Rishabha Datta of Rājgriha राजगृह. His mother's name was धारिणी Dhārini.

It is said:—

बाल्येऽपि केऽपि वैराग्याद् गृहीत्वा धर्ममादरात् ।

जम्बूकुमारवन्मुक्तिसातभाजो भवन्ति हि ॥ १ ॥

1. Bālyé api ké'pi vairāgyād grihitvā dharmamādarāt; Jambū kumāravanmuktisātabhājo bhavanti hi

1. Some persons having carefully practised धर्म Dharma, Religious rites, out of indifference to worldly objects even during their childhood, certainly become the 'enjoyers of the happiness of मुक्ति Mukti, Final Emancipation, like Jambū Kumāra

When Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira came to Rājagriha राजगृह Nagari, god विद्युन्माली Vidyunmālī went there for the purpose of giving his respects to the Ommscient Lord. On seeing that the god Vidyunmālī's beauty was more brilliant than that of all other gods, King Śrénika, folding his two hands in respectful salutation, requested Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira to explain him the cause of his surpassing brilliance and also as to what religious austerities he must have practised during his previous life.

Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira, narrated the account of the previous life of Vidyunmālī. After hearing it, King Śrénika said "O Lord! on leaving his divine existence, where will god Vidyunmālī be born in his future life?"

Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira then said, "On the seventh day from now, god Vidyunmālī, on leaving his divine existence will take birth as a son to Sheth Rishabha-datta of this town. On acquiring केवलज्ञान Kévala gnāna, Perfect Knowledge, he will eventually acquire मोक्षपद Moksha Pada, the State of Final Emancipation. There will be no other Kévali after him.

The four wives of god Vidyunmālī, having respectfully bowed down said "O venerable Lord! what will be our गति Gati, Re-birth in future?"

Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira replied "You will be born as daughters of wealthy merchants and you will be married to Jambū Kumāra.

On hearing this excellent account, god Vidyunmālī and his four wives performed dancing in front of the Lord. The delighted god Vidyunmālī then went to his celestial residence in company with his four wives.

One day, when Sthavira Arya Sudharmā Swāmi, the fifth गणधर Gaṇadhara of Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvira, came to वैभारगिरि Vaibhāragiri, Mount Vaibhāra, one of the five mountains near Rājagriha, धारिणी Dhārīṇī, the wife of Sheth Rishabha-datta, went there for the purpose of giving her respects to the venerable saint. At the end of देशना Désanā, Preaching, while Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Sudharmā Swāmi was explaining the subject of जम्बूवृक्ष Jambū Vriksha, before the assembly, Dhārini, the wife of Sheth Rishabha-datta, asked: "O Venerable Sage, will I have a son or not?" Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Sudharmā Swāmi replied "O महासति Mahāsati, pattern of wifely fidelity, it is not proper for Sādhūs to give instructions for a censurable act. Still however, ascertaining the advent of highly meritorious actions. Sādhūs at times, suggest blameless methods, you should, therefore, observe one hundred and eight आचाम्लानि Ācāmlāni, Only one meal at mid-day in which scum of parched rice or some other tasteless insipid grain food and boiled water is used. You will have a male-child indicated by the dream of a जम्बूवृक्ष Jambū Vriksha, Jambū Tree." Dhārini then went to her house and commenced the vow of आचाम्लतप Ācāmla Tapa, the Āchāmla Tapa, as suggested by the great sage.

विद्युन्मालि देव Vidyunmāli-déva, the celestial being Vidyunmāli, on leaving his celestial residence, took the form of a foetus in the womb of Dhārini, as indicated by the vision of a जम्बूवृक्ष Jambū Vriksha, Jambū Tree, in her dream. In due course of time, Dhārini gave birth to a male child. The child was named जम्बूकुमार Jambū Kumāra.

At that time, पद्मावती Padmāvatī, the wife of समुद्रप्रिय शेठ Samudra-priya-Sheth gave birth to a daughter named समुद्रश्री Samudraśrī.

कमलमाला Kamala-mālā, the wife of समुद्रदत्त शेठ Samudra-datta Sheth, gave birth to a daughter named पद्मश्री Padmaśrī.

विजयश्री Vijayaśrī, the wife of सागरदत्त शेठ Sāgarā-datta Sheth, gave birth to a daughter named पद्मसेना Padmasénā and जयश्री Jayaśrī, the wife of कुबेरदत्तशेठ Kubèra-datta Sheth gave birth to a daughter named कनकसेना Kanaka-senā.

The four wives of Vidyunmāli Déva on leaving their celestial abode, assumed the form of foetuses in the wombs of the wives of the abovementioned wealthy merchants of Rājagriha and in due course of time, were born as their above named daughters.

Besides these, कमलावती Kamalāvati, wife of कुबेरसेन Kubérséna gave birth to a daughter named नभःसेना Nabhahsénā.

सुषेणा Sushénā, wife of श्रमणदत्तशेठ Śramana-datta Sheth gave birth to a daughter named कनकश्री Kanakaśrī.

वीरमति Viramati, wife of वसुषेण Vasushéna gave birth to a daughter named कनकवती Kanakavati.

जयसेना Jayasénā, wife of वसुपालित Vasupālita gave birth to a daughter named जयश्री Jayaśrī.

These eight girls, when attaining youth, were desirous of marrying Jambū Kumāra. The parents of Jambū Kumāra thought that these eight girls will be offered for marriage with their son Jambū Kumāra. Accordingly they became the wives of the Jambū Kumāra.

श्री सुधर्म स्वामी Śree Sudharma Swāmi, the fifth Ganadhara of Śramana happened to arrive into a pleasure-garden of the town. A large multitude of people went there to hear the preaching. Jambū Kumāra, also, went there. Ganadhara Mahārāja Shree Sudharma Swāmi then commenced the preaching thus—

8. In this way, after the acquisition of रत्नत्रय Ratna-traya, The Three jewels, शाश्वतं पदम् Śāsvatam Padam, the rank of Eternal Happiness is acquired, even immediately by ascetics and after a long time, by householders who have dispelled the darkness of मोह Moha, Infatuation.

9. Those, however, who have become enslaved by the grip of मोह Moha, and who are under the influence of प्रमाद Pramāda Carelessness, always roam about helplessly in the forest of worldly existence.

Having heard the religious preaching, Jambū Kumāra became desirous of संन्यस Samyama, Renunciation of the world. The venerable priest refused to give him दीक्षा Dikṣā, Initiation into an Order of Monks without the consent of his parents. When Jambū Kumāra was returning home, anxious of taking शीलव्रत Śīla vrata, the vow of Celibacy, he saw, on the way, that राजगृह नगरी Rājagriha Nagari, the town of Rājagriha was surrounded by enemies and that stones were thrown by machines worked by servants of the King, sitting on the fortress. Thinking this event to be a source of impediment, Jambū Kumāra came back to Ganadhara Mahārāja Sudharma Swāmi and took the vow of Celibacy from him.

He then returned home and respectfully addressing his parents, said "O Father and Mother! I am desirous of taking भागवति दीक्षा Bhāgavati Dikṣā, Initiation into an Order of Monks promulgated by the Jinésvaras. Please therefore give me your consent. His parents replied. "You are our only son. We shall be helpless without you. In that case, what will be our condition? We are desirous of marrying you eight handsome girls. Fulfil therefore our well-cherished desires." Jambū Kumāra, well-considering the words of his parents, said, "I will marry the girls, if you are very keen about it; but in case, I am able to duly enlighten them in religious subjects, they will willingly accept दीक्षा Dikṣā, along with me. If however, I am not able to convince them, I will remain a householder." Jambū Kumāra, then, told the parents of his wives-elect "I am anxious to have भागवति दीक्षा Bhāgavati Dikṣā," and eventually all of them informed their respective daughters "Jambū Kumāra is anxious to have भागवति दीक्षा Bhāgavati Dikṣā, after duly instructing you in religious subjects soon after his marriage with you." All the eight girls went to Jambū Kumāra and said "We have already accepted you as our husband. You will be our Lord during this life. If however, such an union is impossible, we all of us will take भागवति दीक्षा Bhāgavati Dikṣā at your hands. In case, however we become competent to attract you more and more towards the pleasures of this world, you will have to become our husband. Otherwise, we will renounce the world and take दीक्षा Dikṣā along with your worthy self."

On the auspicious day of his marriage, Jambū Kumāra sitting on a gorgeously caprisoned elephant, and being fanned on both sides by milky-white yāḱ chowries and with a large richly embroidered umbrella held over his head, went to the house of his fathers-in-law and married the eight girls. He then returned home, under great celebration, along with his eight newly-married wives and wealth amounting to ninety crore gold coins given by his fathers-in-law as his private property.

On the second day of his marriage, Jambū Kumāra took his eight recently married wives, at sun-set, to the seventh storey of his palatial building, for the purpose of instructing them in religious matters.

Now, it so happened that King विन्ध्य Vindhya, of जयपुर ayapura, near विन्ध्यगिरि Vindhya Mountain, disregarding the birth-rights of his eldest son प्रभव Prabhava, gave away his whole kingdom to his younger son सुप्रभव Suprabhava.

Prabhava enraged at this insult, went to a पल्ली a Pālli, a settlement of wild tribes, became the head of five hundred robbers and commenced robbery with them in neighbouring kingdoms and towns. There, Prabhava acquired two mysterious spells viz 1 अवस्थापिनी Avasvāpini, sleep-producing and 2 तालोद्घाटिनी Tālodghātinī, opening of locks.

Hearing that marriage-celebration of Jambū Kumāra had taken place on a grand scale, Prabhava, entered the house of ऋषभदत्त शेट Rishabha-datta Sheth at Rajagriha during night, and having opened the locks by the तालोद्घाटिनी विद्या Tālodghātinī Vidyā, the art of opening locks, and having put all the members of his family, to sleep by the अवस्थापिनी विद्या Avasvāpini Vidyā, the science of putting to sleep, plundered his whole house with the aid of his five hundred comrades.

Prabhava then went to the place where Jambū Kumāra was instructing his beautiful wives, sitting beside him, decorated with costly garments and precious ornaments and tried to induce all of them to sleep. Under The influence of the spell, the eight wives of Jambū Kumāra fell to sleep and Prabhava, commenced taking away their ornaments but it had no effect on Jambū Kumāra.

Meanwhile Jambū Kumāra made all the robbers immovabe and they stood fixed like pictures painted on a wall. Prabhava, highly disquieted, said “O Jambū Kumāra! You teach me your स्तम्भिनीविद्या Stambhīni Vidyā, the art of making objects immovable, and I will teach you Avasvāpini Vidyā and Talodghātinī Vidyā Jambū Kumāra said “What use have I for these vicious arts? I am going to instruct my eight wives during the night and renouncing all my wealth, I am going to take भागवति दीक्षा Bhāgavati Diksā in the morning.

Prabhava was greatly astonished on hearing these words, and he said "Why do you abandon these various pleasures of the world and take Dikṣā? Jambū Kumāra said "O Prabhava! These so-called pleasures of the world are like मधुबिन्दु Madhū-bindu, a drop of honey, Prabhava said "What is that drop of honey? Jambū Kumāra, thereupon, narrated the story of मधुबिन्दु Madhu Bindu and पुरुष Purush, the man.

THE STORY OF MADHU BINDU AND THE MAN.

A poor man started on a journey to a distant land, in company with a leader of a trading caravan for the purpose of acquiring wealth. On the way, the caravan was plundered by robbers. The poor man ran away. While running forward, he saw a huge furious elephant, quickly following his foot-steps with the object of injuring him. Out of fear of being killed, while looking around here and there, the miserable man fell into a well. When falling into the well, he happened to take hold of a branch of a Banyana Tree, standing in close proximity of the well and kept himself hanging there with the aid of the branch of the tree. The man saw a large boa snake in the centre and four ordinary snakes in the four corners, with their mouths opened wide

On looking upwards, the poor man saw one white and one black rat, biting off the branch of the Banyana Tree to which he had remained hanging. On the tree, there was a large hive of bees from which the bees were flying out and stinging him. The elephant came up and began to shake the Banyan Tree. Thus, when the miserable man saw that the elephant was trying to pull down the tree, rats were biting off the branch of the tree to which he was hanging, and that there were large snakes underneath, he was greatly terrified.

But, eventually, on tasting a drop of honey falling into his mouth, he felt himself happy.

It is said—

१ विषयगणः कापुरुषं करोति वशवर्तिनं न सत्पुरुषम् ।
बध्नाति मशकमेव हि लूतातन्तुर्न मातङ्गम् ॥ १ ॥

1. Visayagaṇaḥ kāpurusham karoṭi vāśavartinam na sat-purusham; Badhnāti maśakamēva hi lūtātantu r-ṇa mātangam.

1. Sensual enjoyments make a contemptible person submissive, but they do not affect a wise man. A thread of a spider's web binds a mosquito only, but not an elephant.

२ ददाति तावदिमे विषयाः सुखं,
स्फुरति यावदियं हृदि मूढता ।
मनसि तत्त्वविदां तु विचारके,
क विषयाः क सुखं क परिग्रहः ॥ २ ॥

2. Dadāti tavadimé vishayāḥ sukham, sphurati yāvadiyam hridi mūdhatā; Manasi tattvavidām tu vicāraké, kva vishayāḥ kva sukham, kva parigrahaḥ.

2. These sensual enjoyments give pleasure, so long as there exists bewilderment at heart. But, in the competent hearts of wise persons there is no room, for sensual enjoyments, for a desire for pleasure and none for property.

At that time, a विद्याधर Vidyādhara, an aerial genius, flying in the air, on seeing the miserable man hanging in the well, out of compassion for him, went to him and said "O worthy man! You take hold of my hand and resting on it, try to come out of the well." The miserable man said, "You wait for some time and let this drop of honey fall into my mouth." The Vidyadhara told him repeatedly for a long time, but the miserable man did not leave off the transient pleasure of the taste of a drop of honey and he did not come out of the well.

The vidyādhara then went away to his celestial abode and the man suffered great agonies there.

Jambū Kumāra addressing Prabhava, said “In the same manner, O Prabhava! I am deeply engrossed in this unprofitable world for the sake of transient pleasure.

The उपाय Upanaya, Application of the story narrated by me is this—

The miserable man is the man of the world; the dreadful forest is the worldly existence; the elephant is death; the well is the world of mortals; the boa snake is hell; the four ordinary snakes are the four कषायs-Kashāyas passions-viz क्रोध Krodha, Anger, मान Māna, Pride, माया Māyā, Deceit and लोभ Lobha, Greed; the Banyan tree is the allotted term of life; the two rats are the bright and the dark fortnights of the month; the honey-bees are the innumerable maladies of the body; the drop of honey is the taste of the sensual enjoyments; the Vidyādhara is the worthy Guru. He who renounces the unprofitable world, attains मुक्ति Mukti, the state of Final Beatitude. Others, suffer the pangs of terrible miseries in hell like the miserable man of the story.

Prabhava then said “O Jambū Kumāra! having renounced your affectionate mother and father, your wives and your relatives, why do you accept the great vow of दीक्षा Dikṣā. Initiation into an order of monks? Jambū Kumāra said, “Hear a story about the worthlessness of worldly pleasures from me.”

The story runs as follows.—

In the city of Mathurā, a prostitute named Kubérsenā, after an intercourse with some unknown person, gave birth to a twin, consisting of one boy and one girl. After eleven days, the procuress said, “Children cannot be nourished at our house.” You therefore leave them off at some deserted place” The prostitute, thereupon, having put on a ring of gold, inscribed with the name कुबेरदत्त Kubéra-datta and कुबेरदत्ता Kubéra-dattā respectively on the finger of the two children and having placed them in a wooden box, left the box swimming in the waters of river यमुना Yamunā, River Jamnā.

When the box came to सूर्यपुरनगर Sūryapura Nagara, the town of Sūryapura, two merchants of the town took it and on opening the box, one of them took the boy with him and the other took away the girl. In accordance with the inscription on the rings, the two children were named Kubéradatta and Kubéradattā respectively. When both the children grew up to mature age, the merchants married them with each other. After marriage, when both of them happened to see each other's rings, while they were amusing themselves in their palatial building. Kubéradattā on reading the names on the rings, thought that the relation between both of them must be that of a brother and a sister. Kubérdatta also thought so. Both of them, on inquiring from their respective parents were informed that both of them were obtained from a wooden-box rescued from the waters of the river Jamnā.

Kubérdattā, disgusted with the idea of having formed matrimonial relation with her own brother, renounced the world and became a साध्वी Sādhvi, nun, Kubérdatta taking much commodity with him, went to Mathurā for the purpose of trading there. At Mathurā, Kubérdatta kept the prostitute Kubérséna, as his wife. By her he had a male child.

In course of time Kubérdattā acquired अवधिज्ञान 'Avadhi Jnāna, Visual Knowledge, and on seeing this detestable connection went to Mathurā, with the permission of her गुरुणी Guruni, chief Nun, for the purpose of instructing them.

Kubérdattā, lived there in an Upāśraya near the house of Kbérséna. With the idea of instructing her mother Kubérsénā, and her brother Kubérdatta, the Sādhvi Kubérdattā went to the house of Kubérsēna and commenced rocking up and down the cradle in which the child was sleeping, saying, "O son of Kubérdatta, sleep. O brother of Kubérdatta sleep etc. On hearing such contradictory words of the Sādhvi, Kubérdattā asked her "Why do you talk thus? Sādhvi Kubérdattā, then showed him the ring with the name inscribed on it and said "This prostitute Kubérsēnā is our mother, I am your sister, etc. In this way, she narrated the eighteen kinds of relations existing between Kubérsēnā and the child.

Kubérdatta was greatly ashamed to hear it and he began censuring his own self for his improper conduct. He then gave away all his property in charity, and took, भागवति दीक्षा Bhāgavati Diksā, Initiation into the Order of monks instituted by the Tirthankaras. Having practised severe austerities, Kubérdatta went to heaven at the end of his life.

Kubérasēnā, too, condemning her bad conduct, left off her profession of prostitution became a श्राविका Śrāvikā, a woman sincerely following the tenets of the Tirthankaras and having rigidly observed the duties of a true Jain, went to heaven."

On hearing the above narration of the story, Prabhava said "O Jambū Kumāra! You are son-less. How will you have a prosperous future in your next life? Because,

It is said—

१ अपुत्रस्य गतिर्नास्ति स्वर्गो नैव च नैव च ।

1. A son-less individual does not possess a prosperous future in the next life. He decidedly cannot go to heaven. Therefore, people go to heaven, after seeing the face of a son.

Jambū Kumāra said—

१ अनेकानि सहस्राणि कुमारब्रह्मचारिणाम् ।
स्वर्गं गतानि राजेन्द्र ! अकृत्वा कुलसन्ततिम् ॥ १ ॥

1. Anékāni sahasrāṇi kumāra-brahmacārinām, Svargam gatāni Rājendra ! a-kritvā kula santatim.

1. O King ! many thousands of bachelor religious students have gone son-less to heaven, without prolonging their continuous family. Many persons with sons go to hell. Now, Listen,

“In a beautiful city, named तामलिनी Tāmalini, resembling the divine capital of Indra, there lived a wealthy merchant named महेश्वरदत्त Mahēśvaradatta. He was daily practising sacred ablutions, sacrifices, oblations to the manes etc. He had a wicked wife named नागिला Nāgilā. On the funeral day of his dead father, the merchant killed a large bull and was eating his flesh along with his family-members. At that time, a mendicant came there on a begging tour, but on seeing the merchant partaking of the flesh of a bull, he returned back, repeating the following verse:—

पुष्पाति स्वपितुर्मसैः शत्रुमुत्सङ्गसङ्गिनम् ।
विधत्ते च पितुः श्राद्धमहो मोहस्य विस्मितम् ।

1. Pusnāti svapitu r-māṁsaih śatrumutsaṅga saṅginam, Vidhattè ca pituh śraddhamaho mohasya vismitam.

1. See ! this man gives oblation to his dead father and he nourishes the boy—his enemy sitting in his lap with the flesh of his own father. Look at the wonder of मोह Moha, Infatuation.

On hearing the mendicant speaking thus, the merchant went out of his house and asked him “O Muni ! why do you utter such useless talk? The mendicant replied “The parainour of your wife Nāgilā was your enemy. You killed him and he was born as a son to your wife. Your father, after death became this bull. You killed him and you are now eating his flesh. Besides, the bitch licking the bones of the bull, is your mother अंबा Ambā. She was beaten with a stick and she is crying. I uttered this śloka with the object of instructing you.’

The merchant said “What is proof of the truthfulness of your words? The medicant replied “

अन्तर्गृहं शुनी नीता जातजातिस्मृतिः सती ।
रत्नजातं तदेषा तन्नि-खातं दर्शयिष्यति ॥ १ ॥

1. Antargriham śuni nitā jāta jāti smritih sati; Ratnajātam tadēsā tannikhātam darsayisyati.

1. When this bitch is led into the house, she will show the heap of jewels buried in the ground, as she has acquired जातिस्मृति Jāti smṛti, Remembrance of former life.” Saying, so the mendicant went away. As fore-told by the mendicant, the bitch showed the valuable treasure. The merchant, considering the oblation to the manes as useless, commenced practising the Jaina Dharma preached by the mendicant.

On hearing the above-mentioned stories, Prabhava, becoming enlightened in Jain Dharma renounced the world and took Dīkṣā along with his 500 comrades.

समुद्राश्री Samudraśrī addressing Jambū Kumāra said, “O Master! Beware that you may not become the recipient of sorrow, like the farmer बक Baka, by abandoning sensual enjoyments already in your possession. Now, hear the story about Baka farmer:—

In a village named सुसीमा Su-simā, there lived a farmer named बक Baka. During the rainy season, he produced gram, wheat, Kodrava (inferior corn eaten by poor people) kidney beans and other kinds of corn in his field, and one day, he went to the house of his daughter at Mālavā, where he was fed with गुडमण्डक Guda-mandaka, large and very thin cakes made of wheaten flour and molasses, by his daughter. The farmer inquired, "How is molasses prepared." His daughter and other relatives replied, "Dig a well and then, grow wheat and sugar-canes." Acting on the advice received from his daughter and others, the farmer, bought seeds for wheat-growing, went immediately to his native place and commenced the plucking out of corn-plants grown in his field. When his relatives and acquaintances asked him the reason for his awkward behaviour, he said "I want to produce wheat and sugar-cane in this field. We shall eat sweet cakes prepared with molasses. We have become disgusted with the eating of such inferior corn." His relatives told him "Such corn will not grow in this land." Although remonstrated with a good deal by his relatives, the farmer did not care for their advice, but proceeded on with the work of up-rooting the corn-plants from his field. He then commenced digging out a well. He dug out very low in the ground, but he could not get a drop of water from it. The corn-seeds that he brought from his daughter's village were decomposed. The pulses and other inferior corn grown in his field, were up-rooted and thrown away. The farmer lost every thing by endeavouring to obtain an inappropriate article.

In the same manner, my dear husband, lest you may not be deprived of the pleasure of sensual enjoyments of this world, and lest you may not become unhappy, like the farmer Baka, by discarding your wives and other objects of enjoyment already in your possession.

Jambū Kumāra replied "I am not like the greedy crow, who was very fond of flesh, that I may become unhappy. Now, hear the crow's story.

THE STORY OF THE GREEDY CROW.

A rutting elephant living on Mount विन्ध्य Vindhya, distressed with thirst, during summer, one day went to रेवानदी Rēvā Nadi, river Narmadā. There, his feet slipped down and he fell down into the river, like a huge mountain-peak tumbling down. On seeing that the elephant was dead, jackals came there, and began eating his flesh. They then, made a big hole in the upper aperture of his body. Many crows used to enter the hole and feel themselves happy by eating his flesh. While one crow entering his body was busily engaged in eating away flesh from the interior of his body, the aperture of his body, contracting under the influence of heat, became closed up tight and the greedy crow remained inside.

With the advent of the rainy season, the dead body of the elephant was led into the great ocean. Constantly wet with cold water, the dead body became enormously swollen, the aperture opened wide and the imprisoned crow came out. As he looked around, he saw water everywhere. The distressed crow repeatedly fled up and could find nothing but the dead body to sit on, but there was no end of the ocean. The dead body of the elephant, filled up with water was drowned into the ocean and along with it, the crow died by drowning.

Jambū Kumāra addressing his wife said " O dear !

काकवत्करिणः काये, नारीदेहेऽनुरागवान् ।
कथं प्रिये ! न मज्जामि, सोऽहं मोहाम्बुधाविव ॥ १ ॥

1 Kākavat karīṇah kāyē, nārīdēhé'nurāgavān, Katham priyé! na majjāmi so'ham mohāmbudhāviva.

1. O dear ! How can I not be drowned in the ocean of Moha, (infatuation) by attachment to the body of a female, like the crow attached to the body of the elephant ?

पद्मश्री Padmaśrī addressing Jambū Kumāra said, "O dear husband! You may not perhaps become a loser in both ways like the monkey.

The story of the monkey runs as follows:—

STORY OF THE MONKEY.

King Arikésari of हस्तिनागपुर Hastināgapura, went, one day, for hunting along with a number of other kings in a distant country. While wandering from forest to forest, rain commenced to fall in heavy torrents and the king had to seek shelter in a thick bower of creepers. When the rain ceased falling, he came near a lake. On seeing there a very handsome girl resembling a celestial maiden, the king was greatly delighted. The young girl well-decorated with valuable ornaments was taken by the king to his palace. There he married her and made her, his chief queen. The king, then, began to enjoy the pleasures of the senses, like an Indra with his wife Indrāni.

When the king Arikésari and his new queen, were one day, sitting in his picture-room, a juggler, amusing the public by his sports with a monkey, while going from village to village and town to town, came there and commenced playing with the monkey. On seeing the queen, who was sitting on the lap of the king, the monkey did not jump about and he did not dance. The juggler beat him a good deal, but to no purpose; the monkey kept staring only at the lotus-like face of the queen. The juggler became greedy embarrassed. The monkey kept weeping all the while.

On seeing the monkey, the queen said, "O monkey! I remonstrated with you, but you became very avaracious. Now, be wise and dance. Leave aside your remorse. Do not weep.

Because,

गते शोको न कर्तव्यो, भविष्यं न च चिन्तयेत् ।
वर्तमानेन कालेन, वर्तयन्ति विचक्षणाः ॥ १ ॥

1. Gaté śoko na kartavyo, bhavisyam na ca cintayet;
Vartamānena kālena, vartayanti vicakṣaṇāḥ.

1. One should not feel sorry for what is past, and he should not think about the future. Clear-sighted persons act in accordance with the present time.

खेदं मुक्त्वाऽधुना सद्यस्त्वं नृत्यं कुरु वानर ! ।
यादृशं क्रियते कर्म तादृगाप्नोति मानवः ॥ २ ॥

2. Khédam muktva' dhunā sadyastvam nṛtyam kuru vānara ! / Yādrisam kriyate karma tādrigāpnoti mānavah. 2.

2. O monkey! Leaving aside your grief, now dance immediately. Mankind obtains (a recompense) similar to the actions he does.

The monkey thus advised, pleased the king by wonderful dancing unfraudulently performed. Having satisfied the owner of the monkey with wealth, the king asked his queen "Who is this monkey? and why did he weep? The queen said "O Lord! At Padmadraha, in the Nandana forest, there lived a couple—a monkey and a female monkey. Becoming distressed with excessive heat, one day, the couple jumped into water, from the branch of a tree. Having fallen into water, the couple was transformed into a human couple—a male and a female. The monkey said, "As human beings, we shall have to work hard for cultivation and other trades; as beasts we shall have to suffer much hardship from exposure to cold and heat. Better, if we attain a celestial form. We will then enjoy all sensual pleasures. Let us, therefore, jump again into the water and we shall assume celestial forms." Thereupon, the female said "This human existence is sufficient for both of us. We should not become very avaracious."

Because,

लोभमूलानि पापानि, रसमूलाश्च व्याधयः ।

स्नेहमूलानि दुःखानि, त्रीणि त्यक्त्वा सुखी भव ॥ १ ॥

1 Lobhamūlāni pāpāni, rasamūlā sca vyādhayah; Sneha mūlāni duḥkhāni trīṇi tyktvā sukhī bhava.

1. Evil deeds have avarice at their bottom; diseases have (derangement) of humours at the bottom; miseries have attachment at the bottom. Having abandoned the three (causes), be happy.

Forbidden repeatedly, he did not listen to the advice of his wife, but jumped again into the water and was transformed as a monkey. He jumped again and again into the water but his apish form did not disappear. "I am the female monkey transformed as a human female, who had been taken from the forest to your palace. This monkey became attached to the juggler. Now, seeing me, the monkey lamenting his own evil action, was weeping. I also recognised the same monkey." The queen having admirably observed her religious duties became very happy. The monkey remained miserable for a long time.

In the same manner, O Lord! having acquired the happiness of the pleasures of immense wealth and beautiful wives, you will become miserable like the monkey, desirous as you are of the happiness of the maiden मुक्ति Mukti, Liberation. You should not therefore abandon your wives, who are like divine damsels.

Thus ends the story told by Padmaśrī.

Jambū Kumāra then said, "People enjoying many varied pleasures are not satisfied like अंगारकारक Aṅgārākāraka.

THE STORY OF ANGARAKARAKA.

At the town of चन्द्रपुर Candrapura, there lived a charcoal-burner named चन्द्र candra. One day in summer, he went to a forest with some quantity of water for the purpose of preparing coals. While preparing coals, the quantity of water he had with him, soon became exhausted. He became very thirsty at night and his mouth and palate dried up. While sleeping at night and afflicted with excessive thirst, he drank the whole quantity of water existing then in wells, tanks, rivers and lakes and finally went to a well in an arid place. Exceedingly distressed with unquenchable thirst, the charcoal-burner standing near a Banyan Tree, threw a bunch of straw tied to a rope into the deep well and began to lick drops of water trickling from it. The charcoal-burner's thirst was not at all quenched by any means.

In the same manner, all human beings experiencing the pleasures of breast-feeding, sexual intercourse with women, and putting on of valuable clothes and ornaments, are not satisfied. But I am not anxious about the pleasures of this world.

पद्मसेना Padmasenā, then said, "O husband! being desirous of मुक्ति Mukti, Emancipation, you do not lose both like the jackal while abandoning the prosperous state acquired in this world. For instance,

THE STORY OF THE JACKAL.

A jackal acquired a piece of flesh in some forest. He went to the bank of a lake with it. Though desirous of eating that piece of flesh, the jackal on seeing fish thrown out of the current of water, became anxious to catch it out of ardent longing for it. When the jackal leaving the piece of flesh on the ground, ran forward to catch the fish, the fish at once entered the current of water. A kite taking hold of the piece of flesh by his powerful beak, flew high up into the sky.

The jackal losing both, was much grieved at heart.

In the same manner, while abandoning this wealth, you will lose the happiness of this world, as well as that relating to the next world, like the jackal.

Jambū Kumāra, addressing Padmasénā said "I will not become bewildered with attachment like the Vidyādhara Vidyunmāli and you also should not become bewildered like him. Now, listen to the story of the Vidyādhara.

STORY OF THE VIDYADHARA.

At the town of गगनवल्लभ Gaganavallabha, which beautified the northern row of वैताढ्यपर्वत Mount Vaitādhya, there were two Vidyādhara brothers, named Mégharatha and Vidyunmāli. One day, both the brothers assuming the apparel of a मातङ्ग Mātāṅga, a man of the lowest class, went to a मातङ्ग Mātāṅga, a Cāndāla (a man of the lowest class) in Vasantapura for the purpose of acquiring मातङ्गीविद्या Mātāṅgi Vidyā, because that Vidyā (art) is not obtainable without a marriage and association with the daughter of a Matāṅga. With this idea in their mind they associated with Candalas. When they went there, the Cāndālas asked them Who are you? Why have you come here? They replied "We are sons of a non-Aryan king of Sākétapur and we have been expelled from his kingdom. We have come here with the object of learning Mātāṅgi Vidyā (art). All of them were greatly pleased on seeing both the princes. They kept them with them, and married their daughters with them.

The elder brother Mégharatha remaining chaste, had all the household work done by his wife and by intimacy with her, he learned Mātāṅgi Vidyā, within a year, while his younger brother Vidyunmāli overcome with sensual desires, became deeply engrossed in the enjoyment of sexual pleasures with his wife. She became pregnant.

Mégharatha asked his younger brother Vidyunmāli "Brother! Did you accomplish the Vidyā or not?" Vidyunmāli then narrated an account of what happened with him and his wife. Mégharatha said "O stupid man! why did you defile yourself by your connection with a low caste barbarian woman? Vidyunmāli replied O virtuous, lovely brother! grant me pardon' for this fault of mine. Out of affection towards me, you call for me after one year. I will subdue carnal desires and I will accomplish my Vidya (art).

Megharatha went away, and after a lapse of one year, he came back to call away his brother, but on seeing that his younger brother's cāndāli-wife was again pregnant, he rebuked him saying "How is it that she is again pregnant? Vidyunmāli blushed out of shame, and requested his elder brother, for extension of his time-limit for one year more.

Eventually, Megharatha returned to his brother, after a lapse of three years, and seeing that his brother was deeply engrossed in sensual pleasures, he thought that Vidyunmāli would remain in the family of low-caste people, and he went away home without him.

Megharatha, being disinterested and free from worldly desires, became fully conversant with Mātangi Vidyā.

While Vidyunmāli remaining in the family of low-caste people, was in course of time, treated by them like a slave and had to execute servile orders without the least hesitation. Living in servile degradation in a dirty unhealthy house, Vidyunmāli became very miserable. After death, Vidyunmāli suffered terrible agonies in hell.

In the same manner, I am not engrossed in worldly pleasures like Vidyunmāli and you should not be fond of enjoyments of this world.

कनकसेना Kanakasénā then said, "Now accept my advice. Do not be greedy like the शङ्खधमक Śaṅkhadhamaka, conch-blower.

The story of the conch-blower runs as follows.—

THE STORY OF SĀṆKHA-DHAMAKA.

There lived, in the town of Śāligrāma, a farmer named कणकूट Kanakūta. He was the guardian of a field belonging to some other farmer. Remaining in the field, he used to drive away beasts eating away corn by blowing his concha. One day, Kanakūta went, at night, with his concha, for the protection of the field. During night, thieves running away with many cattle from a neighbouring village, came near the field. After a little while, the guardian of the field, frivolously blew the concha. The thieves, on hearing the sound of the concha, under the fear of being followed by watch-men of the town, went away leaving the cattle behind. On knowing that the stolen cattle were left away by the thieves, the owners of the cattle came there in the morning, and took away their cattle to their respective villages. Kanakūta blew the concha daily, as usual.

One day, when the thieves were passing that way, they heard the sound of the same concha. They inquired as to who blew the concha daily. They came to know that the concha was daily blown by Kanakūta and they recognised him as the blower of the concha. Then, saying that, we were driven away by him on a previous occasion, and deceived a great deal, they went to him and binding him hand and foot, they beat him so severely that he became unconscious. The thieves, then, robbed him of whatever he had.

Kanakasénā addressing Jambū Kumāra said, "Dear ! While desiring for superior wealth, you may perhaps be unhappy like the concha-blower.

Jambū Kumāra said "I am not stupid like the monkey. You may not be aware of his story, therefore listen

THE STORY OF THE MONKEY.

In the Vindhya mountain, abounding in beasts of prey of various kinds, there was a monkey, who was amusing himself constantly with his beloved female monkeys.

One day, a strong young monkey came there, and began to enjoy himself fearlessly, having sexual intercourse with the monkey's chief beloved. In due course of time, the chief female monkey, accepting the new paramour, used to enjoy unhesitatingly with him. She did not care a straw for her husband. Other female monkeys living near her, said, "This monkey has become old. He is fit to be abandoned." Thinking that the new monkey was quite suitable, all the female monkeys remained under his shelter.

The old monkey used to fight with the new monkey. Then, the new monkey thriving under the good will of the female monkeys, drove away the old monkey. While running away, the old monkey, distressed by thirst, cast his mouth into liquid bitumen, out of erroneous impression for water. He was being followed by monkeys and female monkeys. In order to extract his mouth from the bitumen, the monkey placed his front feet into the bitumen and then he placed his hind legs into it. His whole body became fixed into it and he eventually died. Had the old monkey pulled out his mouth previously, without placing his feet into the bitumen, he would not have been killed.

Jambū Kumāra told his wives “I am not desirous of being drowned into the bitumen representing this Samsāra.

नभःसेना . Nabhahsenā, then, said, “Dear husband! by becoming greedy, you will become a loser and an object of laughing stock like the old woman बुद्धि Buddhi. The story of the old woman Buddhi runs as follows—

In the village named नन्दिग्राम Nandigrāma there lived two old women named सिद्धि Siddhi and बुद्धि Buddhi. Outside the village, there was a यक्ष Yaksha a demi-god named भोलिक Bholika who was giving away whatever was desired by his worshipper. Siddhi worshipped the Yaksha with beautiful flowers in such a way, that he gave her two दीनारस Dīnārs, (gold coins) every day Siddhi, leaving aside wooden utensils, now used to eat in gold utensils; and she had a big palace built for her.

On seeing Siddhi possessing wealth acquired through the gracious gift of the Yaksha, Buddhi asked privately her friend Siddhi.

The Yakṣa said "O Buddhi! What do you want? Buddhi said "Give me twice as much as you give to Siddhi. The Yakṣa gave Buddhi four gold coins daily. Knowing that Buddhi asked for four gold coins daily, Siddhi asked for double the quantity. Buddhi again requested the Yakṣa for twice as much.

Siddhi then thought "Buddhi, always asks for twice as much, in competition. I will now act in such a way that she will suffer the evil consequences of her rivalry with me."

Siddhi, then, told the Yakṣa in secret, "You take away, one of my eyes. The Yakṣa took away one of her eyes in a moment.

Buddhi, then, requested the Yakṣa to give her double as much as was given to Siddhi. Buddhi was thereby rendered perfectly blind by the Yakṣa.

Jambū Kumāra replied O sweetheart ! I will not, like a well-bred horse, go along a wrong path. Now, Beloved of the gods ! hear this story.

THE STORY OF THE HORSE.

In the town of वसन्तपुर Vasantapura, there was a very virtuous and dutiful king named जितशत्रु Jitaśatru.

One day, the king said "Is there any body in my kingdom who is fully conversant with the examination of well-bred horses? Thereupon, persons experienced in the training of horses and charioteering brought before him, out of a number of horses, a thorough-bred horse and said "The kingdom of the king, in whose territory this horse lives, always prospers more and more, in every way. Kings bow-down before that sovereign. That sovereign is not vanquished by others."

The king thought "Where can this horse be kept, separately, and well-taken-care of? Jinadās Sheth is compassionate and free from avarice. Let me therefore entrust him with the care of this animal." Jinadās was thereafter called to the presence of the King and entrusted with the care of the horse. Jinadās took the horse to his house and having built a four-storeyed building for him, kept him there and fed him with nourishing food and drink materials. As the horse gradually increased in growth, the prosperity of the kingdom went on increasing abundantly.

Jinadās Sheth, riding the horse, daily took him to a neighbouring lake for a drink, and while returning home, he daily took the horse to the temple of Bhagavān Śrī Rishabhā-dēva and went three times round the temple and respectfully bowed down before the image of the Lord.

Thus, the horse did not go to any other place except the lake, the temple and the house of Jinadās and he did not know any other path.

A hostile king, knowing the horse to be the source of increase in prosperity of the kingdom, once said "Is there any body here who will bring that horse to me? I will give him five villages as a reward." Thereupon, a servant of his palace, assuming the guise of a genuine Śrāvaka went to Vasantapura, with the permission of the king. There, he adored the Jineśvara with laudatory hymns and bowed down before Sādhus. Jinadās thinking him to be an excellent Śravaka, took him to his house and did much hospitality by abundant food and drink material. At night, Jinadās, discussing religious matters with him, kept him constantly with himself.

One day, Jinadās happened to go to a neighbouring town on some business. The fictitious śravaka, taking advantage of this opportunity, joyfully mounted the horse and commenced journeying towards his town. The horse did not go to any other place, except the lake, the temple and the house of Jinadās. He went to the lake, took his drink there, went three times round the temple, and returned to the house of Jinadās. He repeatedly did the same thing, over and over again; but did not go to any other place. The fictitious śravaka disappointedly left away the horse and hurriedly went to his town. He narrated the whole account of the horse before his king. The horse un-aware of any other place except the three places mostly frequented by him, went back to the house of Jinadās. On seeing that the horse returned to the house of Jinadās, out of his own will, the servants gave the full account of the abduction of the horse by the fictitious Śravaka, to Jinadās on his return home. The horse was, there after, exceedingly receiving honour from the wealthy gentleman, as well as from the king. He became very happy. The merchant was also highly respected by the king and he became very happy."

O dear! I am acquainted with only three paths viz ज्ञान Jnāna, Right Knowledge दर्शन Darśana, Right Perception and चरित्र Cāritra, Right Conduct, like the three paths of the thorough-bred horse of the story. I do not know any other path.

On hearing the above story narrated by Jambū Kūmāra, his wife Kanakaśrī said "O Lord of my life! Listen—

THE STORY OF TWO BROTHERS.

Two brothers started from हेमपुर Hemapura, on a journey to a distant country. In a forest, they saw an ant-hill with five peaks. On opening one peak of the ant-hill, they obtained an abundant, quantity of highly delicious fresh drinking water. They drank the water and were highly delighted. The elder brother then told his younger brother "Now, let us open the other peak, saying so, they opened the second peak and acquired much wealth. On opening the third peak they acquired silver and opening the fourth peak, they acquired abundant gold. Out of avarice, the younger brother tried to open the fifth peak. His elder brother said "Do not be greedy.

 it is like a rain-cloud in over-coming the brilliance of dignity;
 it is a play-ground for quarrels; it is like a Rāhu in eclipsing the brightness of discrimination; it is an ocean to the river of misfortune, it is like a young elephant in destroying the creeper of fame. Therefore, subdue avarice.

महीयसापि लोभेन, लोभो न परिभूयते ।

2. Mahiyasāpi lobhena, lobho na paribhūyate ।

Mātrāsamadhikah kutra, mātīāhinena jiyate. 2.

2. Avarice is not overcome even by immense acquisitions. How is it that a word having an excess of mātṛā (like लोभ Lobha) is defeated by a word without the mātṛa लाभ Lābha. That is to say, it is difficult to overcome avarice.

The elder brother said “ Let the remaining peak be as it is Do not open it Although prohibited a great deal by his elder brother, the young man, out of avarice, began to dig open the fifth peak, and the elder brother, out of discretion stood at a distance. As the younger brother dug out the peak a huge snake came out, emitting poison all around. The man was severely burnt and he became very miserable, for a long time.

In the same manner, desirous of the happiness of Emancipation, you may not suffer the fate of the younger brother out of your avarice for more happiness.

Jambū Kumāra said “ Darling! I will not act like the multitude of parrots. Hear the story.—Some persons had placed tubed instruments near a village for the protection of their corn-fields. A multitude of parrots came and sat firmly over the instruments, keeping their legs steadily clinging to the margins of the instruments, out of fear of falling down. The crowd did not fly away thinking themselves tightly bound down, although they were free.

But dear! I am not like that multitude of parrots. I have cut the trammels of the bondage of Moha and I will go where-ever I like.

Or, here, there is another story:—

A tortoise lived in a big lake on Mount Vindhya along with his family. One night, on seeing the full moon, on account of withdrawing away of the veil of moss over the water, he became greatly delighted. Then he thought “Let me show this to my family-members.” With this idea in his mind, the tortoise went to the bottom of the lake for the purpose of bringing his family-members to the spot. When the tortoise came there with his family-members, he saw that the hole in the moss through which he was able to see the moon, had already become closed up. Then, wandering about excitedly, here and there, even with his eyes fixedly directed to the moon, he could not see the full-moon.”

Having acquired जिनधर्म Jina-dharma, the principles of religion, preached by the Jineśvars, capable of giving control over senses and having acquired the adequate help of a worthy Guru, I will not abandon it.

Hearing this story, जयश्री Jayaśrī said “Worthy Master! Why do you deceive us like Nāgaśrī? Please hear her story.—

STORY OF NĀGAŚRĪ.

At a town named पद्मपुर Padmapura, there lived a king named केलिप्रिय Kelipriya. He used to hear new stories, by turns, from people, every day. One day, the turn of a Brāhmin came. He was stupid. The Brāhmin thought “What should I say? If I am not able to narrate a new story before the king, the wicked king will throw me into a prison.”

On seeing the withered face of the Brāhmin, who was deeply engrossed in sorrow, a virgin daughter of his daughter said “You do not be uneasy. I will go and narrate the story.”

The virgin grand-daughter of the Brāhmin then went to the king and said “O Lord! I will narrate the story, today.

instead of my father." The King said "Then, you narrate it " The virgin said—Here is the Story of Nāgaśrī—

In this very town, there lived a Brāhmin named नागशर्मा Nāgaśarmā, with his wife named सोमश्री Somaśrī, and his daughter नागश्री Nāgaśrī.

Nāgaśrī was given in marriage with a high-class Brāhmin by her parents. Her parents went into a neighbouring town, for the purchase of materials suitable for her marriage occasion.

When the virgin-girl was alone in the house, the betrothed Brāhmin came into her house. On perceiving her would-be husband, she fed him nicely. Then, she told him to lie down on a comfortable bed-stead with soft bedding in it. She then, thought, "She is not justified in touching even the hand of her would-be husband, before the accomplishment of lawful marriage. There is ample room here. Let me therefore lie down here." So, she lied down innocently on the ground just near the bed-stead.

During sleep, the sleeping bride-groom accidentally happened to tumble down on the innocent girl, who was lying there. He fell on her. Out of undue agitation of embarrassment, the terrified bride-groom instantly died.

The virgin-girl then thought "I am wicked. I was instrumental in his death. People will say that I killed him. What should I do? What should I say if people knew it."

She then buried the dead body of the bride-groom into the ground, threw dust and earth over it, and having besmeared the ground over it with cow-dung, she made the place fragrant with perfumed waters and scented powders. The parents of Nāgaśrī returned home with materials for her marriage ceremony."

Having said this much, the Brāhmin's grand-daughter stood silent. The king asked her "What happened next? The girl said "My time is over, I am going home." The king asked her "How can I see that girl? The Brāhmin's grand-daughter then replied "I am that very girl. I am an actress on the stage of this worldly play. The king said "Is whatever you say, true? She said "If the stories told before you by the people are genuine, then only, my story is also such. Saying so she went away to her house.

Jayaśrī addressing Jambū Kumāra, said, My dear husband! why do you deceive us by story-telling, in the way Nāgaśrī did the king?

Jambū Kumāra thereupon replied "I am not deeply engrossed in pleasures of this world like ललितान्ग कुमार Lalitānga Kumāra. Hear his story—

THE STORY OF LALITĀNGA KUMĀRA.

There was a very powerful king named शतायुध Śatāyudha at a town named कन्दर्पकोशपुर Kandarpakośapura. He had a queen named लीलावती Līlāvati.

One day, when queen Līlāvati, decorated with costly garments and valuable ornaments, was sitting in a balcony of her palace, she saw a very handsome young man—an actual incarnation of Cupid—the god of Love—passing that way, riding a swift horse. Līlāvati fell in love with him as soon as she saw him and began to suffer from the pangs of the arrows of Cupid.

Lalitānga Kumāra, also, on seeing her, fell in love with her. Thinking the wife of a king to be inaccessible for such purposes, Lalitānga Kumāra went home.

The queen suffering immensely from the pangs of love appeared as if captivated by an evil-spirit. The maid-servant of the queen, realizing the inner-most idea of her mistress said "I will bring that young man to you." The maid-servant went to Lalitāṅga Kumāra, the son of Samudrapriya Śeth, and said in private, "My mistress, queen Lilāvati, is very anxious to have sexual enjoyment with you." He said "I am also desirous of her. When there is an opportunity, let me know it and I will come." The maid-servant informed her mistress accordingly.

The king, very seldom, went out; and so, such an opportunity was not possible. However, one day, getting a suitable opportunity, the maid-servant brought Lalitāṅga Kumāra, who had put on costly garments and valuable ornaments, to queen Lilāvati. Mean-while, the king happened to arrive there. The maid-servant concealed Lalitāṅga Kumāra in a deep cess-pool in the palace, and told him "Do not utter a word." The king is here. "If he comes to know that you have come here with such an object, he will kill you by the point of a spear." Lalitāṅga Kumāra greatly terrified, remained there in complete seclusion. While he was there, the queen, out of compassion for him, used to give him food. Lalitāṅga Kumāra kept body and soul together by the meagre food given to him. But he became very miserable by experiencing the horrible stench of the cess-pool and by remembering the happiness of his family life.

During the rainy season, wafted away by the filthy water over flowing from the cess-pool, over the conduit channel, Lalitāṅga Kumāra was dragged to the extreme end of the main cess-pool of the rampart of the town. His mother saw him there in a wretched condition. He had fainted. He was brought home in an unconscious state. He was brought to his senses by cold-water ablutions and other means. When Lalitāṅga Kumāra came to his natural state of health, his relatives asked him "Where were you for such a long time?" Over powered by shame, Lalitāṅga Kumāra could not utter a word.

After regaining his natural bodily vigour, however, when Lalitāṅga Kumāra was, one day, passing by the king's palace, he was again invited by queen Lilāvati.

Jambū Kumāra addressing Jayaśri, said "Dear ! Do you think he will go there again ? Jayaśri replied "No, not by any means." Jambū Kumāra said "Lalitāṅga Kumāra may perhaps go, but I do not, in the least, desire the pleasures of this world acquired by association, with females, which are mostly impure. If I ever fall into the amusement of such filthy pleasures, I will have to suffer the terrible miseries of hell." The moral of the story is this—Having come out from the embryo of a female, resembling a deep well, I do not desire the enjoyment of such happiness, becoming deeply engrossed like Lalitāṅga Kumāra, in pleasures of the senses, which are full of miseries in the long run."

On hearing this story, Jambū Kumār's wife said "Dear husband ! Please do not be inconsiderate, like the fabulous bird, called मा साहस mā sāhasa and hear the following story—

STORY OF MĀ SĀHASA.

When a powerful lion was quietly sleeping with his mouth wide open, in his cave on a high mountain, a bird called Mā Sāhasa, entering his mouth, began eating away, pieces of flesh adhering to the interval between his teeth, loudly proclaiming, at the same time, मा साहसं कार्षीः Mā sāhasam kārṣiḥ— "Do not be inconsiderate."

Thereupon, a man passing by, said "O bird ! You loudly proclaim "Do not be inconsiderate, and at the same time, you are doing an inconsiderate act of eating away pieces of flesh from the mouth of the lion ! You appear to be stupid. You do not act in accordance with your speech. If the lion wakes up, while you are in his mouth, he will instantly kill you "

In the same manner, O dear husband! abruptly, abandoning the worldly happiness already acquired, you do not do the reckless act of practising penances, like the stupid bird. Self-control may, some day, torment you, like the lion.

Jambū Kumāra replied, "Giving up evil association, I always seek after good companionship; like the royal chaplain सोमशर्मा Somaśarmā. Now, hear his story.

STORY OF SOMAŚARMĀ.

A king named Jitaśatru of क्षितिप्रतिष्ठित नगर Kṣitipratisthita Nagara, had a पुरोहित Purohita, (a domestic chaplain) named सोमशर्मा Somaśarmā.

Somaśarmā had three friends, viz 1 नित्यमित्र Nitya-mitra 2. पर्वमित्र Parva-mitra and 3. प्रणाममित्र Pranāma-mitra.

The first friend नित्यमित्र Nitya-mitra, having played constantly together, was treated as a man of his equal status as a mark of respect towards him and kept always with himself. The second friend पर्वमित्र Parva-mitra, was invited occasionally on holidays. While, the third friend प्रणाममित्र Pranāma-mitra, used to exchange greetings of welcome with each other, when both of them happened to meet.

One day, king Jitaśatru was enraged with the पुरोहित Purohita, the domestic chaplain सोमशर्मा Somaśarmā.

Somaśarmā, afraid of the king's wrath towards himself, went to his friend Nityamitra for advice. Nityamitra said "If the king is angry with you, the king's servants will come to my house and harass me. It is not advisable for you to stay here. Go away to some other place "

The Purohita then went to Parva-mitra, and sought his advice. He said "If the king comes to know that you are staying with me, he will crush you and me, in an oil-mill, with our family-members. It is not desirable for you to wait here. Remain concealed somewhere else."

The Purohita, at last, went to the house of Pranāma-mitra for advice, and said "I am not taken care of, by my two friends. What should I do now? The Pranāma-mitra said "Do not be afraid. We shall become un-divided. We shall remain together. What will the king do to both of us. We shall go under the protection of some other sovereign." They went to the kingdom of another sovereign.

The उपनय Upanaya, (the application) of the story is this—

The consequence of maturing of Karmas is like the king; the Jiva (the living being) is like the domestic chaplain of the king; this body is like the सहजमित्र Sahaja-mitra, friend born at the same time; all the relatives are like the पर्वमित्र Parva-mitra, a periodical friend; Dharma is like प्रणाममित्र Pranāma-mitra, because it accompanies the Soul during the next life.

On hearing these nectar-like words of mundane indifference, प्रभव Prabhava, along with his five hundred comrades, and the eight newly-married wives of Jambū Kumāra, became free from all worldly desires."

The eight wives of Jambū Kumāra said:—

The path which you have adopted, has been accepted by us for ever. You are, now, our guide to the शिव-पत्तन Śivapattana, the abode of the Blessed ones.

प्रभव Prabhava, also, thought—Fie on us! that we are busy in snatching away, the wealth and property of others. I have acquired much sin by indulgence in robbery and gambling. Therefore, who knows what will be my future state?

Because,

Jambū Kumāra, with such delicate body, is ready to renounce immense wealth and such beautiful wives. "Therefore, I will surely adopt the path accepted by him." With this idea in his mind, Prabhava said "O magnanimous man? attracted by your virtuous qualities; I will presently ask permission from my relatives and will positively follow you."

Thereupon, Prabhava and his comrades, eager with the noble idea of renouncing worldly enjoyments, were instantly set free from their bondage by the ruling deity; and they told Jambū Kumāra "Having received the sanction of our relatives, we shall come with you, in the morning, for the purpose of receiving दीक्षा Dīkṣā, Initiation, into an Order of monks, with you."

Jambū Kumāra said "The mind of living beings is very fickle.

Prabhava, saying “We are ready to act accordingly”, went home accompanied by his robber-comrades.

Having come to know that Jambū Kumāra was desirous of taking Dīksā, along with his newly-married wives, his own parents, and his parents-in-law, he became ready to take संयमधर्म Samyama dharma, the duties of an ascetic, along with him.

Jambū Kumāra, having worshipped the Jineśvara Bhagavān in accordance with due ceremony, and having spent a large portion of his wealth in various ways for the welfare of human beings, mounted a handsome horse, and went to Śrī Sudharma Swāmi accompanied by his wives and his parents who had put on costly garments and valuable ornaments, for the purpose of taking भागवति दीक्षा Bhāgavati Dīkṣā, Initiation into the Order of monks, instituted by the Tīrthaṅkaras.

Prabhava, having received permission from his relatives, went there, accompanied by his five hundred robber-comrades, with the object of receiving Dīksā.

Having respectfully gone round three times and having reverentially prostrated before Sudharma Swāmin, the fifth Gaṇadhara of Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvīra, the virtuous Jambū Kumāra submissively requested him thus—O rescuer from the deep abyss of Samsāra! O Saintly helmsman! Save me and my family from the ocean of Samsāra by the bestowal of Bhāgavati Dīkṣā, which resembles a ship for crossing the fathomless abyss.

The mighty chief of the congregation of Sādhus, thereupon performed the auspicious ceremony of bestowing Dīkṣā, on Jambū Kamāra and his family-members and on Prabhava and his five hundred comrades. Having given Dīkṣā to five hundred and twenty-seven persons, Sudharma Swāmin uttered the undermentioned preaching:—

तथाहि—एके जीवाः संयमं सिंहतुल्या भूत्वा गृह्णन्ति

While some persons take up the duties of an ascetic, bravely like lions and observe them bravely like lions.

You should observe the संयम धर्म Samyama' dharma, the duties of an ascetic, bravely, without any defect what-so-ever in accordance with the fourth variety, in such a way, that मुक्ति Mukti, Emancipation soon becomes an object to be grasped by the palms of the hand.

You should not be negligent because negligence causes wandering in the Samsāra, even in the case of persons who have already taken up संयमधर्म Samyama Dharma, the duties of an ascetic.

Jambū Muni, thence-forward, particularly practised severe austerities. It is for this very reason, that the great sage is daily praised in the following words, by many ascetics:—

नवणवई कंचणकोडीउ, जेणुज्झिया अट्ठय बालियाओ ।

1. Obeisance to Jambū Swāmin, the most excellent ascetic and the last Kevalin who abandoned the prosperity of a wealth amounting to ninety crore gold-coins and eight newly-married wives.

Sudharma Swāmin, wandering from village to village accompanied by Jambū Swāmin and other ascetics, halted in outer pleasure-garden near चम्पानगरी Campā Nagari, the town of Campā, like a leader surrounded by young elephants. Many persons arrived there for the purpose of bowing down before the lotus-like feet of the Saint and of hearing his preaching.

On seeing people going to the pleasure-garden for the purpose of giving their respects to the worshipful Saint, king कोणिक Konika, the son of श्रेणिकभूप Śreṇika Bhūpa, King Śreṇika, went there. The whole assembly, along with King Konika, went three times round the Venerable Saint and sat there with the object of hearing the preaching.

The eminent teacher said:—

At the end of the preaching, Koṇika embraced Śrāvaka-dharma preached by the Tirthaṅkaras, and on looking at Jambū Muni and other disciples of Sudharma Swāmin, he inquired out of curiosity:—

1-3. O Sudharma Guru ! Among this group of your disciples, who is this disciple of yours, who shines out more brilliantly, miraculously like an Indra's elephant among elephants, like the moon among meteors, like the celestial mountain (Mount Meru) among mountains, like rice among corn-grains, like कल्पद्रुम Kalpa-druma, the fabulous wishing tree among trees, like the ocean of milk among seas, like the Campaka flower (Michelia Champaca) among flowers, like gold among iron (objects), and like nectar, among objects of taste !

Sudharma Swāmin, thereupon, narrated the whole account of the previous life of Jambū Muni and especially of his severe austerities during previous lives, and said “This ascetic acquired such prosperity on account of religious austerities practised during previous lives.”

Having heard this, the king greatly delighted, went to Campāpuri. The people, also, having received instruction in the doctrines of the Tirthaṅkaras, bowed down before the worthy teacher and went home.

Sudharma Swāmin, then wandering from village to village accompanied by Jambū Muni and other Sādhus, went to Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvīra. Jambū Muni while studying under Ganadhara Mahārāja Sudharma Swāmin, became well-versed in the eleven Aṅgas and the fourteen Pūrvas.

Sudharma Swāmin appointed Jambū Muni as an आचार्य Ācārya, a great-scholar, during the tenth year after the Nirvāṇa of Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvīra. Having entrusted the Ācārya Jambū Swāmin with the burden of (managing) the whole congregation, during the twentieth year after the Nirvāṇa of Śramaṇa Bhagavāna Mahāvīra, Sudharma Swāmin went to मुक्तिपुरी Mukti-purī, the abode of Final Beatitude.

Then, Jambū Swāmin having acquired केवलज्ञान Kevala Jñāna, Perfect Knowledge, and having enlightened numerous devout persons in religious matters, appointed Prabhava Muni as an Ācārya and having entrusted Prabhava Swāmin with the burden of (managing) the whole congregation, Jambū Swāmin, whose entire Karmas (desire for action) were at an end, went to मुक्तिपुरी Mukti-purī, after the lapse of sixty-four years from the Nirvāṇa of Śramaṇa Bhagavān Mahāvīra.

No. 3. Sthavira Arya Prabhava Swami.

Prabhava, the elder son of King Vindhya of Jayapuri Nagari located amidst the Vindhya range of mountains, joined a band of robbers as his right of becoming the legitimate claimant to his father's throne had been set aside and the management of the affairs of the entire kingdom was entrusted to his younger brother.

Within a short time, Prabhava became the head of the gang, and he practised high-way robbery on a large scale in surrounding villages and towns, in company with his five hundred comrades.

There, he became competent in तालोद्घाटिनी विद्या Tālodghā-tinī Vidyā, the art of opening locks, and in अयस्वापिनी विद्या Avasvāpinī Vidyā, the art of inducing sleep.

One day, having heard that extensive celebrations on a grand scale, were being performed in Rāja-grīha, at the house of the millionaire Sheth Rīṣabha-datta, on the marriage occasion of his son Jambū Kumāra, the robber-chief Prabhava secretly entered the merchant's house at night with the object of plundering the immense wealth there; and having lulled all the family-members to sleep by means of his Avasvāpinī Vidyā, began to open all the locks by means of the Tālodghā-tinī Vidyā with the aid of his comrades. All the locks in the house were opened and a large number of valuable articles were collected in heaps with the object of carrying them away whenever an opportunity of doing so occurred.

Now, it so happened that, Prabhava, entered the millionaire's house, with the object of plundering it, during the same night—the first night of meeting of Jambū Kumāra with his wives—in which Jambū Kumāra was instructing his newly-married wives in religious subjects on the seventh storey of the building.

Prabhava went to the place and on seeing Jambū Kumāra busily engaged in conversation with his wives, lulled Jambū Kumāra's eight wives to sleep by means of his Avasvāpinī Vidyā and tried to take away valuable ornaments and costly garments from their bodies.

Jambū Kumāra instantly fixed Prabhava and his comrades to their respective places by means of स्तम्भिनी विद्या Stambhinī Vidyā, the art of making living beings and other objects immovable, so they were unable to take away their highly-desired booty.

Prabhava then told Jambū Kumāra "O Jambū! You teach me your Stambhini Vidyā. I will show you my Tālodghātini Vidyā and Avasvāpinī Vidyā.

Jambū Kumāra replied. "What is the use of these Vidyās (arts) to me? I am going to instruct my eight wives during the night and renouncing all my wealth I am going to take भगवति दीक्षा Bhāgavati Dīkṣā in the morning.

Prabhava was greatly astonished on hearing these words and he said "Why do you abandon these various pleasures of the world and take Dīkṣā? Jambū Kumāra, thereupon, explained to him the transitoriness of the pleasures of this world and Prabhava, having heard the stories and the entire line of discussion of Jambū Kumāra with his wives, made up his mind to renounce the world in the morning.

Prabhava then went to Gaṇadhara Mahārāja Sudharma Swāmi and took Dīkṣā in the morning along with Jambū Kumāra and his eight newly-married wives, Jambū Kumāra's parents and parents-in-law, and his own five hundred comrades.

After Dīkṣā, Prabhava Muni studied the eleven Aṅgas and the fourteen Pūrvas and practised severe austerities.

Prabhava Muni was thirty years old at the time of initiation. He remained an ordinary ascetic for forty-four years. Then, he was the head of the Jaina Saṅgha for eleven years. He died at an age of eighty-five, i-e seventy-five years after the Nirvāṇa of Śramana Bhagavāna Mahāvīra. Prabhava Swāmi belonged to कात्यायन गोत्र Kātyāyana gotra.

One night, when the whole congregation of ascetic disciples was sleeping, an idea of undermentioned nature occurred at midnight in the mind of Prabhava Swāmi who was then in योगनिद्रा Yoga Nidrā, Somnolent condition induced by the practice of Yoga —

“Who will be my successor as the head of the Congregation, capable of rescuing the Jaina Saṅgha like a clever mariner and of expanding, like the Sun, the lotus-like Dharma preached by the Arhats?

When deeply engrossed in this thought, with the object of finding out a suitable successor, Prabhava Swāmi thought over the sadhus of his own congregation and the entire Jaina Saṅgha and looking out with the aid of his highly illuminating superior knowledge, he could not find out a single individual radiant with the zeal of spreading the Dharma preached by the Tirthankaras. He therefore turned his attention towards people of other doctrines, as a lotus deserves to be picked up even from mire, and he found out a well-known Brāhmin Pandit (scholar) named सय्यम्भव भट्ट Śayyambhava-bhatta of वत्सगोत्र Vatsa gotra, as a most suitable individual whose Liberation was also in near future.

Pandit Śayyambhava was at that time busy performing various यज्ञs, Yajnas, Sacrifices at Rāja-griha.

Prabhava Swāmi thereupon went to Rāja-griha, and sent two of his Sādhūs to the यज्ञशाला Yajña śālā, sacrificial hall, with instructions to request for food, and, as the Brāhmins will not give them food at that time, to leave the hall uttering the following verse:—

अहो कष्टमहो कष्टं तत्त्वं विज्ञायते न हि ।

अहो कष्टमहो कष्टं तत्त्वं विज्ञायते न हि ॥ १ ॥

1. Aho kaṣṭamaho kaṣṭam tattvam vijnāyate na hi;
Aho kaṣṭamaho kaṣṭam tattvam vijnāyate na hi.

1. Alas! fie on us. Alas! fie on us, true knowledge is verily not found out;
Alas! fie on us, Alas! fie on us, true knowledge is verily not found out.

As instructed, the two Sādhūs went at meal-time to the sacrificial hall, which was decorated with banners and flags of various shapes and colours, with portal arches of variegated flowers and leaves, where vessels containing sacrificial water for sipping were placed at different places near the main entrance, where religious students practising chastity were busy in kindling sacrificial fire, where a number of goats were tied to sacrificial post, where fire was blazing on the Vedi-shaped sacrificial altar, where various sacrificial utensils filled with different kinds of oblation-materials were carefully arranged, where numerous devout Brāhmins were sitting with the object of witnessing the sacrificial ceremonies, and the sacrificial hall where a number of learned Brāhmins well-versed in sacrificial rituals were entirely occupied in offering different kinds of oblation-materials accompanied by utterances of various sacred hymns.

The Sādhūs stood at the main entrance of the hall and requested for food. The Brāhmins dismissed them without giving them any food. The Sādhūs, then, left the main entrance of the sacrificial hall loudly uttering, as instructed, the verse "Aho kaṣṭam, aho kaṣṭam etc."

Śayyambhava-bhatta, the well-known sacrificial ritualist, who was sitting near the main-entrance, distinctly over-heard the verse recited by the Sādhūs and began pondering over it.

Knowing that the eminently virtuous Jaina Śādhus, will not, under any circumstance, tell a falsehood, the mind of Śayyambhava-bhatta became very doubtful about the real nature of True Knowledge.

When the mind of Śayyambhava-bhatta became greatly disturbed with ideas about the real nature of True Knowledge he inquired from the उपाध्याय Upādhyāya, the high-priest who was in charge of sacrificial ceremonies, saying "What is the essence of True Knowledge? The Upādhyāya replied, "The real essence of True Knowledge is that the Vedas are the bestowers of heaven and Final Beatitude. People conversant with the real nature of True Knowledge, confidently say that there is no other real essence of True Knowledge, except the Vedas."

Śayyambhava-Bhatta, then angrily said "You are really deceiving innocent people like myself by saying that the Vedas contain the real essence of True Knowledge out of your greed for sacrificial fees received from persons capable of paying for the expenses of the sacrifice. Because, these great sages, who are free from affection and hatred towards any object, who are perfectly disinterested and destitute of worldly belongings, and who are perfectly peaceful and compassionate, will never speak out a falsehood. Therefore, O wicked man! You do'nt seem to be a true teacher. You have cheated the world from your very birth. You really deserve to be punished now. However, O cheat! say out the true nature of the real essence, accurately as it stands, otherwise I will cut off your head as there is no crime in punishing a wicked man." So saying, he drew out a bright sword from its scabbard. Sayyambhava-bhatta, raising up his sword, at that time, appeared actually as the god of death, reading out a warrant of death in his hand.

The Upādhyāya, greatly agitated with fear, thought "This man, is ready to kill me. To-day I have got the best opportunity to say out the true nature of the real essence as it stands. Besides, the Vedas declare and it is our established custom; to say out the truth as it stands when the dangerous misfortune of decapitation faces us; otherwise, we cannot say it out under any other circumstance. I will disclose the truth to him and my life will be saved."

Thinking of his own welfare, the Upādhyāya said "Underneath the sacrificial post, an image of an अर्हत् Arhat, a Tīrthaṅkara of the Jainas, has been erected and it is worshipped secretly, down below. By the supernatural influence of the presence of this image, all our religious ceremonies relating to sacrifices are accomplished without any mishap, to our entire satisfaction."

"Otherwise, the great sage Siddhā-putra and the most devout Nāradaḡi will certainly ruin all the preparations for a sacrifice without the presence of an image of a Tīrthaṅkara there."

The Upādhyāya then removed the sacrificial post and having shown him a diamond-image of the Tīrthaṅkara carefully preserved there, said, "The doctrine preached by the Tīrthaṅkaras represented by this image, is the real essence of True Knowledge. Sacrifices are only degrading. The doctrine preached by the Tīrthaṅkaras is full of compassion towards living beings. How can there possibly be any probability of a true Dharma in sacrifices involving the destruction of innumerable living beings? Alas! it is a pity, that we make a living by entrapping innocent people in our deceitful net-work of false belief! O worthy man! therefore, you carefully study the principles preached by the Tīrthaṅkaras, become a devout follower of those principles and free us from our sins. O fortunate man! I have cheated you for a long time for the sake of filling my belly. Now, I am no longer your Upādhyāya. May you be happy!"

Śayyambhava bhattacha, bowing down before him, said "By explaining me the true essence, you have really become my Upādhyāya (teacher)" and with these words he gave away all the gold and copper sacrificial intensions and materials to the Upādhyāya and set out in search of the two Sādhūs. Ultimately, he reached the place where Sthavira Arya Prabhava Swāmin was residing at पाटलीपुत्र नगर Pātali-putra Nagara, along with his numerous disciples.

Having done respectful obeisance at the feet of Prabhava Swāmin and other Sādhūs and becoming delighted by the benedictory expression धर्मलाभ Dharma-lābha—an expression generally used by Jaina ascetics, (meaning that every desirable object is attainable by the practice of Dharma (meritorious deeds) Sayyambhava-bhatta, sat down there and bringing his two folded hands in front of his forehead in such a way that the ten nails of his hands touched each other, as a mark of reverential salutation, requested Sthavira Arya Prabhava Swāmin thus:—O lord! Please explain me the real essence of true Dharma which may lead me to the path of Final Emancipation."

Prabhava Swāmin then said "O worthy man! Abstinence from injury to living beings is the only excellent Dharma and being capable of giving pleasure in future, deserves to be always thought of. Just as happiness is pleasing to one's soul, in the same manner, happiness is pleasing to another soul. One should always speak what is pleasing, measured, true, and untormenting to others. One should not even tell a truth which is distressing to others. One should never take an object that is not given to him. Remain constantly contented. A contented man becomes a participator of Eternal happiness even during this world. Wise persons abstaining from sexual enjoyment in every way become splendid and powerful. Really speaking, sexual intercourse, is like a violent desire for the poison-tree of this Samsāra. Wise persons undesirous of re-births should abandon all varieties of belongings, and becoming free from all desires towards his body, should always take delight in absorption in universal soul. One should always deliver his soul from the bondage of this Samsāra, by the practice of five great vows, namely, 1. अहिंसा A-hinsā, Non-injury to living beings. 2. सत्य Satya, Truth. 3. अस्तेय A-śteya, Non-stealing; abstinence from theft. 4. ब्रह्मचर्य Brahmacarya, Celibacy; chastity and 5. अपरिग्रह A-parigraha, Non-possession of belongings ”

Sayyambhava-bhatta becoming acquainted with the true nature of the knowledge of the Truth, was greatly alarmed with the bondage of this Samsāra. Reverentially bowing down therefore, at the feet of Acārya Prābhava Swāmin, he respectfully said “ O worshipful master! I have till now, considered an untruth as the real essence of true knowledge, like a frantic man suffering from an excess of bile, erroneously taking a lump of clay for a piece of gold. I have to-day come to know the Truth, please therefore, do me the favour of giving me भागवति दीक्षा Bhāgavati Dīkṣā. Consecration into an Order of Monks preached by the Tīrthaṅkaras as it is the only means of support for an individual who is being drowned in the unfathomable ocean of this Samsāra. ”

No. 4. Sthavira Arya Sayyambhavasuri.

At the time of his दीक्षा Dikṣā, Initiation, Sayyambhava-bhatta was twenty-eight years old. Observing penance of various kinds, he was not at all afraid of endurances, and thinking it to be the most effective method of destroying Karmas, he became more energetic in the practice of his religious duties. Shining brightly like the Sun, Sayyambhava Muni commenced fasting of one day, two days, three days, four days and more days at a time.

Serving faithfully the lotus-like feet of his Guru, the talented Sayyambhava Muni acquired a complete knowledge of the fourteen Pūrvas, through his grace. Knowing him to be thoroughly well-versed in Scriptural Knowledge, Prabhava Swami appointed Sayyambhava Muni as a pontif in his stead and he himself remained in deep meditation.

When Sayyambhava-bhatta was initiated, his wife was young and pregnant. On seeing her quite young, people lamentingly said "O! There can be no person more cruel-hearted than Sayyambhava-bhatta. He has foresaken his young and virtuous wife. Females pass their days comfortably without their husbands, only by a shelter from a son. But she has no son. What will happen with the wretched self of hers? When people compassionately asked her, "O good woman! Is there any possibility of a foetus in your womb? she replied "मणयम् Manāyam, Somewhat" in Prākṛit. The foetus was then of a few weeks' duration. But gradually the foetus developed more and more and at the mature age, she gave birth to a son with a moon-like face capable of giving delight to her bewildered mind. From the reply मणयम् Manāyam, given by the wife of Sayyambhava-bhatta, the child was named मणक Manaka. The child nourished by the wife of Sayyambhava-bhatta, herself the mother and herself the foster-mother, gradually began to walk about.

After the completion of eight years, the boy asked his mother "O mother! you appear to be in the dress of a married woman. Where is my father? She said "O child! Your father has taken दीक्षा Dīkṣā, when I was pregnant. I have reared you up. O long-lived child! You have not seen your father and your father has not even seen you. When one day, your father Sayyambhava-bhatta was performing यज्ञ Yajnas, Sacrifices, some Sādhūs came to him and they gave him Dīkṣā." On hearing this, the boy became very eager to see his worshipful father. He therefore left his house with the permission of his mother.

Acārya Sayyambhava-sūri was at the time residing at चंपापुरी Campāpurī. The boy, attracted as it were by the mass of his meritorious deeds, went there. Sayyambhavasūri while going out of the town for a call of nature, saw the lotus-eyed boy coming from a distance. On seeing the boy, Sayyambhavasūri became increasingly delighted by excessive affection like the ocean on seeing the moon, and the face of the boy on seeing the nectar-like appearance of the sage immediately expanded with joy like the closed bud of the lotus-flower. The Acārya then delightfully inquired "O fortunate child! Who are you? Where do you come from? Whose son or grandson are you? The boy said "I am coming here from Rājagriha Nāgarī. I am the son of a Brāhmin named Sayyambhava of Vatsa gotra. When I was in my mother's womb, my father had taken Dīkṣā. I am wandering from town to town to find him out. If you know my father Sayyambhava, please do me the favour of saying where he is. If I personally see my father I am desirous of having Dīkṣā at his hands. I will have the same fate as he has.

The Acārya replied, "O child! I know your father. He is my friend. He and myself are bodily inseparable. You know, therefore, he is myself. O fortunate child! you accept, therefore, Dīkṣā at my hands. The Acārya thinking that he had acquired a handsome disciple, took him to his Upāśraya, and initiated the highly intelligent child into his order of monks with due ceremony.

Then, inquiring about the age-limit of Maṇaka Muni, the Acārya Mahārāja knew that he had only six months left as his age-limit. He then thought "How can this short-lived child acquire a knowledge of the Scriptures within such a short period of time? Highly talented benevolent sages of former times have declared that saints with a knowledge of the fourteen Pūrvas or ten Pūrvas at least, can independently compose Sūtras embodying the essence of the Siddhāntas. An opportunity of instructing Maṇaka Muni in a short time has arisen, let me therefore compose a collection of the essence of the Siddhānta." With this idea in his mind Acārya Sayyambhavasūri composed a Sūtra named दशवैकालिकसूत्र Daśavaikālīka Sūtra containing an essence of the Siddhāntas. The work was called वैकालिक Vaikālīka, as it was composed during evenings and it was called दशवैकालिक Daśa-vaikālīka as it contained ten chapters. The most excellent and highly compassionate Acārya Śrīmān Sayyambhava-sūri himself commenced the teaching of the Daśavaikālīka Sūtra to Maṇaka Muni. Within six months, the whole sūtra was taught to him. At the end of that period, when Maṇaka Muni was on his death-bed, the Acārya himself did all the ceremony of giving him vows of repentance and misgivings, and of admonishing him to keep his mind on the three gem-like objects of worship of the Jain Siddhānta viz शुद्धदेव Śuddha Deva, Pure god, शुद्धगुरु Śuddha Gurū, Pure Teacher, and शुद्धधर्म Śuddha Dhārma, Pure Religion.

At the death-time of Maṇaka Muni, when drops of tears flowed uninterruptedly from the eyes of Acārya Mahārāja Sayyambhavasūri like a shower of autumnal rains, the distressed and astonished Yaśobhadra Muni and other disciples respectfully inquired "O worshipful master! Why should there be such an improper behaviour on your part? What inexplorable reason is there, that you are so much grieved at?"

The Acārya Mahārāja, then narrated the whole account of his son Maṇaka, from the time of his birth till his death before Yaśobhadra Muni and his other disciples, and said at the end "Though the boy was very young, he carefully observed all his religious duties in a short time and died very peacefully absorbed in devout meditation. He was young in years, but he was fully matured with virtuous character. On account of this connection, tears flowed unawares from my eyes, because affection towards one's own son is hard to be abandoned." Yaśobhadra Muni and other disciples, bowing down low before the Acārya, said "O worthy master! why did you not inform us before, that he was your son? Had you even hinted a little that Maṇaka Muni was your son, we would have verified the saying that "The son of a Guru should be respected in the same manner as a Guru," by rendering service to him.

The Acārya, being greatly rejoiced by these utterances of his disciples said:—"He has acquired a happy state by practising penance in the form of service to excellent ascetics practising severe austerities like yourselves. Had you known that Maṇaka Muni was my son, you would not have desired any service from him and he would have erred in his duty. Knowing Maṇaka Muni to be short-lived, I have composed Daśavaikālika Sūtra, containing an essence of the Siddhāntas, with the object of making him familiar with a knowledge of the Scriptures. It had been prepared for Maṇaka Muni. He had been duly instructed. Now I will place it in a suitable spot and have it concealed."

Knowing the idea of the Guru Mahārāja, the ascetics including Yaśobhadra Muni, told the Śrī Saṅgha about the intention of the Acārya Mahārāja of concealing the Daśavaikālika Sūtra in a suitable place. The Śrī Saṅgha approached the Acārya Mahārāja, and requested him, "O worthy master! Let the Daśavaikālika Sūtra prepared for Maṇaka Muni remain for the benefit of the whole world. Hence-forward, many devout persons will be of mean intellect and short-lived so, let them accomplish their object by taking advantage of the work by your grace, like Manaka Muni. Besides, let the ascetics be pleased by repeatedly hearing the Daśavaikālika Sūtra, which is like the pollen of the lotus of Sacred Knowledge."

It is said,

4. Iti sanghoparodhena śrī Śayyambhava-sūribhiḥ;

1. Prepared during evening hours and containing ten chapters it became a canonical work named Daśavaikālika.

2. Hence-forward, people will be of little intellect, so let them accomplish their object (Liberation) like Manaka by your grace.

3. Let the bee-like ascetics, having repeatedly tasted this Daśavaikālika ( Sūtra ) which is the किञ्जल्क Kinjālka, Stamina of the lotus of the ocean of Knowledge, rejoice.

4. Thus by the interference of Śri Saṅgha the treatise Daśavaikālika was not concealed by the great sage Sayyambhava-sūri.

Sayyambhava-sūri was initiated into the Order of Monks by Arya Prabhava Śwāmi when he was twenty-eight years old. After Dīkṣā, he was an ordinary ascetic for eleven years and a युगप्रधान Yuga Pradhāna, for twenty-three years more. He died when he was sixty-two years old i. e. during the ninety-eighth year after the Nirvāṇa of Śramana Bhagavān Mahāvira. ( Vṇa Samvat 98. )

Ācārya Mahārāja Śrīmān Sayyambhava-sūri having appointed the well-versed highly intelligent Yaśobhadra Muni as his successor passed his time in deep meditation.
